Russians Reach East Prussia; Albania Invasion Reported

SOVIETS SMASH NAZI DEFENSES ALONG BORDER

BULLETIN.

LONDON, Aug. 18 (Friday)—(AP).—The Ankara radio said today "allied forces have landed at Durazzo in Albania." The report was without allied confirmation. The broadcast said it was quoting a special allied Mediterranean radio bulletin. BBC monitors said they heard the Turkish broadcast beamed to Bulgaria. Durazzo is the principal port of Albania. It lies about 20 miles west of the capital of Tirana which was bombed by the allies on Tuesday. It is across the Adriatic from Brindisi and Bari in Italy. There has been widespread guerrilla activity within Albania, linked with Marshal Tito's Yugoslav partisan activities.

LONDON, Aug. 18 [Friday]—(AP).—Russian troops for the first time in 30 years carried the war to the German border yesterday, reaching the pre-war East Prussian frontier along a river in western Lithuania.

Moscow's midnight bulletin said the Russians battered down strong defenses to reach the frontier and wiped out isolated German troops pinned against the river. It credited the advance to 3d White Russian army forces under Gen. Ivan Cherniakhovsky, 37, Jewish tank expert and the soviets' youngest full general.

The bulletin mentioned heavy resistance and said the Germans were launching counter-attacks with supporting fire from heavy catapult appliances. This was believed to mean platforms for rocket guns.

42 Miles from Tilsit.

Russian troops apparently drove to the border in the area of Schirwindt, 42 miles southeast of Tilsit, East Prussian rail center, and 90 miles east of Koenigsberg, East Prussia's capital. The advance was along the Szeszuppe river.

The Nazis still were hurling in reserves from Heinrich Himmler's home army, ordering them to fight to the death to protect the "holy soil" of Germany, Moscow said. In one area the Russians wiped out 1,000 Germans and blew up 60 tanks and self-propelled guns, Moscow said.

30 Localities Captured.

That the Russians had reached the border was announced without fanfare in a bulletin that said "northwest of Mariampole our troops fought their way to the frontier of East Prussia on the river Szeszuppe, capturing more than 30 localities."

[An earlier London dispatch said East Prussia had been entered.]

The last German word on this area was a broadcast last night in which a military commentator said, "No major advances have been made by the Russians toward the frontier."

German East Prussia was threatened by three soviet armies along a front nearly 200 miles long, extending from northern Poland at a point below the annexed Suwalki triangle northward beyond the Niemen river in northern Lithuania.

Soil Touched Early in War.

German soil has been touched upon previously in this war, but in no decisive fashion. French troops penetrated into Germany in the Warndt forest area in September, 1939, but that was a no man's land. Polish troops fought briefly on East Prussian soil in September, 1939.

Soviet armies which had broken across the Vistula river in central Poland 110 miles south of Warsaw captured 20 localities yesterday.

Nazi Attacks Beaten Off.

East of Praga, industrial suburb of besieged Warsaw, Russian troops beat off attacks by infantry and tanks, a Moscow bulletin said.

North and west of Petseri in Estonia another soviet army rolled on toward the Baltic sea, chopping into the 200,000 German troops estimated to be trapped in Latvia and Estonia.

Ban WPA Aid in Disposal of Surplus Goods

BY LAURENCE BURD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 17.—The house tentatively voted today to require that all personnel charged with selling surplus war goods be appointed on a merit basis under civil service regulations. The vote was 70-57.

Adoption of the amendment to the surplus disposal bill now before the house followed a disclosure by Rep. Halleck [R., Ind.] on the house floor yesterday that former WPA employes and other inexperienced workers have already been hired by the New Deal to handle sales of excess war supplies.

"We already have WPA and NYA derelicts doing this work," Rep. Taber [R., N. Y.] told the house today. "This amendment will put a stop to that and keep the burocrats from running wild. We can't leave the disposal of 100 billion dollars worth of goods to inexperienced payrollers."

New Dealers Protest.

The restriction was passed over the protests of New Dealers, who contended that the proposed surplus goods administrator should be free to employ "special" assistants and fix their compensation without regard to civil service rules. Regular staff members, they said, already were placed under civil service by the measure.

Rep. Andresen [R., Minn.] told the house, however, that unless all employes were covered by the merit rule, the administration might name radicals such as Earl Browder, Communist leader, and Sidney Hillman, head of the CIO political action committee, to high salaried posts in the proposed bureau.

Also tentatively written into the bill by a 71-49 vote was an amendment by Rep. Patman [D., Tex.] requiring the appointment of business advisory committees of nine men each for each class of products to be sold. They would be consulted on methods of disposing of the goods. The committees would include small business representatives.

Reject Term Elimination.

The house refused, 89-58, to eliminate the proposed two year term for the $12,000 a year surplus administrator. The amendment, offered by Rep. Church [R., Ill.] would have permitted the next President, whether Republican or Democrat, to replace the administrator at any time.

Church warned that the present bill would permit the continuance of a New Deal "reformer" in office under a Republican administration if Gov. Dewey is elected. New Deal congressmen replied that no one would stay in the post if asked to resign by the chief executive.

69 B-29 ENGINE MAKERS STRIKE AT DODGE PLANT

Sixty-nine hammer men, heater men, and helpers employed in the forge division of the Dodge-Chicago plant of the Chrysler corporation, where engines for B-29 bombers are manufactured, went on strike yesterday afternoon.

A company statement said: "The men struck because a helper was discharged after he had called a foreman an unprintable name."

John W. Hammond, president of local No. 495 of the AFL blacksmiths' union, of which the strikers are members, denied the company's assertion and charged that the men struck because the company had discharged an ex-service man after he applied for a transfer to another job in the plant when he found that the work in the forge department was too heavy for him. Hammond said the men would stay on strike until another job was found for the ex-service man. Hammond would not predict whether the 250 forge men employed on the day shift would work this morning.

CORONER SENDS OUT THE WRONG CORPSE; GETS BILL FOR $200

Last March 27 Coroner A. L. Brodie notified Sheriff Henry R. Kluthro at Carlyle, Clinton county, that a man who carried identification papers issued to Joseph Paul Rausch had been found dead in a west side rooming house.

The papers showed that Rausch was a brother of John F. Rausch, Clinton county treasurer, who was notified by the sheriff. He made arrangements for the funeral and the body was shipped to Carlyle. But when the treasurer looked at it he discovered that the man wasn't Brother Joe. Coroner Brodie was asked if he would pay to have the body back and replied he had no funds to use in this manner.

Joseph Paul Rausch was found alive and healthy and the stranger was buried at Carlyle. Yesterday a letter from Sheriff Kluthro, asking that Treasurer Rausch be reimbursed to the extent of $145 and Clinton county paid an additional $55 for burial expense, was received by the Cook county board and referred to the law department.

PLANE TO CARRY FOODS IN COAST TO COAST TEST

A full plane load of fruits, vegetables, flowers, and seafood will be flown from the Pacific coast to New York City by a United Air Lines cargoliner next Thursday in a demonstration of post-war possibilities of shipping perishables by air, it was announced yesterday.

The flight will be part of a year's survey of air shipment of perishables, said officials of United, Wayne university, and the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea company, sponsors. The commodities will be picked up at Pacific coast cities and points along the route to New York, including a sample shipment of lake trout at Chicago. The food will be served at a luncheon in New York the next day to obtain reactions of merchandisers and laymen to the appearance, taste, and marketable values of the various items.

Even if Results Are All Wet—Advertising Pays!

Lincoln, Ill., Aug. 17 (AP).—Forty-two Lincoln merchants who advertised in the Lincoln Evening Courier for rain got results. Now they must pay for the ad. Today's three hour shower of 0.56 inch, first in three rainless weeks, answered their plea 33 hours before the deadline set by the Courier, which offered the page and a half of space free if less than a half-inch of rain fell within 72 hours after the ad was published.

Hatch White Elephant from WFA's Eggs

Washington, D. C., Aug. 17 (AP).—An official of the war food administration told the senate's war investigating committee today he "wished he knew" what the WFA was going to do with between 100 million and 150 million dollars worth of eggs it bought this year.

Lt. Col. Ralph W. Olmstead, deputy director of WFA's distribution division, testified that more than 5 million cases of surplus eggs had been purchased under a law requiring government purchases to support prices at 70 per cent of parity.

May Repeat Next Year.

Furthermore, Olmstead said, if the law stays on the books and egg production continues at its present high level the WFA might have to do the same thing next year.

"Do you mean to say that the American taxpayers have invested between 100 and 150 million dollars on eggs we have no use for?" Olmstead was asked by Sen. Ferguson [R., Mich.].

"That's right," the witness replied.

May Ship Overseas.

"What are you going to do with all the eggs?" Ferguson went on.

"I wish I knew," said Olmstead.

Later the witness, who was being questioned about WFA food purchases and reports of some warehouse spoilages, said that if shipments of dried eggs to Great Britain continue at a high level, and if they can be used in feeding the peoples of liberated countries or sold in this country, "we may sustain a net loss of only about 10 million dollars."

JOHN J. MACK DECIDES TO BUY MEDINAH CLUB

John J. Mack yesterday notified Arthur C. Youngberg, federal court trustee for the 42 story Medinah building, 505 N. Michigan av., that he had decided to exercise his option to buy the property.

He will pay 5 per cent more than the $875,000 bid at an auction Monday by Frank Knass, or $918,750. In addition he must settle about $600,000 in back realty taxes and $25,000 in personal property taxes. The total price thus will be $1,543,750.

The property originally cost 8 millions.

Mack, who formerly operated the Congress hotel and now has the Croydon hotel in Chicago and the Wolverine hotel in Detroit, said he would operate the Medinah building as a commercial hotel. He expects to spend about 1 million dollars on remodeling, converting public space into 200 hotel rooms for a total of about 650 guest rooms. Holabird & Root will be the architects.

Mack said he had not yet decided on a name for his new hotel but that it would not be called the Medinah.

HUGE FIRE HITS HARBOR GRACE, NEWFOUNDLAND

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Harbor Grace, Newfoundland, Aug. 17.—A fire, fanned by a strong wind, has razed one-half of this town and most of the business section. Some 50 houses and business establishments were destroyed. Churches were burned and the Catholic cathedral was endangered. The damage may exceed $2,000,000.

Local firemen were assisted by crews from St. John's, 60 miles away.

YANKS PLUNGE 30 MILES INTO FRENCH ALPS

5 Highway Centers Captured.

ROME, Italy, Aug. 17 (AP).—Surging forward in southern France, the American 7th army today seized five important road centers deep behind the original beachheads, and forward elements plunged more than 30 miles into the maritime Alps in the drive to join with allied forces in northern France.

Along the coast the invasion armies drove thru La Napoule, a village only four miles southwest of the famous resort town of Cannes, allied headquarters announced late tonight.

[The German radio said today that German forces were withdrawing to positions on high ground behind the beaches and the allies had succeeded in "joining up some of their beachheads."]

The greatest pincers movement in the war was under way as the American sledgehammer drive moved into Draguignan, 18 miles inland in a north-northwesterly direction from captured St. Raphael on the coast.

On Road to Toulon.

Draguignan, a communications center with 11,000 population, lies on a main highway 40 miles northeast of the great naval base of Toulon, and was the farthest inland of any towns specifically announced by headquarters as having been captured.

The 7th army also seized Vidauban, seven miles southwest of Draguignan, and in a southwesterly direction, the towns of Le Luc, Besse, and Cuers, the last 11 miles northeast of Toulon. All are road centers.

This formed a 30-mile arc stretching from Cuers to Draguignan and bulging in a general northwestward direction, well beyond the 500-square mile allied-held segment on the Riviera.

At least 13 towns have been identified as being in allied hands.

Maj. Gen. Alexander M. Patch's troops had seized a coastal strip extending almost to Toulon on the west and to Cannes on the east today, and it was possible that already the assault on Toulon had begun.

Men of Two Divisions Fought.

Headquarters said the opposition thus far encountered in southern France consisted of elements of two German divisions. About 40 per cent of the enemy holding the assault area were battalions composed mostly of Russian war prisoners, Czechs and Poles, under German officers, and headquarters said "their combat efficiency and morale are not high."

The main assault of the 7th army was made in the boundary area between the two divisions holding the region where the landings were made, and "this factor, together with the preliminary bombing, contributed to the enemy's confusion," headquarters said.

French resistance groups have contributed largely to the success of the American drive by supplying information on German dispositions, the allied command said.

Help Us Hurl Germans Out, Patriots Urged

LONDON, Aug. 18 [Friday]—(AP).—Gen. Eisenhower's allied supreme command told the people of Paris and its suburbs today that "you can already hear the guns and soon you will hear the rumble of the tanks," a prediction that Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's armor, which the Germans said now was only 23 miles away, will make the French capital an immediate objective.

"The day is not far off when you will have to rise and chase out the enemy and his accomplices," said the supreme command's authorized spokesman over the American broadcasting station in Europe [ABSIE] as he issued preliminary instructions to patriots within the city.

"From now on you must group around units of French Forces of the Interior, resistance organizations, clandestine syndicates and secret delegates and follow the directives of resistance. Beware of traps and provocations of the Gestapo. Be brave, united, disciplined, courageous and resolute."

Paris policemen were told to disobey orders to leave the city.

BY ROBERT CROMIE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WITH U. S. 3D ARMY IN CHARTRES, France, Aug. 16 [Delayed].—Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's armored whirlwind rolled thru Chartres late last night, its progress greatly speeded by the French resistance movement which struck savagely at the Nazis withdrawing under cover of darkness. This afternoon this important way station on the Paris road was half deserted, but peaceful except for intermittent fire. Some of this probably was by enemy snipers, but most of it likely came from our troops or the Maquis shooting on suspicion.

The famous Chartres cathedral was only slightly damaged, tho we watched small arms fire bounce off one of its lovely spires where two German snipers were believed to be hiding. Shortly after the firing began it ended. Then some one climbed the steeple and hung up the tri-color.

French City Again.

Shortly after noon today, Chartres was beginning to recover its pre-German appearance. The prefect appointed by Gen. Charles de Gaulle had arrived, three traitors had been seized and shot, and a dozen collaborators rounded up. The women among the latter were forced to have their heads shaved as a mark of shame.

From a pretty, English speaking French girl, a member of one of France's oldest families, we learned something of what happened last night.

This girl, an interpreter for a lieutenant of the French resistance chief, and a couple of companions bicycled into Chartres last night thru the Germans' vanishing lines to be on hand when the Americans arrived.

Quoting the lieutenant, the girl said French patriots, armed with rifles, revolvers, machine guns and bazookas, attacked the Germans at 11 p. m., killing at least 40. Only two Frenchmen were killed.

500 Against 3,000.

The lieutenant said the attack against an estimated 3,000 Germans was made by 500 French, who were theroly familiar with the terrain and experienced in this slashing, darting type of fighting. The fleeing Germans commandeered bicycles and motorcars, and those unable to find vehicles walked.

The evacuation must have been pretty complete. In our first three hours* in Chartres only six Germans were captured, three of whom wore the arm band of medical aid men. They were paraded thru streets to the prefecture and

SUPREME HDQ., ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE, Aug. 18 [Friday].—The allies in northern France are engaged in a vast enveloping operation which constitutes an immediate threat not only to Paris but to all the German forces between the Seine and Loire rivers, reports in London last night indicated.

Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's swift moving American columns were reported by the German high command to be fighting around St. Arnoult, 23 miles southwest of Paris, on the main road from Chartres. The Americans also were said to have reached Epernon, 30 miles southwest of the capital on the road from Chartres to Versailles.

[The London radio said American spearheads had reached "the outskirts of Paris," CBS reported.]

20 Miles from Seine River.

The Americans posed the threat of a new entrapment of the German 7th army by driving within 20 miles of Mantes on the Seine river west of Paris. At Mantes is the only bridge between there and the Seine mouth which has not been destroyed by air bombing.

The Germans were massing 500 big barges and scores of ferries for the crossing of the Seine.

At the western end of the pocket being created southwest of the Seine, the Canadians shattered powerful enemy defenses east and south of Caen. The Germans have begun a withdrawal along a front extending for 30 miles north of Falaise to the English channel.

The mouth of the Falaise-Argentan gap was narrowed to four miles after the Canadians took Falaise. Argentan still is in German hands, altho American units are a half mile north of it.

Admit Normandy Defeat.

"The Normandy front has been liquidated by the Germans," Dr. Max Hull, military commentator of the German news agency D. N. B. said in a broadcast. "German forces are retreating and swift allied troops are trying to gain new positions to outflank and encircle them. An attempt of this sort is being made at Dreux, where thrusts in several directions, including Paris, are being made. The lines are everywhere dented and interwoven to an extraordinary degree."

The fortress cities of Dreux, Chartres, Chateaudun, and Orleans, west and south of Paris, fell to American columns, it was announced officially yesterday by the allies. It was stated one column had speared on 13 miles east of Chartres and forced the Aunay river. The northern column which captured Dreux burst across the Eure river in the direction of Mantes.

What remained of the German 7th army is west of a line from Dreux to Mantes. If the Americans reach Mantes the Germans will be contained in a great pocket west and northwest of Paris with their last road to the capital—a bottle neck to Evreux, Mantes, and Grignon—and at their backs a bridgeless Seine.

The cathedral town of Chartres is of great importance to the allies because it is the junction of six main highways. It is also a big railway center on the way to Paris, with large freight yards and an important airdrome.

The Germans said three allied columns were pushing on toward Paris and the Seine in the area between Chartres and Dreux.

There were reports that Paris might be declared an open city by the Germans, as it was when the French yielded in the last chaotic retreat in 1940. Few signs of German activity were observed in Paris by allied airmen.

Orleans, a city of 73,000 population, 65 miles south of Paris, fell after only slight resistance. Orleans is an important communication center. Its capture cut the road to Bordeaux and threatened to isolate German forces on the southwest coast of France.

Falaise Fall Starts Retreat.

The German retreat on the western end of the front came after the capture of Falaise by the Canadians, and the launching of a fresh offensive by Lt. Gen. H. D. G. Crerar's forces to the northeast and southeast of Falaise. This attack began three days ago.

To the northeast the Canadians and British units crossed the river Dives at Mezidon, St. Pierre-sur-Dives and Jort. To the southeast the Canadians were driving in two columns toward the key road center of Trun, 10 miles from Falaise. One prong is proceeding from Falaise and the other from St. Pierre. Polish armored formations are participating in the latter. Last night fighting was going on around Montreul-la Cambe, 2 miles north of Trun. Trun is 7 miles northeast of Argentan.

Pocket Being Reduced.

The meeting of British and American patrols north and northeast of Domfront and the advance of British armored cars 4 miles east of Fiers indicated that the pocket was being reduced. Berjou-Cahan on the Conde-Falaise road has been cleared of the enemy.

As a result of the Germans' retreat, the Canadians captured Troarn, Dives river fortress, and Bavent, which had been strongly held by the Germans since five days after the invasion.

Complete cutting of the Falaise-Lisieux escape route out of the German pocket was assured by the capture of Louvagny and Damblainville. The villages of Barou and Norrey-en-Auge also were taken.

Driving straight down the road to Paris, the Canadians seized Vimont, graveyard of a British drive a few weeks ago.

Toward Heart of France.

The American 3d army lanced toward the heart of France at a speed which outdid the Avranches break-thru, and the stakes were even greater.

The Avranches stakes were not inconsiderable, for it was announced that in this drive the 3d army alone knocked out 100,000 Germans—11,000 killed, 41,300 captured, and 47,500 wounded.

Supreme headquarters lifted a week's veil of secrecy to reveal the fresh drive toward Paris, whose spearheads were 65 to 80 miles east of last reported positions around Le Mans.

At Orleans the United States armored tide, flanking Paris on the south, was in a position to turn south between the gaps of the Seine and Loire rivers, and catch some German forces in a nutcracker movement in concert with the new allied invasion drive up from the Riviera 400 miles to the south.

Under Heavy Air Attack.

The capture of Orleans extended the American southern flank along the Loire for a distance of about 200 miles upstream from Nantes.

Forces which Field Marshal Gen. Guenther von Kluge has been able to salvage from his debacles in northwestern France were under heavy attack from the air.

Late in the afternoon Lightnings, Mustangs, and Thunderbolts struck at the quadrangle formed by Rouen, Brussels, Reims, and Orleans, aiming principally at rail lines and communications, with strafing fire in direct support of the driving ground armies of the allies.

Ten bridges across the Risle river were the principal targets. Marauders and Havocs in 10 separate waves dropped more than 400 tons of explosives on similar targets thru dense clouds. All planes returned safely, neither hampered by flak nor enemy aircraft.

GERMAN WAR REPORT.

Thursday's German war bulletin as broadcast by Berlin and recorded in New York by the Associated Press said:

"Our tank formations launched a counter-attack against the Americans who continued attacks from the Argentan area and threw them back east and southeastward.

"The town of Dreux was lost after hard fighting.

"In Brittany, several enemy attacks in the Brest fighting area were smashed by concentrated defense fire. In the citadel of St. Malo, the garrison continues to put up heroic resistance.

followed by a jeering, angry mob, which was held back by gendarmes.

Our informant said the three traitors were shot this morning. When caught their pockets were filled with money presumably paid to them for their work as Gestapo agents. All three confessed. They had received 3,000 francs monthly to serve as Gestapo agents and obtained as much as 15,000 francs each for information leading to the arrest of any one caught trying to work for the French underground.

Our informant said the worst traitors fled the town with the Germans but he added, "We are going to find them."

No Water, Gas, or Coal.

Chartres, said one resident, has been without water, gas, wood, or coal about a month, our bombing raids having hit the water mains and railroad bridge. He said the allies had made several raids before they hit the railroad bridge, but "they finally got it."

The French girl said she was in Paris recently. Parisians have little to eat and "are waiting for you with impatience," she continued. "They have plenty of morale. They go on their bikes and get a few vegetables and are happy to get them. But I am sure that they have a few bottles of champagne hidden for when you arrive."

Report Killing of Hostages.

The French said the Germans last April took hostages in the Chartres area and killed 30 of them. Recently other hostages were slain. They said also that the Germans paid agents provocateurs to scrawl slogans on the walls accusing the allies of murder whenever our bombs killed the French. But, said a spokesman, even the French who had lost relatives took the loss as inevitable in the battle to free France.

Every one in Chartres was eager for news about other parts of France, eager to know when our troops would free their once bright capital. The French were gay, too, as tho finally they had achieved the priceless goal toward which they had been working. As one said:

"We have been waiting five years for this. Five years."

BRIG. GEN. WHARTON OF U. S. ARMY KILLED IN ACTION IN FRANCE

Washington, D. C., Aug. 17 (AP).—The army announced today that Brig. Gen. James E. Wharton was killed in action in France on Aug. 12.

Brig. Gen. Wharton.

Wharton's assignment has not been announced. He was assistant commander of the 80th infantry division at Camp Forrest, Tenn., before he was ordered overseas last October.

He is survived by his widow, who lives at Staunton, Va.

JOLIET AIRPORT IS PICKETED BY PARK STRIKERS

Striking park employes at Joliet yesterday established a picket line around the Municipal airport which is used as an emergency landing field by the army and occasionally by Chicago bound passenger planes when airports here are closed.

Spokesmen for local 791 of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal employes said the move was made in an effort to get the army to force the park board to deal with the union. The employes have been on strike since last Friday.

Airport authorities reported only one day's supply of gasoline on hand for private plane use, and only 1,500 gallons of high octane gasoline available for transport and other types of planes. A delivery of several thousand gallons scheduled yesterday was called off when the union notified the truck drivers' union of the picket line.

TRIBUNE TO BARE JAP PROPAGANDA IN PHILIPPINES

Pictures Show Hell Our Fighters Endured.

BY WILLIAM WISNER.

Beginning next Sunday in the picture section and continuing daily, THE TRIBUNE will publish a new and exclusive feature, "Jap Propaganda in the Philippines."

The most revealing collection of enemy documents thus far presented to American readers, this feature is composed of a series of official Japanese army photographs, printed 14 months ago at Manila, in the form of a "souvenir album"—as the Japs call it—of their invasion and conquest of the Philippines. The pictures are accompanied by the official Japanese descriptive text, translated into English.

The album came into the hands of Arthur Veysey, Tribune war correspondent, at Hollandia, New Guinea, where it had been left behind during the enemy retreat. Its original publication was obviously of threefold purpose: propaganda in conquered areas, prestige building abroad, and morale material for Japanese military personnel and civilians.

Show Hell Men Endured.

There are pictures of American captives never before printed in this country, of the Bataan and Corregidor catastrophes, of both Filipino and Caucasian collaborationists fraternizing with the conquerors, and of stunned and cowed islanders under the psychological whiplash of their exultant, temporary overlords. Friends of Gen. Wainwright and of other pictured American prisoners report that the photographs "show the hell thru which the men went."

That they show, and more. Even without their accompanying text, the pictures present a remarkable panorama of the Jap military and propaganda machine at work. With the descriptive matter, they will reveal—for the first time to many readers—that basic, amoral viciousness which always has animated the Japanese military and which since 1931 has spread with increasing acceleration thruout the civilian population.

The pictures and text will give to readers of THE TRIBUNE a penetrating insight into the conclusions reported by authoritative observers of the Japanese people, mores, and philosophy, under the fanatic domination of the war party. They will furnish factual point to the warnings of former Ambassador Joseph Grew that we beware the dangers of underestimating this seemingly ludicrous enemy.

"Unadulterated Infantilism."

A consensus of the testimony of competent witnesses, since Townsend Harris' mission to Japan in 1856, leads to a diagnosis of "what makes Japan tick" as a chronic case of unadulterated infantilism.

This conclusion is inescapable in the light of the evidence furnished by these Japanese official photographs and their textual propaganda. With awkward mimicry, the Tokyo counterpart of the Goebbels machine apes the bumbling bombast of its Axis ally.

The pictured swashbucklings and struttings of the conquerors bring to mind the comment of a diplomat, recently stationed in Japan, that here was that inferior, defensive psychology which promotes aggressive action.

One of the most frequent complaints made by the Japanese before Pearl Harbor was that we westerners "misunderstand" the Japanese mind. During the early days of Japanese incursions into Asia, the Tokyo foreign office was caught in a bare-faced lie. Confronted with the evidence, its spokesman explained that there was no untruth whatever, because "truth in Japan is not the same as truth elsewhere."

Where Difficulty Lies.

Competent observers agree that the occident's difficulty with Japanese processes is not a question of misunderstanding, but of the futility of trying to come to grips with an infantile and self-justified deviousness and duplicity, in which the rules of the game are, paradoxically, followed and abandoned at the same time.

The all-time record for this paradox was the attack on Pearl Harbor while the Kurusu-Nomura "peace" mission was still in Washington.

The following apocryphal illustration of Japanese deviousness seems not too far-fetched when one has read the text accompanying the pictures in "Jap Propaganda in the Philippines."

Two Tokyo business competitors met on a train. One asked the other whither he was bound, and upon being told that Kobe was the other's destination, said, "Ha! You can't fool me. You tell me Kobe because you think I think, 'He's trying to throw me off the track. He's not going to Kobe, he must be going to Osaka,' but because you want me to think you're going to Osaka, I know you're really going to Kobe."

Contributes Nothing to West.

Never, since Commodore Perry sighted Uragu 91 years ago, has Japan as a nation made a single original contribution to the occidental progress it appeared to embrace. More than that, in the recorded history of Japan since the 7th century, it has never led, but always followed the Chinese. At that time, it adopted the social system of the Tang dynasty in China and today perverts the Chinese respect for and veneration of ancestors, transforming a logical, reasonable social amalgam of peoples and ages into a state religion centered in the imperial person.

The assassinations in 1936 of Premier Saito and others of the Genro [elder statesmen] by the army clique brought about a renewed veneration of the samurai, the hereditary warrior class, abolished in 1877. It is in keeping with Japanese imitativeness that this followed, by just a few years, the Hitler-Rosenberg sanctification of the overstuffed Wagnerian demigods.

Imitativeness is one outstanding characteristic of the infantile. Nonmoral cruelty, bestial barbarity for its entertainment value is another. And the cruelty of the Japanese, their tortures, mental and physical, are amoral, for while immorality demands a positive rejection of the admittedly moral, amorality denies its existence.

Lethal Fang Revealed.

The album printed in Manila, tho carefully edited to eliminate any vestige of the innate cruelty of the Jap war machine, reveals unwittingly the lethal fang covered by the toothy grimace.

Here is a sample, which describes only by the most tortuous twistings of a fevered imagination a picture of American war prisoners:

"Lily livered enemy troops bow timidly before the sacred anger of the peoples of Greater East Asia. . . . They could not possibly have escaped their retribution. . . . They are squatting down in a dusty place, with dejected looks on their faces; take a look at those with servile smiles."

A Fact to Bear in Mind.

And here is a classical example of "injured innocence." It purports to describe a picture of Filipino refugees, mainly women and children, heaped as were the bodies of the victims in the Chunking bomb shelter catastrophe.

In reading it one must bear in mind that the Japanese, not the American, was the invader:

"As a result that is inevitable and unavoidable at the time, we see people like these on a section of the battlefield. However, eventually, thru the rescuing hand of the imperial army, they are also able to greet the day of a new life."

Again, here is a photograph whose significance would be stultified by any caption. A toast is being proposed by a Filipino puppet official, flanked on his side of the table by 13 Filipino faces, their expressions registering anything but the "celebration" the photograph depicts. On the other side are Japanese officers, headed by a grinning member of the imperial staff. Contemptuous and sinister best describe the faces of his fellows.

Air of Injured Innocence.

Miraculously preserved [for the Jap army photographer] are three signboards in Iloilo, the razed capital. Mark the injured innocence of the Japanese benefactors:

"What surprised us when we first entered the city of Iloilo was that there were large anti-Japanese propaganda billboards. . . . Neither in Manila nor Bataan were such things encountered. . . . The residents—whose homes were burned, whose food supplies were stolen, and who were rescued by the kindly protection given them by the imperial army—realizing that they had been misled by demagogical propaganda, now bear violent hatred against the American troops."

There are several pictures purporting to show the Japs' benevolent tolerance of Christian worship. There is only one which illustrates their own devotional life, and this, curiously, is the only picture bearing on the gentle art of laundering. Its caption:

"Pieces of cloth with 'one thousand stitches' for charm against death, placed to dry on barbed wires. Here in these charms is found the evidence of the utter devotion that protects soldiers."

Two Groups of Well Doers.

From Mr. Veysey's notes it appears that the Jap army machine maintains two distinct divisions of "welldoers" among conquered peoples. One is the regulation Propaganda corps, the other [literally translated, its title reads "Compassion Proclaiming Corps"] is charged with spreading "tranquility, entertainment, and gifts."

There are several pictures of these he-Lady Bountifuls at work, in few of which is there evidence of appropriate pleasure on the part of the recipients of their bounty.

Likewise, in the many pictures of Manila scenes, and indeed in most group pictures, there is a marked lack of expression on the faces of the non-Japanese. It is possible that the inclusion of such material in the album may not be due to the naïveté of the Japanese editors, so much as to their erroneous assumption that the Filipino is habitually as dead-panned as the Japanese, whose repertoire of facial expressions consists of nothing or a grin.

Only naïveté can account for the pictured happy smile on the face of a Manila schoolgirl whose eyes turn significantly upward at the outer corners and whose ecstatic glee is caused by the book she holds—a Japanese dictionary. By way of piling meringue upon applesauce, the editor captions this gem:

"Manila's Enthusiasm for the Japanese Language."

Ultimate in Propaganda.

But the ultimate capstone on their propaganda edifice is set in place by the Japanese estimate of Japanese amorality expressed adequately in the text which accompanies a shot of their army barracks on Luzon.

In this instance, at least, there is no difference between "truth in Japan and truth elsewhere," for the caption reads:

Beginning Sunday THE TRIBUNE presents this exclusive feature, "Jap Propaganda in the Philippines" to promote a more competent understanding of a wily, cruel, and ruthless enemy, and a better estimate of the task which confronts the United States army, navy, and marine corps in the Pacific.

NEW MAID AND JEWELS VANISH.

Mrs. Frank Lange, 4336 Berkeley av., told police yesterday that a girl, 16, from Rockford reported for work as a maid in her home and disappeared two hours later. At that time Mrs. Lange also discovered the disappearance of $190 worth of jewelry and clothing.

MUSIC FESTIVAL TO BLEND OLD AND NEW MAGIC

Bands and Fireworks on Tomorrow's Show.

FESTIVAL TICKETS.

Reserved seat tickets for the 15th Chicago Music Festival, to be held tomorrow evening, beginning at 7 o'clock, in Soldiers' field, may be obtained at The Tribune Public Service offices, 1 S. Dearborn st., and in Tribune Tower. Prices are $1.25 and 80 cents, federal tax included.

BY EDWARD BARRY.

The interest packed program which has been worked out for tomorrow night's 15th Chicago Music Festival in Soldiers' field represents a deft blending of the old and the new. Many features whose worth and strong appeal have been proved beyond question in numerous earlier festivals will share the three and one-half hour program with others which are brand new this year.

The trace of the small boy or the little girl which persists in every one, no matter what his age or dignity, is assurance that parades and fire works, if they are well and imaginatively put on, will always strike a responsive chord. They have long been festival standbys. Tomorrow they will again be done in a manner and on a scale calculated to bring gasps even from the most blasé.

Forty Bands to March.

Forty bands, comprising about 2,000 persons, will swing smartly around the giant arena to the tingling music of military marches. Sgt. Gerald Jensen will proudly lead an army band of 75 picked men from Fort Sheridan, Camp Des Plaines, and Camp Skokie.

The band of the Great Lakes Naval Training center, under Chief Specialist Anthony Vendetti, will uphold the prestige of the navy. Bands from public, Catholic and Lutheran schools, and from recreation centers and various organizations, will join the parade.

Skies to Erupt.

At the close of the pageant, the skies will erupt with flame as the fire works display begins. An invasion and the securing of a beachhead will be blazed. There will be pictures in flame of Gen. Eisenhower, Gen. MacArthur, and Adm. Nimitz. The audiences will see landing craft, tanks and airplanes in the midst of an inferno of bursting bombs and streaking rockets.

Other famous festival features to be repeated tomorrow are the performance of the "Hallelujah" chorus from Handel's "Messiah" by a great massed choir, the plaintive singing of Negro spirituals by the Festival Negro chorus, community singing, an appearance by Chief Specialist John Carter, the renowned tenor, and the bewitching match lighting ceremony.

"Oklahoma!" Cast to Appear.

Of the brand new features, one of the most promising is the presentation of the best known tunes from "Oklahoma!" by the cast.

Also, there will be a trombone choir of 300, a performance of John Alden Carpenter's "Song of Faith" with the composer present, an appearance by the Chicago All-Girl Piano Symphony orchestra [19 girls at 12 pianos], a musical tribute to America's allies, and a salute to radio station W-G-N on its 20th anniversary.

IDENTIFY 3 U. S. UNITS FIGHTING IN NORTH FRANCE

SUPREME HDQ., ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE, Aug. 17 (AP).—The 4th and 6th armored divisions and the 8th motorized division were disclosed today to be fighting in France.

The 4th is commanded by Maj. Gen. John Wood, the 6th by Maj. Gen. Robert Grow, and the 8th by Brig. Gen. Donald Stroh.

The 4th is made up mostly of men from the east coast areas, altho it has a representation from all states. It was activated at Pine Camp, N. Y., Oct. 15, 1941, and trained later in Tennessee, California, and in Camp Bowie, Tex. It reached the training area in Britain Jan. 10. Brig. Gen. Henry Baird commanded it until his retirement in June, 1942.

Gen. Williams Directs Invasion Troop Carriers

ROME, Italy, Aug. 17 (AP).—Troop carrier operations in the invasion of southern France are directed by Brig. Gen. Paul L. Williams of Los Angeles, chief of the United States 9th troop carrier command, headquarters disclosed today. In November, 1942, Williams led the longest parachute troop haul in history, the dash from England to North Africa. He also participated in the air borne attack on Sicily and commanded the transports which carried parachute troops into Normandy.

One Will Be Sweet Adeline

NEGRO CHORAL UNIT INSPIRES MUSIC FEST FOLK

Soldiers' Field Crowd Will Hear Them.

BY PHILIP MAXWELL.

Nearly 1,000 Negro singers rehearsed last night for their participation tomorrow in the 15th annual Chicago Music Festival concert in Soldiers' field. They met at the Metropolitan Community church, 41st st. and South Park way, and were directed by Prof. J. Wesley Jones. Never has a choral group sung more fervently than these folks did last night.

J. Wesley Jones.

They rehearsed two numbers, the traditional "Swing Low, Sweet Chariot," and "Hush! Hush! Somebody's Calling My Name." Tomorrow night the festival audience will be asked to join in the later number. The Negro choir will sing it once and on its repetition the audience will say, "Hush! hush!" with the singers.

Sing from the Heart.

Dr. Edgar Nelson, general choral director of the festival, was an honor guest last night and spoke briefly. He was introduced by Dr. Joseph Evans, pastor of the Metropolitan church. Dr. Nelson said that the participation of the singers was an inspiration to every person in the festival.

Harry Armstrong, composer of "Sweet Adeline," the popular song featured tomorrow night in Soldiers' field in connection with a festival "Queen Adeline" contest, arrived in Chicago yesterday morning from New York with Mrs. Armstrong.

Covers Both Names.

Her given name is not Adeline but it does begin with Ad—for it is Addie. When Mr. Armstrong sings his favorite song, he says he pronounces Adeline so it can cover both names.

A total of 111 baton twirlers, all living outside of Cook county, will compete in drum major competitions tomorrow morning beginning at 9 o'clock in Soldiers' field. All of them, win or lose, will take part in a big baton twirling exhibition at the festival.

STRONG FRENCH FLEET AIDED IN RIVIERA ATTACK

ALGIERS, Aug. 17 (AP).—A strong French fleet commanded by Vice Adm. Lemonnier, adjutant to Vice Adm. H. K. Hewitt, commander of United States naval forces in the Northwest Africa area, participated in operations in South France, an official announcement by the French admiralty said today.

The French force included the battleship Lorraine, the cruisers Montcalm, Georges, Leygues, Gloire, Emile, Bertin, Duguay, Trouinjeanne, and Durc and the light cruisers Le Terrible, Le Fantasque, and Le Malin. They were accompanied by many auxiliaries.

Call on South France Nazis to Surrender

LONDON, Aug. 17 [Reuter].—A call to the German forces in southern France to surrender was made today in a special broadcast by the allied radio at Algiers. "The only sane course is to lay down your arms now," it said. "Landings in southern France still are going on. Thousands of allied soldiers are landing, and thousands more will come."

INSURANCE MAN FOUND HANGED.

Harry Geyer, 40, of 8048 Lowe av., an insurance salesman, was found hanged from a basement beam in the apartment building where he lived.

8TH AIR FORCE MARKS SECOND ANNIVERSARY

BY E. R. NODERER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 17.—The United States 8th air force today marked the second anniversary of its first venture across the channel, with the announcement that 301,000 sorties had been flown in attacks on German occupied Europe. One hundred sixty-two raids were made by Flying Fortresses and Liberators and 139,000 by Mustangs, Lightnings, and Thunderbolts. About 1,750,000 individual crossings have been made by 8th air force flyers.

In the two year campaign approximately 2,900 bombers and 2,000 fighters were lost due to enemy action. Thirty-one thousand United States airmen were listed as killed or missing in two years. Many of these are known to be prisoners.

Heavy bombers dropped 300,000 tons of high explosives and incendiary bombs thruout Europe. Since Jan. 1, 1944, bombs have been dropped at an average rate of 1,600 pounds every minute day and night. More than 8,500 enemy planes have been shot out of the air, 5,668 by bomber gunners and 2,193 by fighter pilots. In addition fighters destroyed about 1,150 on the ground. Its first raid was an attack on rail yards in Rouen.

4 RUSSIANS WHO LEFT SHIP HELD IN U. S. CUSTODY

Seattle, Wash., Aug. 17 (AP).—Four crew men of a Russian ship, which sailed without them, are being held by United States immigration authorities for routine investigation, Raphael P. Bonham, district director, said today.

He said the men, two of them officers, had refused to return to their ships after being taken into custody and the Russian government had made no demand for their return.

The four were identified as Alexis Starkos, 30, second mate; Alex Terentieff, 32, third engineer; Alexander Nikitin, 21, and George Sereda, 23, seamen.

Bonham said the seamen were picked up last month and the officers arrived a few days later at the immigration station with their luggage. Bonham quoted them as saying they "didn't like conditions on the ship." Death is the penalty for desertion from a Russian ship.

BRITISH CONTROL OF ALLIED STAFF SHOWN IN PRESS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 17.—Demands in the London press that an apology be extended to Gen. Montgomery, Briton, for headquarters press reports that he had been placed on an equal footing with Lt. Gen. Bradley, American, today served to emphasize British dominance of the command and conduct of the invasion.

Dispatches Tuesday by the Associated Press and two British press associations reported Gen. Bradley had assumed a command equal to that of Gen. Montgomery because he had taken over command of the 12th army group. A Reuters [British press] dispatch said Gen. Eisenhower, allied commander in chief, had taken over command in the field and "under him on equal footing are Montgomery and Bradley."

Supreme headquarters Wednesday denied the reports, asserting that there had been no change in Montgomery's status as deputy in the field to Eisenhower and that the Britisher commanded all ground forces, including Bradley's 12th army group.

Amateurish and Confusing.

The London Daily Mirror today editorially charged headquarters with "amateurish, inconsistent and confusing handling" of war news and demanded Montgomery be offered an apology for printed and broadcast statements that he was "demoted" to equal footing with Gen. Bradley.

It is generally recognized in congressional circles and it is common gossip in military circles that Gen. Eisenhower merely is a figurehead and that the actual command of the invasion is in the hands of the British general staff and the British dominate the American war department and army.

All of Eisenhower's immediate chief subordinates are British. The deputy commander in chief is Air Chief Marshal Tedder. Montgomery is deputy commander in the field. Admiral Bertram Ramsay is leader of the allied naval forces, and Air Chief Marshal Trafford L. Leigh-Mallory is in command of the allied air forces. Eisenhower's chief of intelligence is Maj. Gen. K. W. D. Strong, British.

Under Gen. Wilson.

In Italy allied troops are under command of Gen. Wilson of Great Britain. Troops from Italy and Africa, who invaded France, are under Wilson's direct command. While Wilson is technically subordinate to Eisenhower because Eisenhower was named supreme commander of invasion forces, Wilson has an independent command in the south. The question of who will be boss when the two forces meet is yet to be settled.

It is a common report in army circles that it does not pay to oppose British dominance. At least three outstanding American generals have been sent home or sidetracked because of clashes with British officers. There is no record of a single British officer being sent home as a result of such clashes.

The late Brig. Gen. Theodore Roosevelt was reportedly kept from command of a division and promotion to the rank of major general because he opposed British dominance. Maj. Gen. Terry Allen was sent home reportedly because he stood up like Gen. Roosevelt for the 1st division, Lt. Gen. Lloyd R. Fredendall, according to reports common in army circles, was sent home after clashing with the British.

Baby Abandoned

Nurse Roberta Wright of St. Vincent's hospital holds baby left by parents with woman they met in Lincoln park.

Police searched last night for the parents of an unclaimed eight month old boy baby who was turned over to them by Mrs. Clara Schroeder, 936 Irving Park rd. Mrs. Schroeder said the child was left in her care by an unknown couple who persuaded her to take care of it for a day until they found a home. Meanwhile the baby was placed in St. Vincent's hospital for care.

Mrs. Schroeder told police that she and a friend, Mrs. Edith Robertson, 3957 Fremont st., were in Lincoln Park at Montrose av. Wednesday night when they encountered a young couple with the baby. The couple, she said, told them that they had been evicted from their apartment at 822 Leland av., claimed they had no place to take their child, and asked her to take care of it for them for a day. They failed to show up later, she said.

Checking at the Leland address, police learned that a couple had been evicted there for non-payment of rent. The man, they said, was known as Harold Grimm, about 27. His wife was about 23.

AMERICANS RAID PLOESTI; R. A. F. BLASTS AT REICH

LONDON, Aug. 17 (AP).—American heavy bombers from Italy attacked the great Romanian oil center of Ploesti today after nearly 1,200 R. A. F. heavies from England had plunged 5,600 tons of explosives before dawn into the German Baltic ports of Stettin and Kiel.

The Germans called the R. A. F. blows at Stettin and Kiel terror attacks and said "major damage was caused" in the old center of Stettin. The R. A. F. struck at Berlin also.

SANITARY ENGINEER DIES.

REPORTS BOMBS KILLED 7,500 CAEN CIVILIANS

Washington, D. C., Aug. 17 (AP).—A congressman back from the Normandy front reported today allied shelling of German occupied Caen killed 7,500 French civilians in that cathedral city of 60,000 population.

The French had been warned to vacate the coastal area, but Rep. Hugh D. Scott Jr., Philadelphia, related that after one allied barrage took 2,500 lives, civilians who had fled to the countryside returned and were caught in another, which killed 5,000 more.

Met Churchill.

Scott, in an interview, told of his experiences in France, where he met Prime Minister Churchill. Scott and a fellow Republican, Rep. Gordon Canfield of New Jersey, had worked their way across the Atlantic incognito aboard a tanker.

Visiting Caen July 19-23, with the Germans still only 1,000 yards away, Scott learned of the artillery toll from the American army civil affairs officer for the city.

Cathedral Damaged.

Virtually the entire city was destroyed, only the principal business section being saved, he said. The ancient cathedral escaped with a shell thru its roof.

During a three day tour of the beachhead area, Scott said he noticed France generally had a morp generous meat supply than Britain.

Equipment captured from the Germans was of good quality, he said, but there were indications it was scarce. He said a number of German tanks in good operating condition were found abandoned because of lack of gasoline.

GEN. PATCH AIDS IN ROUNDUP OF DOZEN GERMANS

INVASION HDQ., SOUTHERN FRANCE, Aug. 16 [Delayed].—[Reuter].—Maj. Gen. Alexander Patch, commanding the 7th army, which invaded southern France, landed for the first time today and took about a dozen prisoners.

In company with Vice Adm. Hewitt, from whose flagship he had been conducting operations, Gen. Patch went ashore to make an inspection of beachhead areas. Near a coastal town the party came upon German soldiers. Shots had been fired at the Germans by troops mopping up and it soon became apparent they were eager to surrender. One had a white flag on a stick.

Gen. Patch stepped from a jeep and took command while the Germans were rounded up and marched to the rear.

YANKS SMASH 30 MILES INTO FRANCE'S ALPS

Nine Towns Captured Along Riviera.

Wilson replied, that he had been "very gratified by the progress so far." Wilson visited the assault area yesterday in a British destroyer with Adm. John Cunningham, commander in chief of the allied fleet in the Mediterranean.

[A Reuters dispatch said James Forrestal, United States secretary of the navy, watched the invasion of southern France while on Vice Adm. H. K. Hewitt's flagship.]

Coastal Towns Swept Up.

The allied command said the invasion had swept up the coastal towns of St. Tropez, Ste. Maxime, St. Raphael, Frejus, and Le Lavandou and the inland towns of Le Muy, Lorgues, and Collobrieres, in addition to Le Luc.

"The swift advance of American and French troops continues inland," said Gen. Patch's bulletin. "Numerous additional villages and towns have been taken. All elements of the beachhead forces have been joined to form a continuous front arching inland, with anchor points over 50 airline miles apart."

There was no evidence of any general drive by the enemy to hurl the invaders back.

As three veteran American infantry divisions which spearheaded the invasion pressed ahead, more American troops and a great French force were pouring ashore unmolested by enemy attack. Tanks and big M-10 tank destroyers were among the equipment landed.

Vast stores of ammunition, food, and other supplies already were ashore. Hospitals and many other rear establishments already were in operation on the beachhead.

Historic Points Overrun.

Of the coastal towns taken, St. Tropez, Ste. Maxine, and St. Raphael are resort towns. Le Lavandou is a fishing village and Frejus, a mile from the coast, is an old town of Provence that has withstood modern trends.

It was from St. Raphael that Napoleon was deported to Elba. Cannes is the point where Napoleon landed to begin his 100 day campaign.

The allied command announced that the forces landed on the beachhead had joined with air borne forces dropped far inland. This likely meant the allies were in possession of inland communication lines which the parachutists had been assigned to block.

The Germans sent few war planes over the battle areas and these were quickly driven off.

Thunderbolts destroyed several enemy planes on the ground in attacks on two air fields south of Avignon, cut the Cannes-Avignon rail line at five points, and knocked out bridges and cut tracks between Toulon and Marseille.

GERMAN WAR REPORT.

Germany's war bulletin, broadcast yesterday, said:

"In the south French coastal area, fierce fighting against the enemy, who is increasing reënforcements from the air and from the sea. In fighting he succeeded in penetrating into Cannes.

"German light naval forces and escorting vessels in several clashes with a superior British naval formation sank two destroyers and damaged one cruiser off the French Atlantic coast in the morning hours of Aug. 15. One of our own vessels was sunk and another was damaged.

"In the fight against the enemy landing fleet in the waters of St. Tropez, the luftwaffe damaged two enemy transports totalling 18,000 tons so heavily that their loss is to be reckoned with. One enemy battleship received a direct hit of heavy caliber."

NAVY COMPLAINS AFL MACHINISTS DODGE OVERTIME

San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 17 [Special].—Rear Adm. H. G. Bowen, acting under Presidential designation of control of five machine shops seized by the navy Tuesday, said today he was not satisfied with the compliance of members of local 68 of the Machinists' union [AFL] to orders of the officer in charge.

Analyzing the return to work situation in four of the five plants seized to end the union ban against working more than 48 hours a week, Adm. Bowen said, many men reported for the eight hour day instead of for the overtime schedule posted by the navy. The dispute arose four months ago when the union banned overtime on the contention it was not necessary to complete navy orders.

Atty. Gen. Biddle conferred with officers of the navy and the FBI and declared the department of justice would coöperate in seeing that machinists complied with the government order for overtime work.

SNIPER BATTLE GIVES FLORENCE A FOOD CRISIS

ROME, Italy, Aug. 17 (AP).—Eighth army troops fought today for the 14th day to clear Florence of Germans as patriots, filtering thru the lines; reported Nazi terrorism in the no man's land of the city.

The allied military government [AMG] was hauling in tons of food for residents of that part of the city in allied hands, but the patriots told of a grave food situation in the disputed area, where flying bullets kept all indoors. Nazis once turned tank guns on civilians, refugees said.

An allied bulletin said reconnaissance patrols were active along the Arno river from Florence westward to the sea. There was no major change in the mountains east of the upper Tiber valley. It was disclosed that the 351st infantry regiment, 88th division, had played a major role in the drive to the Arno.

NAZIS SUDDENLY BARE FANGS ON RIVIERA FLANK

BY SID FEDER.

[Representing Combined American Press.]

WITH THE AMERICAN FORCES ON THE RIVIERA, Aug. 16 [Delayed]—(AP).—Enemy fangs kept hidden for more than 24 hours on this right flank of the Riviera beachhead were bared suddenly today in fire from a previously unreported line and powerful pillboxes along the coast.

After several hours of stubborn resistance, the Americans reported successes against both obstacles, which had provided the most serious organized resistance to the pace the American forces had maintained from the moment of H-hour yesterday.

Call for Artillery Fire.

Corp. Richard Boehm, St. James, Minn., school teacher, and Privates Frederick Held, Erie, Pa., and James Beale, Petersburg, Va., were out on a three man reconnaissance patrol and noted the counter-attack by some 100 to 150 Germans, supported by artillery fire from high ground.

The patrol called for artillery fire on the enemy column, and since no artillery observers were there the trio personally directed the fire. They directed the artillery on the column with three test shells, and the guns did the rest. A barrage of 110 rounds was slammed on the position. Boehm reported the column had dispersed when the smoke cleared.

Going Gets Rough.

Meanwhile, forces traveling along coastal roads and encountering only scattered small arms resistance, suddenly found the going rough and hot as they collided with a long series of pillboxes. Machine guns blazed at the Americans from a peak just off the shore line.

As part of the column advanced, more fire and more concrete strongpoints to the north were encountered. American mortar units poured shells on the mountain in a steady stream. The Nazi garrison was demoralized and troops assaulting them from the other side rounded up more than 80 prisoners. They also occupied the peak and cleared out several first line pillboxes.

PIERCE VITAL HIGHWAY

BY SID FEDER.

[Representing combined American press.]

WITH THE AMERICAN FORCES ON THE RIVIERA, Aug. 16 [Delayed]—(AP).—Maintaining the fierce momentum of the opening drive, allied troops on the right flank of the Riviera beachhead smashed across a highway in two places today, broke into a vital highway junction town, and smashed forward.

Rolling over resistance mostly by scattered small arms pockets, the doughboys in 24 hours widened the beachhead from a toehold scarcely 30 feet wide to a secure stronghold nearly seven miles deep. This morning they hold high ground overlooking the landing beaches and harbors.

The Nazis struck two overnight blows that did some damage but failed to slow down the drive. One was by radio controled flying bombs. The other was when the Germans tried to send at least two companies down the highway, probably to aid the garrison defending the community.

You practically had to climb a tree and hide in the branches to avoid capturing prisoners today.

By the end of the first day one regiment alone had more than 750 prisoners. On battalion checked in four hours after H-hour with 300. These Nazis were practically popeyed when they saw the smash thru their south wall.

Even an artillery battery commanded by Capt. Thomas F. Hayes of Champaign, Ill., checked in with 14. As soon as they had parked their guns a Frenchman came out waving a white flag. He and several neighbors had rounded the Nazis up and herded them into a pillbox.

CHAPLAIN BAGS NAZIS

BY HERBERT L. MATTHEWS.

[Representing combined American press.]

IN SOUTHERN FRANCE, Aug. 16 [Delayed] (AP).—Typical of this paradoxical day was the capture of two Germans by an unarmed American chaplain from New York City, Maj. Jordan E. Brown of St. Francis Friary.

Brown and others took over a villa and he strolled into its garden and almost stepped on two sleeping Germans.

They were heavily armed with grenades but he jumped between them and shouted. They started to run, but he pointed his hand at them with his finger cocked, and they surrendered.

Decree Is Granted

MRS. HELEN SELLEK.

Mrs. Helen Sellek, 25, of 4903 Hubbard st., yesterday was granted a divorce by Superior Judge Charles A. Williams and $40 a week alimony and support money for her two children whose custody she was awarded. In addition, her husband, Edward, 29, a war plant engineer, made a cash settlement of $1,800 for the future education of the children, Phyllis, 2, and Priscilla, 3 months. Mrs. Sellek, represented by Atty. S. Edward Bloom, testified that she found lipstick on her husband's shirts when she returned from the hospital after the birth of the last baby and that he struck her when she inquired about it.

HINTS BULGARIA MAKES MOVE TO GET OUT OF WAR

LONDON, Aug. 17 (AP).—Premier Ivan Bagrianov, addressing the Bulgarian parliament, threw out a peace bid today, declaring "the government is determined to remove all obstacles which stand in the way of the Bulgarian people's love for peace."

[Reports have circulated in allied circles for weeks that Bulgaria, first central power to crack in the first World war, was trying to find a way out of this one. She was for a time under pressure from Russia, with whom she is not at war, to get out, but German forces inside the Balkan country have been an obstacle.]

The premier, as his address was recorded by the federal communications commission, said Bulgarian forces of occupation in Greece and Yugoslavia would conduct themselves so as not to cause new suffering and conflict among the Bulgars "or any other nationals near and far."

Charges $5 for Chicken; Must Pay Court $2,300

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 17.—A fine of $2,300 was imposed by a London court today on Manuel Andur, a poultry salesman, for charging $5.40 for a chicken which should have been sold at the controled price of $2.30.

Canadian Corvette Sunk in Invasion; 28 Lost

OTTAWA, Ont., Aug. 17 (AP).—Loss of the Canadian corvette Regina with two dead and 26 missing was announced today by Navy Minister Macdonald. He said the Regina was sunk assisting a merchant ship "in difficulties in invasion waters."

REPORT VICHY COLLABORATORS FLEE TO BERLIN

LONDON, Aug. 17 (AP).—Swiss reports said tonight that most members of the Vichy government had fled to Berlin.

A dispatch to Der Bund, Bern, Switzerland, newspaper, told of the flight from Vichy by French cabinet ministers, but no mention was made of Pierre Laval, chief of government, nor of Marshal Henri Petain, chief of state.

Army newspaper Stars and Stripes reported from Vannes, France, that a French parachute battalion dropped near there on D-day, June 6, and said "its remnants fought savagely two months to disrupt German communications and organize a French resistance army in Brittany."

Attack Supply Routes.

Brig. Gen. Joseph Koenig, head of the French forces of the interior, said in a bulletin tonight that his men were attacking German supply trains with "considerable losses" to the enemy's men and material.

Specialized teams, he reported, cut eight important bridges and forced the Germans to abandon "many" important railroad lines, including the Toulouse-Orleans and Montlucon-Bourges routes.

Among the successes listed in the report was the surrender of a German garrison of 500 men at Brieve.

A frontier dispatch to the Lausanne [Switzerland] Gazette said Maqui forces had attacked Fort de L'Ecluse in the Ain department near the French-Swiss frontier, and that factory workers in response to orders from Gen. de Gaulle had struck in Montbeliard.

Revolt Gains Speed.

MADRID, Aug. 17 (AP).—France today was reported as a nation in arms as the uprising ordered by Algiers against German invaders, collaborationists, and satellites gained momentum.

Dispatches to Madrid said regular armies of Frenchmen, lacking heavy arms but equipped with light weapons, had taken to the field.

Germans in southwestern France from Montpellier to the Atlantic were said to be faced by French patriots astride all escape routes.

A Bordeaux dispatch to the newspaper Arriba said that only a few German military trains, "guarded as if trying to cross thru enemy lines," were able to function and that they could make no thru connections.

IRUN, Spain, Aug. 17 (AP).—Units of the French army of the interior captured the city of Pau today following a bloody all night battle in which 300 Germans were killed and 300 captured, immediately moved 25 miles east, and occupied Tarbes after a short fight, reports reaching here tonight said. Both Pau and Tarbes are Pyrenees cities.

AIR NAVIGATOR, BLINDED, PLOTS COURSE TO BASE

Lt. James W. Abell, an army air forces navigator whose home is at 537 W. 87th st., recently survived a flight over Nazi territory in which he managed to plot the course of his disabled B-24 Liberator, the Midnight Choo Choo, back to its base even tho he was blinded by hydraulic fluid, the war department announced yesterday. As Sgt. James M. Marshall of Hermiston, Ore., made temporary repairs to the ship, the pilot, Lt. Gayle H. Miller of Montgomery, Ala., peeled out of formation and followed the course which was plotted by Lt. Abell thru pain dimmed eyes. Lt. Abell is the son of Mrs. Frances Abell, who lives at the 87th st. address.

U. S. FLYER HITS BULL'S-EYE WITH PLASMA BOMB

Trapped Yanks Radio 'Thanks a Lot.'

BY HOWARD WHITMAN.

[Correspondent of the New York News and The Chicago Tribune.]

A 9TH AIR FORCE BASE IN FRANCE, Aug. 16 [Delayed.]—Lt. Willard R. Haines was sitting around last night catching up on "Terry and the Pirates" in the army newspaper Stars and Stripes when he was told to do a little precision bombing, but with blood plasma instead of TNT.

Northwest of Le Mans, an armored column had been pinned down and was suffering heavy casualties. Its commander had radioed for blood plasma and other supplies, and Col. George Wertenbaker Jr.'s squadron of P-47 Thunderbolts had received the task of providing them.

Put in Gas Tank.

Wertenbaker, a full colonel at 27, had the flight surgeon pack blood plasma, morphine, sulfa drugs, and surgical dressings into an emergency gas tank that fits under a Thunderbolt's fuselage.

Lt. Haines, 23, of Bolton, Ga., with a couple of other Thunderbolts escorting him, flew to the sector where the armored column was in trouble. The little French town in the area was in flames, burning so furiously, Haines said, that he could feel the heat.

Radio contact with the tank column leader had told Haines that the spot where the plasma should be dropped would be marked.

Haines left his escort and went down to treetop level to search for the marker. Finally he found it—a cross 6 feet long and 4 feet wide.

Picks Cushioned Target.

He slowed to 180 miles an hour, which is close to stalling speed for a Thunderbolt. Then, with a press of the tank button, he released his cargo into "soft looking trees."

German gunners were firing at him as he raced to rejoin his escort. The leader of the tank column radioed:

"The stuff came down in the field right next to us. We're getting it now. Thanks a lot." Haines replied:

"You're welcome. Good luck. I hope it helps."

Haines told me he got more kick out of that mission than any of the 57 bombing, strafing, and fighting missions he's flown.

WIFE DIVORCES FORMER AID AT GREAT LAKES

Lt. Comdr. Lloyd W. McConnaughay, former intelligence officer at the Great Lakes Naval Training center, was divorced by Hazel D. McConnaughay on ground of desertion yesterday in Lake county Circuit court when Judge Ralph J. Dady granted a decree awarding custody of William Charles McConnaughay, 15, to his mother.

Mrs. McConnaughay testified her husband wrote her while on foreign duty that he had no intention of living with her again. She was awarded $225 monthly alimony and the family home at Bartlett Beach, Zion, as well as furniture and personal property there.

IF PARIS FALLS, NAZIS MAY LOSE ALL OF FRANCE

Retreat to Rhine Called Possible Sequel.

As American armies drive toward Paris their goal is the richest prize of the war, excepting only Berlin. For the capture of Paris might mean the ultimate liberation of all France.

The Germans, of course, are aware of the difficulties they will face if Paris falls, and of the problem they have in defending the city from attacks from the west and south. Military experts believe the war has reached a stage where the Nazis can hope only to fight delaying actions while they try to pull out of France as many of their troops as possible.

If the allied forces are able to destroy a large proportion of the 25 or more German divisions believed to be in France, the setting up of new defense lines west of the Rhine may be beyond the capacity of the Nazi war machine.

Terrain Would Favor Allies.

In modern history there is no applicable parallel to the situation now developing, for in previous wars the advances on Paris have been from the north and west, where natural barriers rise to plague an invader.

But when Paris falls to the allies, the situation will be reversed; the terrain offers a marked advantage for mobile warfare in a northeasterly direction.

In addition, when Paris is taken, the hub of all France's principal railroads and highways will be in allied hands. If ever it was true that "all roads lead to Rome," the statement is doubly true of Paris.

Several Lines Available.

Assuming that the German armies, except those trapped in Brittany, are able to withdraw in good order from western France, they may be able to fight a series of delaying actions before the allies reach the Rhine. Their first line of defense, after Paris falls, is along the Oise, Somme, and Marne rivers and the western slopes of the Auvergne mountains.

Then they could retire to fight along the Oise and Aisne rivers and the eastern Auvergne mountains. If this line were breached, a defense might be made along the line of the Meuse, Saone, and Rhone rivers. Thereafter comes a line extending from Switzerland's border, the Vosges mountains, the Argonne and Ardennes forests, and the Meuse river.

A retreating army attempting to take a stand along any of these lines might be threatened, both on the north and the south, by flanking maneuvers from new allied landings along the channel coast and on the Mediterranean. In addition, there are two vulnerable spots, the Lorraine gateway between the northern tip of the Vosges mountains and Luxembourg, and the Belfort gap south of the Vosges.

Might Fall Back to Rhine.

Possibly the Germans may elect to make no serious defense of France after Paris falls and will fall back to the Rhine. Behind the Rhine lies the Siegfried line, or west wall fortifications, which were much advertised at the beginning of the war.

If the German armies hold together long enough to make a last stand there, the allies in the meantime, with their control of the sea and the air, probably will have made new landings along the North sea and will be able to overwhelm the German forces frontally or on the flanks.

But at this stage of the war, discussion of such maneuvers is academic. Military men believe the consequences of the fall of Paris would be so great that Germany could hardly hope to maintain effective resistance for many weeks.

Six Arrested After Shooting

Roy Mauldin, one of the men shot, in the Bridewell hospital. Another man, Jack Melton, is being sought. The four men were said to be escaped Georgia chain gang convicts.

Two army wives, two single girls, and two ex-convicts were being held by police for questioning yesterday in connection with the shooting of Roy Mauldin, 8 S. Oakley blvd., in Western av., just north of Belmont av., early in the morning.

They were Mrs. Rose Mary Rigsby, 19, 2839 Congress st., whose husband is a paratrooper in the Pacific; Mrs. Betty Steffens, 19, 3302 Adams st., whose husband is at Fort Benning, Ga.; Miss Kay Murphy, 16, sister of Mrs. Rigsby; Miss Mary Bruneau, 18, 8500 Elizabeth st., a cousin of Mrs. Rigsby; Joseph Kitchen, and Lee Burke.

Mauldin was shot in the left thigh, and is in the Bridewell hospital. The shooting followed an early morning party, and stemmed from the repulsed efforts of a fourth man, identified as Jack Melton, to introduce another girl into the party. Melton allegedly shot Mauldin. Police said that all four men are fugitives from a Georgia prison. Mrs. Rigsby's baby, William, 10 months old, was present at the shooting.

EMMONS TAKES BUCKNER'S POST IN ALASKA ZONE

HDQ., ALASKAN DEPARTMENT, Aug. 17 (AP).—Lt. Gen. Delos C. Emmons, former commander of the Hawaiian department and western defense command, is commanding the Alaskan department, it was announced today. He succeeded Lt. Gen. Simon B. Buckner Jr. on June 21. Brig. Gen. Robert M. Bathurst came here as his chief of staff. Gen. Emmons once served in Alaska as an infantry lieutenant and was an observer in the Aleutians last year. "We will use every offensive means at our command," he said after assuming this command. "We have some contact with Japanese, in form of bombs dropped on the Kuriles, but Japan cannot be defeated by bombing alone."

WOMAN ACCUSED OF LOVE FRAUD TO BUY A TAVERN

Mrs. Helene Catenazzo, owner of the tavern at 2000 Erie st., charged with confidence game in obtaining $1,500 from William Paseka, 41, a war plant foreman in De Kalb, was released on $2,500 bond by Judge Francis Borrelli in Felony court yesterday pending a hearing Sept. 15. Asst. State's Atty. Julius Sherwin said he wanted time to peruse some supposedly torrid letters written by the defendant. He said Mrs. Catenazzo admitted she used the money, which Paseka said she told him she needed for a tumor operation, to buy the tavern. Paseka said she had promised to divorce her husband, Jerry, and marry him, but failed to keep the promise.

LAY CAMP FIGHT TO CODDLING OF WAR PRISONERS

Seattle, Wash., Aug. 17 [Special].—Resentment of American troops over the "coddling" of Italian soldiers brought here as prisoners of war was reported today to have been the direct cause of the Monday night raid of rock-wielding Negro troops on members of an Italian service unit at Fort Lawton.

One Italian was found hanged in a tree after the raid and 24 Italians were injured in the melee which army officials said was precipitated when Negro soldiers attacked sleeping members of the service unit.

Today a Fort Lawton soldier, off the post reservation on a pass, said that both white and Negro troops had been resentful of the treatment accorded the former axis soldiers. United States soldiers, he said, felt the Italians were given easier work than members of the Negro port battalion and resented the army taking the Italians on tours to baseball games and parks.

Another Fight Bared.

Another unnamed white soldier said an altercation Sunday night between white soldiers and Italians in the post exchange preceded by 24 hours the barracks raid.

"The PX always does a lot of business on Sunday nights and we were sort of burned up because the Italians got there first and we weren't able to get service," he was quoted as saying. "They were talking together in Italian and laughing a lot, and the boys got the impression they were laughing at them. I don't know if that was the case, but anyway the Americans got mad and chucked the lot of them out."

Community Complains.

Meanwhile, Sheriff Harlan F. Callahan said he had received a complaint from a lumber company that members of another Italian service unit had cut loose a boom of logs in the Duwamish waterway near which they are housed in a cantonment. The logs were carried far downstream and into Elliot Bay before they could be retrieved, the complaint said.

The sheriff told of receiving numerous telephone calls from civilians excited at seeing Italians wearing arm bands bearing the inscription "Italy" wandering around. Believing the Italians were prisoners of war, the callers were alarmed at their freedom, particularly near the Boeing aircraft plant.

Italian service units are composed of selected prisoners of war who have pledged allegiance to the allied cause. Among the assignments reported given them at Fort Lawton are policing duty, work in messes and canteens, agricultural work and at least one does tailoring.

LONDON, Aug. 17 (AP).—Prohibition was introduced in Finland last month, but will be suspended today except in the battle threatened eastern sections, said a Helsinki dispatch broadcast today from Berlin.

SOLDIERS TAKE OVER SHIP JOBS OF CIO STRIKERS

Sailors Also Replace 400 Laborers.

New York, Aug. 17 [Special].—Work details from the army and navy have been sent to the Bethlehem Steel company's ship yards in Hoboken, N. J., and at 56th st., Brooklyn, to replace nearly 400 laborers, members of a CIO union, who walked out after the war labor board denied their request for increases in wages on a par with those granted skilled workers.

Fifty-seven soldiers from the Brooklyn army base and 100 sailors from the navy yard were dispatched to the Brooklyn plant, where work is being done on an army hospital ship and several naval vessels, to clear out possible fire hazards consisting of accumulated debris normally removed from the ships by the striking laborers.

Sailors Take Places.

Ninety-two sailors were sent to the Hoboken yard for the same purpose.

A yards spokesman said the service man had been called after the union, the Industrial Union of Marine and Shipyard Workers of America, had turned down a request to provide enough men to rid the army and navy vessels of the debris that prevented any burning or welding work because of the fire danger involved.

The men walked out, he said, in violation of their contract with the company and also in violation of their no strike pledge.

Denied Work Certificates.

An appeal now before the war man power commission was filed last week when the United States employment service denied a demand of 200 of the workers for certificates of availability after their request for the wage increase had been denied. It had been reported that the men would return to work this morning while awaiting action on the appeal, but Bethlehem officials said none returned.

Chicagoans Among Navy Aces Returning to U. S.

U. S. FLEET AIRWING TWO, Central Pacific—(AP).—American navy bombing squadron 108 is "heading for home after hanging up a Central Pacific operational record. Each pilot and crewman has averaged 50 combat missions, which produced these results—20 Japanese ships sunk and 22 damaged and 25 planes shot down. Among the pilots are Lieutenants Irwin T. Wengierski of 6235 S. Sacramento av., Chicago; Wilfred D. Kile, Marshall, Ill.; Charles R. Baumgartner, Lorraine, Ill., and Harvey Hopp, Holland, Mich. Crewmen include Ensign L. J. Walkowiak of 8632 Baltimore av., Chicago.

NEW HALMAHERA RAID WRECKS 23 PARKED PLANES

GENERAL HDQ., SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, Aug. 18 [Friday]—(AP).—Continuing sharp raids on Halmahera Island, allied aircraft smashed 23 parked planes at Miti airdrome, in the northern part of the island, headquarters announced today. The raid, which took place on Wednesday, was the 17th so far in August on Halmahera, southern guardian of the Philippines, approximately 300 miles south of Mindanao.

Other planes sank a 1,000 ton Japanese vessel at Davao during an attack Tuesday night and Wednesday morning.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur's war bulletin said that due to allied air activity the enemy "can no longer risk his heavy shipping forward of the line thru the Philippines-Celebes-Ceram."

YANK BOMBERS AGAIN SMASH AT BONIN ISLANDS

U. S. PACIFIC FLEET HDQ., Pearl Harbor, Aug. 17 (AP).—Liberators of the 7th A. A. F. bombed Chichi Island again on Tuesday in a fresh neutralization campaign against Japan's Bonin Island bases. Chichi is 630 miles below Tokyo.

A seaplane base was the major target on Chichi, key enemy position in the island chain. Maug Island near the northern end of the Marianas was bombed for the first time the same day.

Adm. Chester W. Nimitz, Pacific fleet commander in chief, reported also that other bombers struck Paramushiro at the north end of the Kurile Islands reaching northward from Japan. They hit that North Pacific base on Sunday, attacking enemy supply facilities. Only meager anti-aircraft opposition was encountered.

SICILY HERO PAUSES AT SHIPYARD JOB TO RECEIVE SILVER STAR

Joseph Popenleur.

The Silver Star awarded to Joseph Popenleur, 10641 Wentworth av., for courageous conduct in action in Sicily was presented him at noon yesterday in the presence of more than 2,000 fellow employes, including 88 other veterans of this war, at the Pullman Standard Car Manufacturing company's ship plant, at 111th st. and Cottage Grove av.

Lt. Col. Royal H. Price, executive officer of the 3d division, 6th service command, presented the medal and read the citation, which related that Popenleur "courageously and daringly" under heavy fire helped several wounded men to safety. Popenleur was wounded at the same time so severely as to disable him for further service. Francis M. Gunn, works manager, and Lt. R. P. Kimzey, of the navy unit at the plant, spoke. Roseland post of the American Legion presented the colors at the ceremony.

Veterans working in the plant were given special attention along with the hero. More than half of them were employed there before they went into service.

SILVER STARS GIVEN TWO; ONE POSTHUMOUSLY

Silver Stars for gallantry in action have been awarded, one posthumously, to two Illinois members of the army's 15th air force, the war department announced yesterday.

The posthumous award was received by Mrs. Otto T. Maulding Sr. of Centralia, for her son, a radio operator on a B-17, who altho mortally injured, remained at his post to send distress signals after his plane "crashed into water 50 miles from friendly territory." Three members of his crew were saved.

The other recipient was Sgt. William F. Jones, 1557 N. Honore st., a tail gunner on a B-24 who, despite a severe back wound, remained at his post thruout a bombing mission over Hungary until hostile aircraft was driven off and the plane was able to return to its base.

U. S. CASUALTIES IN WAR REACH 299,474 TOTAL

Washington, D. C., Aug. 17 (AP).—Battle casualties in the United States armed forces thus far reported to next of kin have reached a total of 299,474.

Acting Secretary of War John J. McCloy today listed army casualties of 244,775 from the start of the war until July 29. Navy, marine, and coast guard casualties totaling 54,699 were announced by the navy.

Of the army total, 45,491 were killed, 113,977 were wounded [57,956 of the wounded have recovered and returned to duty], 42,102 are missing, and 43,205 are officially reported prisoners of the enemy.

Army casualties in Normandy, from D day thru Aug. 6 amounted to 112,673, with 16,434 killed, 76,535 wounded, and 19,704 missing. The Normandy figure included one week's casualties, not broken down, which were not in the summary of all army casualties.

22,665 Navy Dead.

Navy casualties alone totaled 34,414, with the marines reporting 19,530 and the Coast Guard 755. For the three naval services, the total of dead was 22,665; wounded, 17,819; missing, 9,746, and prisoners of war 4,469.

The army's total of casualties was an increase of 26,302 over the latest previous report, made Aug. 3, of 218,473. The navy total increased 2,828 from 51,871.

Bringing out the cost of defeating the German forces in Normandy, McCloy commented at a news conference:

"Under the circumstances, it is sometimes repugnant and dispiriting to the soldier to hear that the war is over or is going to end tomorrow."

Discusses Progress of War.

The enemy has suffered a decided defeat in the Normandy area, said McCloy, and all the operations—in Normandy, on the south coast, and by resistance forces in the interior—add up only to the first steps in the battle of France.

"The Germans have fought bitterly, and they still have large forces in western France which have not yet been committed to action," said McCloy.

WAVELL REJECTS GANDHI TALK ON INDIAN FREEDOM

NEW DELHI, Aug. 18 [Friday]—(AP).—Field Marshal Wavell, the viceroy of India, has rejected a request for an interview by Mohandas K. Gandhi, who offered to urge full Nationalist support of the war effort if India be granted immediate independence, it was announced today.

The viceroy said that because of their sharp differences nothing could be gained by such a meeting now, but he added that he would be glad to consider any "definite and constructive policy."

An exchange of letters between Wavell and the aged Indian Nationalist leader made public today disclosed that Gandhi sought a conference July 17.

He offered to advise the Nationalist congress to give full support to the war effort "if a declaration of immediate Indian independence be made, and a National government responsible to a central assembly be formed, subject to the provision that during the pendency of the war military operations should continue as at present, but without involving any financial burden on India."

The viceroy said that preliminary work could begin now on framing of a new constitution, but that Indians must first reach a "genuine agreement" among themselves for "a transitional government established and working within the present constitution."

LT. HARRY HOBBS JR. OF FLOSSMOOR WINS AIR MEDAL, CLUSTER

Lt. H. E. Hobbs Jr.

Second Lt. Harry E. Hobbs Jr., 20, whose parents reside on Braeburn rd., Flossmoor, has been awarded the air medal and an oak leaf cluster for "meritorious achievement while participating in heavy bombardment missions in the air offensive against the enemy over continental Europe," his parents were informed yesterday.

Hobbs, a B-17 navigator stationed outside of London, received the air medal on July 19, and the cluster on Aug. 3.

A graduate of Andover preparatory school, he attended Princeton university one year prior to enlisting in the air force in January, 1943. He was sent overseas in April of this year and made his first mission in July.

ENSIGN STOFFER TELLS OF JUNGLE WAR WITH JAPS

Ensign Stoffer.

Ensign Charles W. Stoffer, 26, of 10721 Prospect av., who shot his way up the beaches with a marine construction battalion at Bougainville, and then flew home for officer's training at the University of Notre Dame, is at Navy pier awaiting assignment with the amphibious corps.

"You don't know what you're shooting at in the jungles much of the time, because the foliage is so thick," he said.

Ensign Stoffer is a graduate of Tilden Technical High school, where his father, Charles C. Stoffer, is pattern shop instructor, and attended the University of Illinois three years. He entered the navy in September, 1942, and after boot training at Camp Allen, Norfolk, Va., was transferred to the marine construction battalion and sent to New Caledonia, New Hebrides, Guadalcanal, and Bougainville. At Bougainville the battalion landed under fire.

TELLS REGRETS OF YANKS HURT AT BEACHHEAD

F. B. Sontag.

The chief complaint of men wounded at Normandy beachhead was a disappointment at being knocked out of the fighting so soon, Chief Warrant Officer F. B. Sontag, 31, of the navy medical corps, said yesterday. Sontag, who enlisted in the navy in 1932, is in Chicago visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Sontag, 2447 W. 80th st.

A veteran of landings at Fedala and Casablanca, in North Africa, and at Gela, in Sicily, Sontag expressed the opinion that there was a lower percentage of casualties at Normandy beachhead than in previous landings. Casualties among medical men were lower than expected, he said.

Sontag was at the naval hospital at Great Lakes when the war started. His job in the Normandy invasion was to see that various medical units took part and that technicians and medical supplies were on hand. He was in Cherbourg two days, but worked thru most of June in England meeting casualties as they came ashore across the channel and allocating them to hospitals.

Civilian Mail Resumed to 8 More Italian Areas

Postmaster Ernest Kruetgen yesterday announced resumption of civilian personal mail service to eight additional Italian provinces. Commercial and money order service will not be included for the present. Previously service had been resumed to 13 provinces and Rome and Vatican City. The additional provinces are Aquila, Campobasso, Chieti, Frosinone, Littoria, Pescara, Rome, and Teramo.

CHICAGO TANK LEADER KILLED ON BATTLEFIELD

Sgt. Kennelly's Vehicle Knocked Out 3 Times.

Sgt. Martin R. Kennelly, 21, of 8040 Langley av., commander of the tank "Be Back Soon" which was shot up three times in the first six weeks of the Normandy invasion, has been killed in action, his mother, Mrs. Margaret Kennelly, was informed yesterday by the war department.

Lt. Fred Zeplin.

Sgt. Kennelly, who volunteered in October, 1942, went overseas last January. His crew saw action for the first time with the Normandy invasion. Each time his tank was knocked out, it was repaired and sent back into battle. Details of Sgt. Kennelly's last battle Aug. 6 were not revealed.

A lieutenant colonel in the R. O. T. C. at Calumet High school, Kennelly attended De Paul university for a year, and served as president of his freshman class. In addition to his mother, he is survived by three brothers: John, with the navy in the South Pacific; Thomas, taking army training at Ripon college, and William, a Chicago war worker, and a sister, Annette.

Word was received yesterday by Mr. and Mrs. Fred Zeplin, 5029 S. Wells st., of the death of their son, Lt. Fred J. Zeplin, 28, in France July 27. Lt. Zeplin landed in France three weeks before his death. He had been in the army two years, being transferred from Camp Roberts, Cal., to Panama where he served six months before being ordered overseas. He was a graduate of Tilden High school. Surviving besides his parents are a brother, Harry, and two sisters, Mrs. Anna Peter and Mrs. Elsie Gillen.

Sgt. Charles Snyder, 23, of the air forces who was reported shot down over France on July 8, is a German prisoner, the war department has notified his wife, who lives at 8128 Indiana av., with their 7 months old daughter, Susan. Sgt. Snyder, who holds the distinguished flying cross and the air medal with nine clusters, is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Snyder, of 3066 E. 77th st. He was employed by the Peoples Gas Light & Coke company before he entered the army.

Two brothers, former residents of Chicago, were killed in action in France eight days apart, the war department has notified their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Goland of Los Angeles, Cal. Pvt. Hyman Goland, 32, was killed July 3 and Sgt. Martin Goland, 37, July 11. Both were infantrymen. They last saw each other a year ago at the home of a cousin, A. W. Aver, 2740 Arthur av.

Supply Sgt. John W. Stauffer, 30, of 300 N. Latrobe av., has been killed in action in the Pacific area, his widow, Dorothy, has been notified by the war department. Other survivors are a daughter, Dorothy, 7 months, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Stauffer of San Antonio, Tex., former Chicago residents. Sgt. Stauffer had been employed by Armour & Co. until he enlisted in the marines a week after Pearl Harbor. He went overseas last January and had fought at Saipan and Tinian.

Lt. James M. King, 34, who formerly lived at 6641 S. Talman av., and was employed in the advertising department of Swift & Co., was killed in action in France July 31, his widow, Cecil, now living in Urbana, has been notified by the war department. A sister, Mrs. Morgan Sandberg, lives at 1123 E. 81st st. Lt. King entered the service Oct. 13, 1942, and went overseas last May with the infantry.

A year's silence was broken yesterday when Mrs. Grace Heinrich, 4509 N. Damen av., received a card from her son, Pvt. Kenneth A. Heinrich, 24, who is a Japanese prisoner of war in the Philippines. The message included greetings to all of his friends and acknowledged a telegram which his family sent him several months ago. Pvt. Heinrich enlisted in April, 1941.

Pvt. Estell Baugus, 31, son of John R. Baugus, of 151 N. Ohio st., Aurora, was killed in action in France Aug. 7, his family has been notified by the war department. Pvt. Baugus, who was in the military police, had been overseas since April, 1943, and in the army since October, 1942. Survivors include his father, a brother, and a sister.

Pvt. Edward J. McFarland, 19 year old infantryman, was captured May 12 in the Anzio area in Italy, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James McFarland, 6727 S. Ada st., have been informed by the war department. McFarland, a graduate of St. Rita's High school, entered the army in February, 1943. He arrived in Africa last October and was in the force that landed at Anzio.

THE QUESTION.

What is your idea of an understanding parent?

WHERE ASKED.

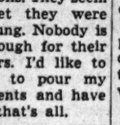
THE ANSWERS.

Rose Lombardo, packer, 611 N. Lawndale av.—Mothers are more understanding than fathers, I think. Fathers are always jumping to conclusions. They seem to forget they were ever young. Nobody is good enough for their daughters. I'd like to be able to pour my heart out to my parents and have them just listen and that's all.



Marjorie Jaros, inspector, 2634 59th ct., Cicero—I believe intelligent parents should take an interest in whatever their children do. My father and mother grew up with me and I'd trust them with any of my secrets or problems. They always trust me and take me into their confidence—make me one of them.

Lorraine Szpiega, 2821 49th av., Cicero—It would be fun to be able to bring friends home for dinner any time or have overnight guests without asking my parents. My idea of an ideal parent would be the kind who would let you do anything you wanted. Of course, it's up to them to bring you up right.

Dorothy Chaplin, 2246 Division st.—I think parents should let their children do pretty much what they want to. I don't like to have them say, "You shouldn't do this—you can't do that." I think I'm old enough to think for myself—not in serious things—but I like to be trusted and treated like a grownup.

Dorothy Borowiak, 4924 28th pl., Cicero—My idea of a perfect understanding parent would be one you could tell anything to—as if she were a girl friend. I'd like to be able to confide in mother and let her tell dad without either getting upset or angry. They should always be pals and give me credit for having a little sense.

Irene Jilek, stenciling, 5400 25th pl., Cicero—Most parents build their own barriers between themselves and their children. I believe a truly understanding parent should, from the very first day Junior comes home with a shocking story, accept it as if it were routine. Then at some psychological time, teach him what is right.

WE WILL INVADE BOTH GERMANY AND JAPAN: F.D.R.

BY WALTER TROHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 17.—President Roosevelt returned to his desk in the White House today after an absence of 35 days on a 15,000 mile trip to American strongholds in Hawaii and the Aleutians.

As he entered the capital Mr. Roosevelt declared Germany and Japan will be invaded and garrisoned by allied troops before they are allowed to quit the war. He made it clear the axis powers cannot expect to escape occupation by an 11th hour unconditional surrender on the eve of collapse.

The chief executive minimized the political aspects of the tour, which carried him for the first time into the Pacific theater of the war. He visited 21 states.

Subordinates Political Activity.

Taking a cue from the President, the White House staff emphasized Mr. Roosevelt's conferences on foreign and domestic problems and subordinated his political activity.

Mr. Roosevelt conferred with Gen. Marshall, chief of staff of the army; Adm. King, chief of naval operations; Secretary of War Stimson, Secretary of State Hull, and others in the cabinet.

He also made arrangements to confer with his running mate, Sen. Truman [D., Mo.]. It is expected that Mr. Roosevelt will set the date of the opening of his formal campaign in this conference.

On board his train Mr. Roosevelt was told that some of his critics had insisted that his recent journey was inspired by political motives. It was charged that Mr. Roosevelt had moved to recognize the war in the Pacific because he felt that the collapse of the Nazi war machine was imperiling his commander in chief status.

More Than He Knows.

The President replied that if such were the case his critics knew more about his trip than he did. Actually, he said, there were no politics involved at any stage of his journey.

At the end of the first week of his trip Mr. Roosevelt paused in a west coast navy yard to accept the fourth term nomination in a radio address to the Democratic convention at Chicago.

Mr. Roosevelt discounted an early blow up of the German war machine. He said he did not expect a collapse of the Nazis until allied armies reached the borders of Germany altho he expressed the hope there will be more internal disorder in Germany.

The Next Generation.

He said Germany must be invaded because if we let the Germans quit, the next generation will be told Germany won the war.

He also said Japan must not be allowed to surrender. He said that nation must be sealed off from the peace loving world until she proves herself willing and able to live with the other nations.

Mr. Roosevelt's return to Washington revived reports that he plans an early meeting with Prime Minister Churchill. The two leaders have met about every six months since the outbreak of the war.

21 OF MARIANAS MARINE HEROES PAUSE IN CITY

For the first time since the attack on Pearl Harbor when he was home on a furlough, Sgt. Delmar I. Johnson, 28, wounded veteran of the southwest Pacific campaigns, greeted his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ivar Johnson of 5842 Patterson av., yesterday at the North Western railroad station.

With 20 other marines, all convalescing from major wounds received in the attacks on the Marianas Islands, he was on his way to Bethesda, Md., for further hospitalization.

Sgt. Johnson's right arm is in a cast. It has a shrapnel wound six inches long. He received major wounds in both legs from bursting shrapnel during landing operations on Tinian Island, but he was not on crutches. His face bore fresh scars of other wounds.

Among other heroes in the group en route east were Corp. Warren L. Chrisco, 21, of Springfield, who had seven teeth knocked out and his lip torn by a machine gun bullet, and Pvt. Nathan L. Stepp, 23, of Goshen, Ind., both of whom were greeted by relatives at the station.

NEW SHERMANS MOUNT 105 MM. GUN, 4 OTHERS

Washington, D. C., Aug. 17 [Special].—A new version of the M-4 Gen. Sherman tank, now in action in France, is armed with a 105 mm. howitzer—the largest gun ever installed in a medium tank—and is "the master of any German tank now in the field," the war department revealed today.

The massive weapon is equipped with a .30 caliber machine gun in a combination gun mount that has a 360 degree traverse. The 33 ton tank also carries another 30 caliber and a 50 caliber machine gun; a 45 caliber submachine gun, hand grenades, and smoke bombs. Its commander vision cupola is protected by three inch laminated bullet resisting glass.

U. S. AND BRITAIN TO HELP FREED HUNGARIAN JEWS

Washington, D. C., Aug. 17 (AP).—The state department announced tonight that the United States and Great Britain have accepted the offer of the Hungarian government for the release of Jews and that Anglo-American authorities will arrange to take care of Hungarian Jews who reach neutral or allied nations' territory.

The announcement made jointly with the British government in London, said the international committee of the Red Cross had transmitted to the governments of the United Kingdom and the United States an offer of the Hungarian government regarding the emmigration and treatment of Jews.

"Because of the desperate plight of the Jews in Hungary, and the overwhelming humanitarian considerations involved, the two governments are informing the government of Hungary thru the international committee of the Red Cross, that, despite the heavy difficulties and responsibilities involved," they will arrange to take care of Jewish refugees from Hungary and see that they find temporary havens of refuge.

The state department said acceptance of the offer which has been made does not "in any way condone the action of the Hungarian government in forcing the emigration of Jews as an alternative to persecution and death."

8,000 TO BE SAVED.

Safety for 8,000 Hungarian Jews and their non-Jewish friends in Budapest has been assured by joint action of the American and World Jewish congress and the International Red Cross, it was stated last night at a meeting of the United Hungarian Jews of Chicago at 1335 N. California av.

War Veterans Will Get Special Railroad Rate

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 17.—Special rail fares of 1¼ cents a mile will be established Sept. 1 for discharged military personnel, John J. Pelley, president of the Association of American Railroads, announced today. The special fares will be good for one way coach travel from the point at which the service man or woman is released to any destination in the United States or Canada. The tickets will be good for 30 days.

FEAR EARTH SHOCKS HERALD BIRTH OF NEW VOLCANO IN MEXICO

MONTERREY, Mexico., Aug. 17 (AP).—Forty violent shocks, accompanied by subterranean explosions and rumblings, have terrified residents of the town of Teran, 60 miles southwest of Monterrey.

Teran [arrow] site of temblors.

Persons who came from the ranch village of La Canada, eight miles south of Teran, said yesterday that there the shocks were still more violent and that they were expecting the birth of a new volcano. The tremors and rumblings began Saturday.

No deaths or injuries have been reported but many buildings have been split.

Hurricane Near Puerto Rico.

Miami, Fla., Aug. 17 (AP).—The weather bureau reported late today that a tropical storm with winds of gale force over a considerable area and probably hurricane force near the center will pass 200 to 250 miles south of Puerto Rico tonight.

Fraser Indorses F. D. R.'s Plan for Pacific Safety

WELLINGTON, New Zealand, Aug. 17 (AP)Prime Minister Peter Fraser today expressed "cordial indorsement" of President Roosevelt's references to the Pacific ocean at the Puget Sound navy yard last week. "With world organizations now under discussion," Fraser said, "machinery would be devised to insure the nations of the Pacific would not be threatened again."

GEN. WAINWRIGHT SAYS PRISONERS NEED MORE FOOD

Washington, D. C., Aug. 17 (AP).—Lt. Gen. Jonathan Wainwright, commander on Bataan when it fell in April, 1942, and a prisoner of the Japanese since, has told a Red Cross interviewer that conditions in his camp in Formosa "are as good as can be reasonably expected."

Lt. Gen. Wainwright.

Red Cross headquarters today said Gen. Wainwright and two other officers, Brig. Gen. Lewis C. Beebe and Capt. George T. Schooley, have been visited within the last 90 days by a delegate of the international committee of the Red Cross. They were interviewed as spokesmen for the men held in their respective camps, all in Formosa.

Numbers of Camps.

The delegate was permitted to give the numbers of the camps, but not their locations.

Gen. Wainwright, at Camp V., said that relief supplies received from the American Red Cross via the diplomatic exchange ship Gripsholm were useful. He said more canned food and warm clothing would be appreciated. Other prisoners in the same camp also voiced the need for more relief supplies and better mail service.

Gen. Beebe, at Camp IV., said the diet was deficient in proteins and fats and that one Red Cross food parcel per month was needed for each prisoner. At Camp III., Captain Schooley said towels, socks, raincoats, and toilet articles were needed.

Needs Fully Understood.

Basil O'Connor, chairman of the American Red Cross, said needs of prisoners held by Japan are fully understood by the government and the Red Cross and that efforts still are being pressed to make possible the clearance of supplies thru a Russian Pacific port. Thus far only shipments via diplomatic ships have been completed.

County Board Accepts Bid on Infirmary Ice Machine

The Cook county board, at a meeting yesterday, accepted a bid of $28,244 for the installation of a brine refrigerating machine at Oak Forest infirmary. The Buildice company was the successful bidder. Approval of 22 road maintenance projects to cost about $350,000 was given by the board and bids were accepted.

HOUSE TO PROBE CIO ACTIVITIES OF NEW DEALERS

Subgroup to Quiz Them on PAC Dealings.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 17.—A house subcommittee investigating un-American activities today decided to summon high ranking government officials for questioning about alleged collaboration with the CIO political action committee in violation of the Hatch "clean politics" act.

Sidney Hillman.

Chairman Starnes [D., Ala.] announced that an inquiry also will be made into the release of two key employes to join the PAC by the war man power commission, which supervises the freezing of other workers in war jobs.

Chief Investigator Robert E. Stripling recently made public a list of 71 policy forming federal office holders, headed by two cabinet members and several White House staff executives, who have been in frequent telegraph and telephone communication with Sidney Hillman, PAC chairman, and his chief assistant, C. B. Baldwin.

Biddle Shuns Prosecution.

The evidence, consisting of copies of telegrams and long distance telephone slips, was forwarded to Atty. Gen. Biddle, who was one of those listed as receiving calls from Hillman. Mr. Biddle promptly replied that he had no right to prosecute because the Hatch act provides no criminal penalty for political activity by federal employes, only removal from office.

Despairing of any action by the civil service commission, to which the attorney general shifted the responsibility for removal proceedings, the Starnes subcommittee, appointed by Chairman Dies [D., Tex.], decided to subpena the listed officials for explanation of the numerous long distance calls and telegrams they have received from the Hillman group.

Probe Release of Employes.

The subcommittee will scrutinize the recent releases of Charlotte Carr, $6,500 WMC executive, and Mrs. Verda Barnes, senior information specialist of the WMC, to become New York director and women's director, respectively, of the PAC. It will ask how they were granted releases from the very agency which prevents war workers from leaving jobs.

A WMC spokesman said any one could leave a war job to join a political organization if he wished. He said the person would have to wait 60 days after quitting before accepting another war job.

A date for the hearings will be set when Rep. Costello [D., Cal.], the third subcommittee member, returns to Washington next week.

Order Highway Political Poster Ban Enforced

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 17 (AP).—State highway maintenance patrols were ordered today to enforce rigidly state regulations prohibiting posting of political signs on highway rights of way, regardless of political party. Director Walter A. Rosenfield of the department of public works and buildings announced the action following the arrest and release of two highway department employes who removed posters during reelection of Michael F. Mulcahy, Cook county sheriff.

G. O. P. APPEALS TO WOMEN AND BORDER STATES

Sept. 7 and 8 Slated for Dewey Speeches.

BY HAL FOUST.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 17.—Republican Presidential campaign strategy calling for a nation wide appeal to women voters, a fight for the border states below the Mason Dixon line, and a drive at the New Deal stronghold of Pennsylvania, was disclosed this afternoon. Simultaneously, the first dates in Gov. Dewey's speaking program were announced as Sept. 7 in Philadelphia, and Sept. 8, in Louisville, Ky. Other engagements are being arranged and it was said the opening campaign address may come before Sept. 7.

The Louisville speech, on the fringe of the wavering Southland, will be delivered by the Republican Presidential candidate before a biennial conference of the National Federation of Republican Women's clubs, an organization of 4,000 clubs with 300,000 members. The arrangements were made by the federation president, Mrs. W. Glenn Suthers of Chicago.

The address to the women will be broadcast nationally. The women's federation is planning "neighborhood listening in" parties at which each of the 4,000 clubs will invite groups to assemble around radios in their villages and cities to hear the Republican Presidential candidate.

Subjects Not Announced

The Philadelphia address will be in the convention hall there where four years ago Wendell Willkie captured the Republican Presidential nomination. The Philadelphia meeting will be under the auspices of the Republican state committee of Pennsylvania.

President Roosevelt won Pennsylvania's 35 electoral votes four years ago almost entirely on large pluralities from Philadelphia and Pittsburgh.

The subjects for the two addresses were not announced. It was presumed, however, that in Philadelphia, scene of recent labor and race strife, the Republican nominee will attack Roosevelt's tactics of pitting class against class for political advantage.

May Attack Roosevelt.

Before the women of America and from the border state of Kentucky, Dewey may make his main speech on the necessity of ousting Roosevelt if America is to have peace at home and abroad.

This might point out that in Washington, the continual conflict between congress and the President requires a new occupant of the White House to attain harmony between the executive and legislative branches of the government in writing peace treaties and in guiding the nation thru reconversion.

Illinois Militia Air Corps Tests Mobilization Today

Members of the Illinois Reserve Militia air corps will start a statewide test mobilization today when they will fly 50 planes to Chicago airport. Lt. Col. John A. Casey, Chicago, will have charge of a three day training course for pilots and observers.

SUPERVISING POLICE CAPT. CONLISK BEGINS 31ST YEAR ON FORCE

Supervising Capt. James B. Conlisk, who has been the right hand man to police commissioners for the last 14 years, today will begin his 31st year in the police department. He is secretary to Police Commissioner Allman.

Capt. J. B. Conlisk.

Conlisk was a patrolman when he was brought to headquarters by the late Acting Commissioner John H. Alcock, but promotions came rapidly. He was made a sergeant in 1933, a lieutenant in 1935, a captain in 1938, and a supervising captain in April, 1940. Police officials describe him as one of the most efficient and diplomatic men in the service.

Capt. Conlisk lives with his wife at 1315 W. Marquette rd. Their sons, William and Jack, are in the navy, and Jim Jr. and Robert are in the army.

LUCAS SAYS WAR LEADERS SHOULD ENGINEER PEACE

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 17 (AP).—Sen. Lucas [D., Ill.] recommended tonight that "those men who have been instrumental in bringing about the miracle of wartime production for winning this war should also have the opportunity of engineering the return to civilian economy."

Lucas, a member of the senate committee on post-war economic planning and policy, said in an address prepared for delivery at the Illinois Electric Cooperatives association convention that these production leaders "who put patriotism first" should be offered a chance "to give confidence to the entire nation."

A post-war economy, he said, stands ready to bring an unprecedented national prosperity and standard of living.

PLANS TO SAVE SOIL TOLD BY GREEN AT FAIR

Bloomington, Ill., Aug. 17 (AP).—Gov. Green tonight said at the McLean county fair that the Illinois post-war planning commission's agriculture subcommittee would complete by early fall a long range plan for state soil conservation and fertilization, with special emphasis on expanded development of the state's limestone resources. Private and cooperative interests will be encouraged to exploit limestone supplies to provide much more than the 45 million tons needed in 1942 for state soils, he said in an outline of various state post-war plans which he discussed earlier in the day at the Iroquois county fair in Milford.

CIO WILL ASK FIRMS THRUOUT U. S. FOR CASH

Deny Plan to Aid 4th Term Is Illegal.

New York, Aug. 17 (AP).—Hyman S. Blumberg, vice president of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America [CIO], said today he "wouldn't be surprised" if the union held meetings thruout the country similar to recent ones here where officials solicited contributions from employer groups for the CIO political action committee fund.

Referring to meetings of union officials with manufacturers of men's and boys' apparel and with a group of laundry owners who were asked to contribute to the fund individually, Blumberg said:

"It's strictly legal.

Strictly Legal.

"Last Monday night when we met with a group of laundry owners to discuss various questions arising under the contract our union has with them, we said, 'Now, if any of you fellows think as we do about the election, act upon it individually for yourselves.'"

The two employer groups have contracts with the union, headed by Sidney Hillman who also heads the CIO PAC and the citizens PAC. Hillman could not be reached for comment.

No 'High Pressure.'

Meanwhile, the 10 laundry owners who attended the meeting met and authorized Jacob Landau, labor relations counsel, to issue a statement denying that any "high pressure" methods were used to obtain contributions.

"There was nothing said either expressly or from which it could be inferred that any force would be applied to obtain such contributions or that any laundryman would suffer in any manner whatsoever if no contributions were made," the statement said.

It added that the speakers "specifically stated the remarks were directed only to those persons who favored President Roosevelt's election."

Soldier Ballot Requests Here Rise to 52,000 Total

Illinois soldier ballot applications are flooding the offices of the Chicago board of election commissioners and County Clerk Michael J. Flynn, with the total reported at over 52,000 yesterday. At the election board names and addresses of applicants are being typed on gummed labels to be pasted to envelopes when ballots are ready. The ballots will be printed in mid-September.

GEORGIA G.O.P. SPLIT HEADS TO COURT BATTLE

Atlanta, Ga., Aug. 17 (AP).—The split in Georgia's Republican ranks appeared headed today for a court battle after the party's national chairman announced plans to sue for recognition of the white-Negro faction whose slate of electoral college candidates was denied a place on the state ballot in the November election.

Republican National Chairman Herbert Brownell Jr. in New York yesterday criticized action of Georgia's Secretary of State John B. Wilson in certifying a group of electoral candidates chosen by an all-white party faction.

Brownell said Democratic Gov. Ellis Arnall had upheld Wilson, also a Democrat, and charged that "this is one more evidence that New Deal leaders who slapped down the legitimate claims of the Negroes of this country at the New Deal convention in Chicago are maintaining the same attitude at the present time."

ELECTION FUNDS PROBE BY HOUSE SET FOR MONDAY

Washington, D. C., Aug. 17 (AP).—An investigation of political campaign expenditures will begin next Monday before a special house committee with Sidney Hillman, head of the CIO political action committee, Democratic and Republican party officials, and members of congress testifying.

Rep. Anderson [D., N. M.], chairman, said today the committee may go into the "whole campaign expenditures problem" as well as into specific instances in which "complaints have been made."

Besides Hillman, those asked to appear before the committee include Herbert Brownell Jr. and Robert E. Hannegan, Republican and Democratic national committee chairmen, respectively, and Rep. Halleck [R., Ind.] and Rep. Drewry [D., Va.], chairmen of Republican and Democratic congressional campaign committees, respectively.

Others invited to appear are Speaker Rayburn [D., Tex.] and Representatives Mansfield, Lyndon, Johnson, and Kleberg, all Democrats of Texas; Lesinski [D., Mich.], Costello [D., Cal.], and Starnes [D., Ala.].

BROWNELL SETS CHICAGO PARLEY OF YOUNG G.O.P.

Young Republicans thruout the country will be represented at a meeting here Aug. 31 with National Chairman Herbert Brownell Jr. to discuss their role in the Dewey-Bricker campaign, it was announced yesterday.

Brownell conferred with some of the Young Republican leaders in New York. After hearing reports on their activities he said their campaign participation should be broadened. The clubs, like the Young Democratic clubs, have been hard hit by war losses of members.

A national convention of Young Republican clubs set for Sept. 2 in Springfield will be postponed, Brownell said. There has been a dispute over the authority under which the convention was called, some leaders contending that the club constitution bans conventions in Presidential election years.

THE PLIGHT OF OUR ENEMIES.

German suicides involve high officers who failed to kill Hitler. Japanese suicides are among the lowly men the Jap admirals abandoned on the islands their navy could not hold. Tojo and the higher-ups, who by their failure to defend the inner approaches to the sacred soil caused the emperor "much concern" and themselves "much trepidation," as they confessed in resigning, have not yet taken the one way ride to their ancestors.

Certain circumstances in the deaths of Adm. Yamamoto, who was to dictate peace in the White House, and of his successor as chief of the fleet, pointed to mortified self-destruction, but that is mostly conjecture. The ceremonial stage of samurai pig sticking has not been reached by the superior people in the land which makes it an article of devotion, altho it has been practiced by the dismayed herrenvolk in Germany who, having clumsily failed to knock off the fuehrer, had the choice of taking their own lives or being shot or hanged.

Assassination as a political practice and a process of government is honored equally in Nazi Germany and Japan, but here again the daimios are allowing their friends, the Hitlerites, to have all the play. Japan apparently has made its governmental transitions, humiliating tho they have been, thus far without blood purges or many suicides. Germany is nearer collapse than Japan and its symptoms are more violent. Hitler temporarily may have strengthened his position by his attack on the army generals and the Vons. He protected his key positions by guarding them with men who can no more afford to make a peace than he can.

It is a most unusual circumstance of war that an entire government, from its top down thru infinite ramifications of subordinates and agents, can make peace only by submitting to trial for crimes of which the accused are prejudged guilty, with their lives forfeited on evidence already accepted as convincing and convicting. The Nazis have no reason to expect anything else. The allies can hardly withdraw from their studied declarations that guilt is personal from Hitler to the lowest executioner of Nazi decrees. The conduct of such a war would be safe, then, only in the hands of men who would sacrifice the last German soldier before they sacrificed themselves.

The German army, having had Napoleonic successes, has, in the last year and a half, had more than Napoleonic defeats. It was on the banks of the Volga and near the banks of the Nile. Now it is defending East Prussia and Warsaw, the Seine, part of the channel coast and Belgium, the Alps, and the valley of the Rhone. It has lost the territory for which it was bled in Russia. It has been driven out of Africa. It has lost Italy south of Florence. It could not stop the invasion of France. Its air power is shattered. The submarine, the failure of which indicated the loss of the other war, has failed again.

The German army is still a fighting army. The question must arise, fighting for what? If for better terms, the hope is misplaced. The army still has power to inflict damages and great injuries, but increasingly the damage inflicted will be on Germany itself. The opportunity to devastate other lands is narrowing month by month. The final convulsion may leave Germany wrecked for a generation in men and substance. That is the price Hitler undertakes to exact for his overthrow.

The Japanese are as yet in brighter circumstances, but none too good, and all the omens are bad. When the Germans were at their crest the Japs made their bid for an attack on the continental United States, landed troops in the Aleutians, and sought a sea and air engagement at the Midways. They went home leaking at every seam. Japanese war mentality was revealed in this boastful sortie. The war lords based their strategy on fundamental errors, conceived in arrogance, and have been paying for it in the loss of lands, garrisons, ships, and the important item of face. They are now being pounded on their front door step.

There has been a surmise that the dropping of the Tojo cabinet may have been a shift toward peace proposals. The Japanese may calculate that, altho the surrender of Germany will make their situation more hazardous, it may also prompt a great desire in the United States for a complete peace, even if it falls short of what the Americans intended to accomplish. If the Japs conclude that this is altogether the wrong time to continue the war their peace proposals may seem reasonable. As their trepidation increases their reasonableness will increase.

The Japanese have convinced us that their error was not only serious but congenital. Their acts of barbarism will be remembered when their peril brings out fair promises. We doubt the existence of an opposition party in Japan. The only objection to the war and its practices is that now it threatens defeat, just reprisals, and a severe and long continued national chastening.

WHY THEY ATTACK FISH AND HOFFMAN.

It is the strategy of the New Dealers and the Communists, now that their joint destiny is on the block in the fourth term election campaign, to fight with every foul means they can invent against the public repudiation which will drive them from office and from power. This strategy is behind the Communist-New Deal smear of Rep. Hoffman of Michigan and Rep. Fish of New York, and the reason for it is apparent.

Rep. Hoffman is one of the most aggressive Republicans in congress. He is sparking a drive right now to take control of the house of representatives from the Communist-New Deal party before the November election on the strength of the 212 seats the Republicans now hold, which, with a few conservative Democratic votes, would give the Republicans a majority. "Why shouldn't we put thru legislation to fire from the federal pay rolls all Communists with foreign ideals and replace them with Americans?" Rep. Hoffman asked. "Why not an act to give all those oppressed by burocratic agencies a chance for a day in court?"

Rep. Fish, in an attack upon the Communist controled American Labor party, wound up with some rather oddly rhymed verse which put the laugh on Secretary Ickes, who at his age is in no temper to stand such ridicule. Ickes and the other New Dealers are trying hard to act respectably until after election day and make people think they are winning the war. Congressmen who can make the public laugh at them and can identify them as Communist tools are dangerous enemies.

The Communists and New Dealers are attacking Hoffman and Fish because of their audacity. If these men can be silenced, less courageous Republicans will be intimidated and the opposition to Communist control will be softened. That is the only way the planners can put over the fourth term and they know it.

POWER POLITICS AND WORLD PEACE.

Gov. Dewey has entered a valid objection to the plans for international organization as they seem to be shaping up in advance of the four power conference that is to open next week in Washington.

It has been indicated that the coalition of the United States, Russia, Great Britain, and China is not only to prosecute the war to a victorious conclusion—Russia's failure to fight Japan being gracefully ignored—but that these same four powers are, in the guise of preserving the peace, to rule the world by their joint force thereafter.

This is, of course, a complete negation of all the idealism to which Mr. Roosevelt pretends. The "cynical intention" which Gov. Dewey discerns, to divide the world into spheres of influence, is quite apparent. The continuation of power politics which has bred all the great wars of the modern era is implicit in this plan.

In his assertion that the American people are agreed upon the need for world organization, Gov. Dewey gauges a hope rather than a determination. Certainly Americans hope with all their hearts that a way can be found to protect this nation and the world against the repetition of such disastrous wars as the present one. They hope that the international organization which it, is politically fashionable to advocate will provide the machinery for such a beneficent undertaking. But their support of any particular international organization will be conditioned on the extent to which it respects American sovereignty and protects the interest of this nation.

There is little reason to believe that an organization meeting these qualifications can come out of the impending conference in Washington. The United States will be represented there by a President who is the Russian candidate for reelection and by a state department whose members are more royal in their sentiments than the king of England himself. That kind of representation is not conducive to the hope that an organization will be devised in which the people of America can place their trust.

The concert of four powers to which Gov. Dewey objects is in itself a fiction. There are, in fact, two great powers in the world today. Great Britain and the British empire are military and economic pensioners of the United States, and British statesmen are already working assiduously to persuade this country, in the name of world stability, to continue the pensions after the fighting stops. The Chinese people, for all their fortitude and other admirable qualities, are not yet a nation. They are going to have enough difficulty unifying themselves and preserving the peace within their own borders, without attempting to preserve the peace in the rest of the world.

Historically the existence of two strong powers within a given area, whether a continent or the world, has almost always impelled those powers toward eventual conflict. There is a better chance that Russia and the United States can avoid such a conflict than there ever has been before in a similar situation in modern history. For the first time in history, world power is largely concentrated in two continental countries without contiguous borders. We are not a military threat to the Russians nor they to us.

At present there is only one serious barrier to a long period of peaceful relations between our countries. That is the maintenance by Russia of a domestic political group that serves its interests in our politics. Naturally a prerequisite to stable Russian-American friendship is the disavowal and liquidation of the Communist movement in this country.

Beyond that, we are still uncertain as to Russian intentions. We consider ourselves a peace loving, nonimperialistic people and history gives warrant for that self-appraisal. Whether the imperialism of czarist Russia has been revived by Stalin we do not know. The Russian acquisitions in the west have violated all of the high sounding phrases enunciated by Roosevelt and Churchill, but to the Russians they undoubtedly appear as the minimum measure necessary to security against invasions that twice within this century have devastated their country.

The first requisite to friendship is courteous but plain talking on both sides. We are not likely to get that representation either from a President who fawns on the Communists and rests in them his hope of reelection, or from a state department populated by social climbers to whom the Russians are largely anathema.

A NOBLE MAIDEN.

Since "Sweet Adeline" will be the theme song of tomorrow's Chicago Music Festival and melodious bearers of that euphonious name will be in the limelight, this column will indulge a minor hobby and explain what Adeline means and how it got that way. To be short and sweet, it means a girl of noble birth or a little princess. Her big sister, heiress of the family, would be named Adelaide, which means feminine nobility in full fig.

* * *

Adeline is the English pronunciation of the French form of the Italian Adelina, but the word from which it springs originated among the Teutonic tribes whose descendants on the old home grounds are now a matter of tragic concern to the world. You will find this root in any modern German dictionary: the noun Adel, meaning nobility. Names containing it spread over a large part of Europe in the Dark Ages when Charlemagne, king of the Franks, founded an empire and inspired romantic legends.

* * *

Here is a roll call of feminine names in the "Adel" group that are used in six European languages:

German—Adeline, Adelheid, Adele, Else, Ilse.
French—Adeline, Adelaide, Adelais, Adèle, Alix.
Italian—Adelina, Adelaida, Alisa.
Lettish—Audule, Addala.
Slovak—Adelajda.

The English nickname is generally Addie, but may also be Della.

* * *

The French form, Adèle, had a strong run among American baby-namers three wars ago, and its popularity lasted for several decades. Actresses were fond of it; Della Fox, Adele Ritchie, Adele Rowland, and Adele Astaire are easily remembered. It is fairly uncommon now, however, whether you search in Hollywood or among the bobby sock population.

AUGUST DROUTH.

The foliage upon the trees is thinned
And leaves go skittering before the wind;
Like frightened mice before a cat they flee,
Or huddled, hushed, they crouch beneath the tree.

The drouth has dried the grasses, blown in air,
And they have rough, unkemptly streaming hair.

With scarce enough for minnows in its flow.
The corn and fruit upon the trees need rain;
But skies are barren and the clouds are slain.

The earth needs heavy rains, if man would eat.
He carries water to the trough near by,
For thirsty herd, and bird, and dragonfly.

Small Boy's First Love.

When I was 10, Ol' Hoss entered my life. Muddy and fly bitten, a frayed bit of rope around his neck, he wandered aimlessly down our street. A great hulk of a dog, putting down his paws like one more used to plowed fields—a nobody's dog, therefore my dog!

He raised his ears quickly at my whistle and came to our fence to hang a massive head over the palings. The brown eyes showed desperate appeal as I offered endearments and the hand of comradeship. He waved a bedraggled tail uncertainly and muddied white paling tops with a pair of enormous paws. Up-reared, he looked as big as a horse and homely as a wart hog, but to me he was the Adonis of dogdom. As I cooed soft encouragement to come over, anguish left the furrowed brow and in the eyes dawned hope and eagerness to hear more of this pleasant talk.

He could have stepped over the palings, but being just out of puphood and cursed with an incurable adoration for mankind, there was a befuddlement over this unexpected love making. Thru his clumsy efforts and my help he finally cleared the fence in a plunge that threw us onto the grass in tangled embrace. As I chased away the flies and rumpled the heavy neck ruff and big ears, Ol' Hoss responded with a daffy look of complete surrender. But it was mutual. Chiggers.

TWO WEEKS.

Vacation's like a good cigar:
The leaf is long; the end is far.
You settle down beneath an awning,
Smoking thoughtfully, and yawning,
Plan the reading long projected,
Correspondence long neglected;
Count the fences to be mended,
Dream of great deeds, still intended.
Then, ere inspiration flashes,
Time is up. The rest is ashes.

Friend of Yanks' Kin

By Sally Joy Brown

[This department answers questions related to help available to relatives of service men, in the column or by mail, if stamped, addressed envelopes are sent to Sally Joy Brown.]

Mrs. W. L. writes: "I plan to send a wristwatch to my husband as a Christmas gift. He is in the army, stationed overseas, but I have been told it is not possible to insure such gifts. It is an expensive watch, and I hesitate to send it if it cannot be insured."

It is true that no matter addressed to members of the army overseas will be accepted by the postoffice as insured mail. I understand it is sometimes possible to have private insurance companies cover such packages.

We have a new bulletin which provides complete information on regulations governing Christmas gifts to men and women in all service branches. Send a stamped, addressed envelope and state the service branch.

WHEN RINGWORM ATTACKS THE SCALP.

PLANT fungi abound everywhere and constant alertness will be required to prevent their invading the skin. No part of the body is exempt. One species may prefer the feet, while another will flourish best in the groin or beneath the finger nails.

Occasionally, ringworm epidemics will occur. In New York City, at the present time, there are several thousand scalp cases among children. First observed in Queens, it has reached other boroughs, altho the total percentage is not high when one considers the population of our largest metropolitan community.

Why is the malady so rife at this time? We know that cleanliness is the best preventive and more youngsters are alone a goodly part of the day. Their mothers are at work. Furthermore, the renovation of plush seats at movie houses, where heads may rest against the backs of chairs, may not be as effective as it was a few years ago.

There seems to be no way out of the situation other than to proceed against the infection as tho it were a life and death matter—which, of course, it isn't. One trouble about spotting afflicted persons is that there may be no influence upon general health. The matter of getting rid of the parasite may be delayed indefinitely without danger to well being. Nevertheless, the presence of a scaly scalp is anything but a pleasant condition.

The New York health department has attacked the disorder vigorously and cautions have been issued to parents to watch their progeny for signs of infection. In some instances, victims have been grouped together for special instruction while undergoing treatment.

So widespread is the epidemic that little will be gained by a mild form of management. Half-way measures certainly will fail. Instead, the hair is first clipped, the scalp is shaved, and carefully controled X-ray exposures are then employed. In consequence, the tresses will fall out. After a time, the locks will be replaced with a healthy growth. Care must be taken not to permit an overdose of these powerful rays, as some baldness may ensue. One New York hospital reports 175 cases, with 95 per cent cures in approximately two months. X-ray therapy was used.

Mild bouts may be handled with a dilute solution of sodium hyposulfite, which may be applied daily and allowed to dry on the surface. But once ringworm has become deep-seated, far more potent remedies may be needed.

The city on the Atlantic does not have a monopoly on this ailment. In every large community it exists the year round and skin specialists are engaged constantly in combating its ravages.

HIP PAIN.

L. M. writes: Each morning I awake with a dull pain in each hip bone. After applying heat, it disappears. What could this be?

REPLY.

Probably a mild arthritis involving the sacroiliac region or the joints in this area. Activity alone may bring relief. Some attention should be given to the basic condition. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflets on arthritis.

NOT TOUGH.

C. D. writes: Recently I failed in officers' candidate school because my voice is too weak to be heard. Is there any way to attain more volume?

REPLY.

Proper breathing exercises will increase your lung capacity. A few "yell-ocution" lessons may be in order.

ABSTINENCE.

Mrs. R. writes: Is it helpful to an overweight person to fast for a day or two occasionally?

REPLY.

There is much to be said in favor of following this plan several times a year. The obese individual will not starve and the alimentary tract will welcome the holiday.

ASK FRED ALLEN.

R. P. writes: What causes a nasal voice?

REPLY.

Plugged breathing channels within the head. Any obstruction to the free entrance and exit of air thru the nasal passages.

NO TWINS.

H. G. writes: Is it possible to have a double appendix?

REPLY.

Never heard of one. The structure may be greatly elongated, however.

Still Calling All Rumors.

A reader who surprisingly enough gave his name, Charles Todd, wrote in to attack with fury this department's recent column, "Calling All Rumors." He spoke of its "attempt to ridicule" the fable of the wife who publicly renounced her husband, a sailor, when he came home with both arms gone.

"Are you trying to kid some one," he asked, "or don't you read the papers, or don't you get around? All you have to do to learn how rotten the human race is today is to read the newspapers."

He then began a recital of recent items in the press: the soldiers' wives who shut their children in an empty apartment while they cavort with other men, the soldier's wife who left her baby in a telephone booth while she went out with a man twice her age, the soldiers' wives who remarkably give birth to babies during their husbands' long absences.

Well, now, Mr. Todd, you deserve an explanation. You deserve two. The first is an explanation of this thing called a newspaper and its subject matter, news. A Kansas sage long ago interpreted news. "News!" he said, "is anything that makes a woman say, 'For goodness' sake!'" News is not the ordinary run of events. News is the run of events that is out of the ordinary.

If the wife of every soldier serving overseas abandoned her baby in a telephone booth while she went out dancing or drinking or just out, that would not be news. You would not read of it in any newspaper. It would be a good, established old American custom, and American wives would welcome war. They would say to themselves, "Good, now I can dump the baby in a telephone booth and go out and have some fun. Every one does it."

In that event, the only item that would get into the newspaper would be the soldier's wife who did not abandon her baby in a telephone booth. For not doing so she probably would get a year's imprisonment, as the wife who abandoned her baby did.

The baby abandonment case was an extraordinary happening. It was curdling, subhuman, and indecent. That is why you, Mr. Todd, ever heard of it. News space is at too much of a premium in these days of paper shortage to give space to any event not out of the ordinary. Have you noticed how much space is given to the names of those men of brave heart who die in battle every day? One line in agate type.

The other explanation owed you, Mr. Todd, is an explanation of how to get around and how to use your eyes. If you got around, you unquestionably would see what the average American today sees. He sees his neighbors, hundreds and thousands and millions of wives, both young and old, whose husbands are in service. He sees them working hard to make ends meet, struggling to bring up children in a temporarily fatherless home, instilling in those children their own courage and gayety and hope and decency. He sees them as they are, lonely but uncomplaining, and he sees most of them sit down at the end of their hard day, and every day alone is hard and don't forget it, to write a gay, tender letter to their husbands, a letter that hides the major part of their troubles.

To get around, Mr. Todd, you might use your feet. To use your eyes you might open them. It helps. You'll never read about these wives in the newspapers. They are average, ordinary wives, and you can try to wipe this off as a cheerful, little earful, a bit of slightological hokum, if you wish. If you do, you might keep it to yourself. You will find few who agree with you.

As a parting thought, it might be well to quote one of Mr. Todd's caustic paragraphs, just another one in which he says there isn't a decent person left in the United States: "On the night of the invasion of France I went into some of the joints known as night clubs. I found the people drinking and dancing and having a hell of a good time, but did they care if thousands of kids were dying on the beaches of France? I phoned several newspapers and told them."

All we wonder, Mr. Todd, is just how you happened to be in a night club that night?

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Writers should confine themselves to 200 or 300 words. Give full names and addresses. No manuscripts can be returned. Address Voice of the People, THE TRIBUNE.

FROM MacDOUGALL'S MANAGER.

Evanston, Ill., Aug. 11.—The utterances of George W. Robnett have been a matter of general amusement to informed people for many years. His latest communication to the Voice of the People attacking the candidacy of Curtis D. MacDougall for congress in the 10th district, the faculty and the student body of Northwestern university is no exception. However, as against the possibility that there are those who do not know who and what Robnett is, I am constrained to make this response.

Robnett is well known for his extreme nationalism and anti-democratic views. He was a member of a little band of noisy extremists who, under the guise of combating communism, sought to inflame partisan prejudice and to keep this country from aiding the war against fascism. He is a strong supporter of the odious Congressman Stephen A. Day, who published a book financed by Nazi propagandists. His attack on MacDougall proves that Congressman Ralph Church, MacDougall's opponent, and Stephen Day belong in the same camp, as their voting records show.

His reference to MacDougall's CIO managers is just a blatant falsehood. I challenge him to prove his assertion or to stand a proved humbug. I am now and have always been the one and only manager that MacDougall has had since entering the race for congress. Not only am I not identified or affiliated with the CIO in any way, but I earn my livelihood as a representative of private enterprise in negotiations with the CIO, AFL, and other labor organizations. I am not authorized to speak for President Snyder of Northwestern university, but I cannot refrain from venturing the opinion that Robnett's unctuous "defense" of him must have caused, at the very least, a wry smile.

Robnett's inference that the great and much beloved Walter Dill Scott is a Communist will cause nothing but disgust and resentment not only of the student body, the faculty of the university, and the school's thousands of alumni, but also of all good citizens everywhere. Robnett and his kind should know that he cannot intimidate the supporters of MacDougall by falsely smearing them as Communists. The fact is that MacDougall's candidacy is being enthusiastically supported not only by Northwestern students and faculty who have voluntarily organized on his behalf, but by thousands of citizens of the 10th district of every economic and social background who are awake as never before to the issues confronting the American people.

The result of this campaign will show that the predominant sentiment of the 10th district is not partisan prejudice, is not isolationism, is not nationalism. The 10th district does not want another World war. It wants world peace by international coöperation and that is why Curtis MacDougall is going to replace Ralph Church as the representative from the 10th district. Robnett's windy and excited diatribe shows that he realizes this.

I am authorized to state that MacDougall is proud to be opposed by George W. Robnett. MacDougall would have it no other way, and it is no exaggeration to say that many people will find Robnett's opposition a good reason for voting for MacDougall.

STANFORD CLINTON.

EMPIRE ARMIES IN EUROPE.

Wilmette, Ill., Aug. 14.—Why are British forces, like the New Zealanders, Indians, and so on, fighting in Europe instead of where they belong, defending their home lands? The British say, "What's the odds? It's all one war." But there is a great difference, and how well the British know it, altho they would like to have us believe otherwise. These 75,000 to 100,000 or more troops in Europe help fill out the English fighting organizations; they relieve Englishmen. Because these colonials are away from their rightful posts in the Pacific, it becomes necessary for us to send 75,000 to 100,000 fine American boys to fill their places defending their home lands.

Is it not time to get a President in Washington who would look out for American interests instead of gallivanting about, passing high sounding resolutions on world problems, never solving one of our home problems, going deeper and deeper into debt, and ending every war conference with our supplying the equipment, the food, the money, and the men? AMERICAN.

FISHING TRIP.

Chicago, Aug. 15.—Our commander in chief tells us that while touring the Pacific and conferring with "his old friend Doug. MacArthur" he played hookey for three hours and went fishing. I think the entire trip was for fishing—not for halibut, not for flounders, but for four-time suckers.

AVERS NEW DEAL SLIGHTS NEGRO CIVIL AIR CADETS

Director Cites Failure of Camp Invitation.

Discrimination against Negro cadets in the Civil Air patrol in denying them admission to the summer camp of the Illinois wing is part of the injustice "carried on by national organizations originating in Washington, D. C., and headed by New Deal burocrats," Miss Willa B. Brown, executive director of the National Airmen's Association of America, charged yesterday.

Miss Brown, a lieutenant in the CAP, said squadron 613-6, composed of Negro cadets on Chicago's south side, will be the only squadron in the state not represented at the 10 day camp which opens Sunday at Chanute field, Rantoul.

Orders from Washington.

She said the squadron commander was informed orally that no provisions were available for Negro cadets and therefore they were not invited to the camp. Orders excluding the Negro cadets came from CAP national headquarters, Miss Brown said.

"Every cadet in all the CAP squadrons looked forward to this event," Miss Brown said. "It is expected that all the cadets will be given some flights in planes at the field. I feel keenly about this discrimination, prejudice, and disappointment directed toward the youth of my race."

She said youthful Negro cadets had selected aviation as the branch of service in which they preferred to serve their country and that many of them have older brothers who have distinguished themselves in the air and some of them have paid the supreme sacrifice.

New Deal Ouster Asked.

"The only way," Miss Brown declared, "Negro people can tear down the network of New Deal dishonesty, prejudice, crookedness, mistreatment of Negro soldiers and empty gestures to the Negro race is to oust the New Deal administration."

A "crusading band" is being organized under Miss Brown's leadership. Starting Sept. 1, the members expect to ring every doorbell in the 2d ward in behalf of William E. King, Republican nominee for congress in the 1st Illinois district.

ARMY'S TRANSIT CONTROL ENDED IN PHILADELPHIA

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 17 (AP).—Maj. Gen. Philip Hayes returned control of the Philadelphia Transportation company to the owners at 11 a. m. today, asserting that the army's mission had been accomplished by the restoration of the city's transit facilities. Troops seized the strikebound system Aug. 3.

"The P. T. C. has now been operating for more than a week without incident," the general's statement said. "For the last four days there have been no military guards on any properties or vehicles of the P. T. C. Operations have continued in an orderly manne ."

The strike Aug. 1 grew out of the upgrading of eight Negroes to trolley operating jobs. It tied up transportation for six days.

A federal grand jury is investigating the strike and four strike leaders are awaiting hearings Aug. 28 on charges of violating the Smith-Connally anti-strike act.

MILLIONS HIDDEN BY EX-CONVICT, SUIT DISCLOSES

Believe Fortune Put in European Banks.

New York, Aug. 17 [Special].—The 18 year old secret that millions of dollars had been hidden abroad by Jacob Berman, former Los Angeles oil stock promoter and ex-convict, was disclosed today in a recovery action filed in Supreme court.

Berman, alias Jack Bennett, was the principal in the 1926 stock fraud collapse of the 60 million dollar Julian Oil company of Los Angeles that clipped 40,000 investors. Convicted of using the mails to defraud, Berman served seven years in federal penitentiaries.

Upon his release from Alcatraz, Berman set about to retrieve the more than 3 million dollars he is believed to have hidden in cash and Liberty bonds in European vaults, it was related by Bennett E. Siegelstein, Fifth avenue attorney for creditors of the ex-convict.

Further Business Ventures.

Berman induced individuals to finance further business ventures and named three trustees to handle the secreted fortune, which he put up as collateral for loans, the attorney said.

The trustees, for whom Siegelstein brought the suit, are Samuel A. King, of Washington, D. C., law partner of former Sen. James E. Watson of Indiana, one-time Republican senate majority leader, and Benjamin Diamond and J. Nathan Helfat of Manhattan. The law firm of Watson and King was listed by Siegelstein as a $100,000 creditor under Berman's trusteeship terms.

Siegelstein asked the court for an order to force Berman to disclose all data about the hidden millions and for a receiver to handle any of Berman's funds in this country.

Demands Court Order.

He demanded a court order to compel Barclays Bank, Ltd., of London, to reveal all data concerning $1,250,000 reputedly cached there by Berman. The attorney added that as soon as the allies occupy Paris he would institute similar legal proceedings to impound $500,000 secreted by Berman in a Paris bank and $500,000 more in the Banca D'Italia, Rome.

Shortly after the recovery suit was filed Barclays Bank, Ltd., entered a general denial to Siegelstein's allegations.

In addition to his participation in the big oil stock fraud, Berman is remembered for his involvement in the 1929 conviction of his one time pal the late Asa Keyes, famous Los Angeles prosecutor. The ex-convict testified against Keyes, who was sent to prison for accepting bribes to ease up on the prosecution of Berman.

2 IN AUTO CRASH FLEE HOSPITAL, BUT ARE CAUGHT

Two laborers at the Forest View Riding academy in Morton Grove, who wrecked their employer's car on a fire hydrant at Waukegan rd. and route 58, were in Morton Grove jail last night on charges of larceny by bailee after having escaped from custody for an hour.

The men James Scully, 28, of 4167 Emerald av., and Kenneth Bailey, 41, no address given, were captured after the crash. Scully's wife, Shirley, 25, who had been riding with them, was given first aid and taken to the Morton Grove station. Scully and Bailey were removed to St. Francis hospital, Evanston, for hospitalization. They vanished when a nurse left the room for a moment.

They were recaptured by Lt. John Burns and Sgt. Eugene Miller of the county highway police at Harms and Golf roads. They told police that their employer, Audrey Pugh, of 4827 Elm st., Skokie, had given them permission to use her car to do some chores.

Owners Sell Water Maps Forgot.

Atty. Irving C. Deschauer, representing the Lions' club of Lake Zurich, made the first payment on the $10,000 sale price to the present owners, Mrs. Marguerite Pearce, 229 S. Ashland blvd.; Werner W. Schroeder, Republican national committeeman, and Atty. A. F. Beaubien of Waukegan.

The legal trouble over the lake, which is 1½ miles long and ½ mile wide, located 36 miles northwest of Chicago, and surrounded by the village of Lake Zurich, arose in 1929 with the arrest of several persons for trespassing on private property. One hundred cottage owners then began action on the ground that the lake had been dedicated to the public by use.

Meandering Plays a Part.

George and Marguerite Pearce and August Froelich, owners of the lake bed, held their families had been paying taxes for more than 100 years after purchasing the lake bed from the government. Thru their attorneys they also pointed out that the lake never had been meandered.

This, it developed, meant that the government surveyors, in setting down on paper the results of their work, had failed to draw a squiggly line to show the area covered by water. Their property lines, the owners argued, extended into the lake as tho there was no water there, likely because the land was swampland when the land was purchased.

The injunction plea of the cottagers was referred to Ralph J. Dady, then special master in chancery. He held with the owners.

Suit was begun in behalf of the state, and Judge Shurtleff held with Dady in 1931. Late in 1932 he reversed himself and held the lake was public property.

High Court Upsets Ruling.

He was reversed in April, 1932, when the state Supreme court ruled the lake was private property. In February, 1934, the high court refused a rehearing.

Since that time a fee for boat usage on the lake has been in effect. The Lions' club began a project to get the land and turn it over for public use.

The owners agreed to the suggested price. Now the Lions' club will continue to charge fees and make collections until the $10,000 is gathered and then the lake will be free.

Dies After Being Struck by Car He Tried to Flag

Edward Guzik, 16, of 3356 N. Hamlin av., died yesterday in a Libertyville hospital of injuries suffered early Sunday when he was struck by an automobile which he attempted to flag down with a flashlight on route 45, a mile southeast of Mundelein. The driver was Donald J. Swanson, 19, of Mundelein. With three companions, Guzik was on his way to a lake to fish when their car had a flat tire.

YEAR'S ELECTRIC IRON QUOTA TO APPEAR IN FALL

The 2,037,838 electric irons permitted for civilian manufacture by the war production board this year will not appear on the retail market until late this fall, and most of them will sell at March, 1942, prices of $5.30 to $11.70 each, the office of price administration said yesterday. Of the total, 1,768,968 will be automatic models in the moderate price range of $7 to $8.75, the OPA said.

Issuance of special food rations for persons on diets under physicians' orders will be speeded up next week. A new regulation will permit local boards to grant and issue the maximum allowance of supplemental rations.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

FREDERICK KOCH, U. S. FOLK DRAMA FIGURE, IS DEAD

Miami, Fla., Aug. 17 (AP).—Frederick Henry Koch, called the father of American folk drama, who became a legend before his time, is dead at 66.

The University of North Carolina drama department dean died of a heart attack while surf bathing at Miami Beach yesterday. He was vititing at the home of his son, Frederick Koch Jr., head of the drama department of the University of Miami.

Dr. Koch was regarded as one of the most potent influences in the development of the American theater. His tenet was that there is drama in every man, and some of his pupils brilliantly demontsrated his belief. Maxwell Anderson, Paul Green, Thomas Wolfe, and Joseph Niggli were strongly influenced in their careers by Koch.

FORMER CONVICT GETS 10 YEARS IN PURSE THEFTS

Hilger Gale Bolen, 35, an ex-convict also known as George McDonald, was sentenced to prison for 10 years yesterday by Acting Chief Justice Harold G. Ward in Criminal court on pleas of guilty to four charges of larceny of pocketbooks and one of auto theft. Asst. State's Atty. Leo Poch told the court that Bolen specialized in snatching purses of women war workers early in the morning. On one such foray he stole the four pocketbooks, Poch said, and drove off with a truck from in front of the Eclipse Laundry company at 957 E. 75th st., but was pursued by a laundry employe in another car and captured.

Though we often smile
There is an ache in our hearts.
MOTHER AND GRANDMOTHER.

DIESCHBOURG — Joretta A. Dieschbourg, passed away five years ago, Aug. 18, 1939.
Nothing but memories as we journey on,
Longing for a smile from a loved one gone;
None knows the depths of our deep regret;
We remember when others forget.
The flowers we place upon your grave
May wither and decay,
But love for you who sleeps beneath
Will never fade away.
LONELY MOTHER AND DAD.

GAERTNER—Doris Anne Gaertner. In memory of my beloved daughter, who passed away one year ago today.
God, hold your loving arms about her
And keep her in your tender care.
LONELY MOTHER.

DEMOCRATS PILE SCORN ON DEWEY FOR PEACE IDEA

Connally, O'Mahoney and Hannegan Have Hand.

BY WILLIAM MOORE.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 17.—The Democratic high command took charge of denouncing Gov. Dewey tonight after Chairman Connally [D., Tex.] of the senate foreign relations committee had made an attack which New Dealers privately admitted had boomeranged against them.

With members of both houses rebuking Connally for using language they said was suggestive of the Nazis, against Dewey, Democratic Chairman Robert E. Hannegan called upon Sen. O'Mahoney [Wyo.], chairman of the Democratic senatorial campaign committee. With Hannegan went Paul Porter, the Democratic press agent.

Shortly afterward, O'Mahoney issued an attack on the Republican Presidential nominee which Republicans said was intended to strengthen an earlier blow against Dewey by Secretary of State Hull and draw attention from the Connally assault.

Expect Senate Battle.

It was freely predicted that the controversy would end in a verbal slugging match when the Senate meets tomorrow after a two day recess.

The dispute had its beginning yesterday when Gov. Dewey issued a statement of opposition against all proposals which contemplate domination of the post-war world by the big four powers.

Dewey said the small nations should be given their full rights and should not be subjected to coercive power.

This brought consternation in the Roosevelt ranks because Secretary Hull had chosen today to announce plans for a full dress conference of all the allied nations to consider post-war security. The conference is to be held this fall, when the various nations will be invited to approve the recommendations of the "big four's" Dumbarton Oaks post-war security conference, which opens Monday in the capital's Georgetown section.

Unfounded, Hull Says.

Hull made his announcement, nevertheless, but took occasion to brand Dewey's concern over "big four" domination as "utterly and completely unfounded."

Hull declared he would "welcome" a meeting on peace plans with Gov. Dewey, "free from personal political partisanship."

Hull permitted quotation of his willingness to see the Republican Presidential nominee after an hour long off the record news conference, during which he reasserted this country's stand on consulting with small, as well as large, countries on security plans, and what he called his own determination to keep peace out of domestic politics.

Seeks to Discredit Dewey.

Meanwhile, Connally joined in the Roosevelt administration's swift campaign to discredit Dewey's criticism with an attack on Dewey. Connally issued a statement saying:

"Gov. Dewey states 'the American people are agreed upon the need for a world organization. It is a bi-partisan objective.' If it is a bi-partisan objective, why should Gov. Dewey make a Luftwaffe air attack on the impending Dumbarton Oaks conference before it convenes?

"Upon the basis of mere unconfirmed rumor as to what may happen at the conference, Gov. Dewey's statement is calculated to handicap the conference in advance, and threatens the injection of partisan politics."

Connally Is Rebuked.

The "Luftwaffe air attack" and "partisan politics" thrusts brought scathing denunciation to Connally on Capitol Hill. Among those assailing Connally for his attack on Dewey were Republican Senators Revercomb [W. Va.], Ferguson [Mich.], and Vandenberg [Mich.] and Rep. Short [R., Mo.].

O'Mahoney, called in to retrieve the situation, came up with a statement combining an attack on Dewey with a plea for the fourth term. O'Mahoney called Dewey's statement "cynical and shocking sabotage" of world peace, and said it was "obviously political."

"This reckless statement," O'Mahoney went on, should be a warning to the people to make certain that the nation's policy "not be interrupted by a change of President."

REPORTS POLIO RATE HIGHEST IN LAST 28 YEARS

New York, Aug. 17 (AP).—The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis said today the United States had more cases of infantile paralysis reported in the first 31 weeks of this year than at any comparable time in 28 years.

Latest figures from the United States public service, the foundation said, gave a total of 3,992 cases thru Aug. 5, or 1,226 cases more than reported for the same period last year.

The foundation named New York, North Carolina, Kentucky, Pennsylvania, and Virginia as states where polio existed in epidemic or near epidemic proportions.

2D $50,000 BOND IS SET IN RATION THEFT ATTEMPT

John Walek, 39, of 619 N. Racine av., who was arrested with William Daddano, 31, of 4053 5th av., in the Halsted Exchange National bank, 1929 S. Halsted st., Aug. 6 and charged with attempted theft of millions of points in food and gasoline coupons, was held in $50,000 bond by United States Commissioner Edwin K. Walker yesterday on a charge of entering a national bank with intent to commit a felony. He pleaded not guilty. On Wednesday Walek posted $50,000 bond on a state charge in the Felony court. Daddano furnished $15,000 bond on the federal charge Aug. 14 after being released on $10,000 bond in Felony court.

Holds Razor to Driver's Neck While He Takes $40

Adolph Kagan, 40, of 3347 15th st., a driver for the Austin laundry, told Maxwell st. police yesterday that in front of 1350 S. Peoria st. a Negro climbed into his truck and held a straight edge razor to the back of his neck. With his free hand the robber took $40 from Kagan's pockets. Kagan sat motionless, but the Negro pressed the razor so hard against his neck that it caused a long, thin cut. Kagan received first aid at County hospital.

JUDGE REQUESTS STATE PROBE OF BABY REMOVAL

Possibility developed yesterday that the state may enter the investigation of the removal from Grant hospital of a baby boy born there two months ago to Miss Juanita Becker, 20, of 2437 Jackson blvd.

Judge Virgil O. Whipp of Menard county, sitting in County court here, asked the state's attorney's offices to investigate the matter when the case was called before him yesterday. The hearing is on a petition of Miss Becker's mother, Mrs. Anna Valdellon, 1726 W. Ogden av., to adopt the child and a cross petition for adoption filed by Homer H. and Cleora Meyers, 856 E. 82d st., with whom the child is now living.

Principals in the case later made statements to Asst. State's Atty. John T. Fitzgerald. The statements today will be submitted to First Asst. State's Atty. Wilbert F. Crowley, who will determine whether the state's attorney's office will enter the investigation. Miss Becker charged that the child was removed from the hospital without her consent after she had signed papers which she believed were for a change of rooms.

UNION WILL DEFY ALLMAN'S ORDER, SOLICIT HIM, TOO

In defiance of Police Commissioner Allman's order, Chicago police and Allman himself will be solicited next week to join the Chicago and Cook County Law Enforcement Officers' union, local 785, of the American Federation of Labor, Lt. Charles Anderson, president of the union, said last night.

Early in April, following Anderson's announcement that the union had been chartered by the AFL, Corporation Counsel Hodes issued an opinion that police should not be allowed to organize and as a result Commissioner Allman forbade it.

An explanation of the AFL's legal right to organize will be made in the pamphlet to be sent to the policemen next week from the union's international headquarters at Madison, Wis., Anderson said. Anderson bases the police union's right to organize on the Illinois statutes, which he says provide that "interference with workers' rights to organize is contrary to public policy."

Feeding Hungry Convoys

➡ On D-Day, our Armies began digging into the vast stock-pile of supplies collected for invasion. The infantryman, the artilleryman . . . every invader of our Army . . . started using up materials assembled to crush "Fortress Europe". ★ As the fury of Allied attacks increase, a mighty torrent of supplies must flow to all fronts from the United States, the Arsenal of Democracies. ★ Transportation men and facilities face a mighty task. From inland supply depots, more and more war-trains must race to ports to "feed" the sea-freighters. ★ Precise timing, scheduling and coordination by the railroads have already made it possible to utilize port facilities to the utmost. New methods of direct train-to-ship transfer save precious loading time . . . allow ships to put to sea sooner and deliver the goods quicker. ★ As one of the nation's vital "convoy feeders", the Baltimore & Ohio willingly accepts this heavy responsibility in the coming months. In increased numbers, B&O war-trains will thunder over our 11,000 miles of track in the great race to ship-side. With the help of those we serve, B&O's 70,000 men and women are confident that this bigger job can and will be done. The "hungry-convoys" of invasion will be well-fed!

REMOVAL OF BODY.

"If we can only get back to Brochard's we still have a chance," Carol whispered excitedly. "Don't ask me why now. I'll tell you everything after we get out of here."

She made a move toward the door, thinking they would attempt to escape as they had come.

"Quit your fence-jumpin'," he whispered back. "You seem to forget that as soon as the hombre in the chair over yonder is discovered there's going to be a search that'll take in Brochard's, the only place we have to run to. They mustn't find Uhlan here."

"But what can we do about it?"

"Bright! You're crazy!"

"I'd be crazy if I left him here. If he isn't found dead here, he didn't die here, see?"

"But how can we move him? It just isn't possible!"

"You leave that to me, Kansas. This is my department. I haven't been playing those black-face minstrel shows along the Calais coast without learning an act or two."

"Yes, Bright."

"But we've got to work fast and you've got to help me. Think you have the nerve?"

"You forget I'm a trained nurse," she said quietly.

"Okay, lieutenant!" his tone was approving.

"Take a look out there," he commanded.

Carol pressed her face against the heavy damask. Then she saw what Bright wanted her to see. Fritz Uhlan's car was still parked in the driveway, waiting.

"I suppose the chauffeur is still there, too," she said.

"And taking home a drunk who has to be helped into the car is no novelty to him, either!"

"Bright! Why that driver would only have to touch Uhlan to know ——"

"He's not going to touch Uhlan."

"What do you mean?"

"I mean you and I are going to help Uhlan into the car, and get in with him."

"Get in with him? But we can't take him where we are going!"

"We don't have to. Listen, I'll get the body into the back seat and you get in next to it. Pretend that you're worried about him or something."

"And you?"

"At the last minute I'll hop in next to the driver and stick my persuader into his ribs. He'll drive where I say. Where's a good place?"

"For what, Bright?"

"For the car with the two of them in it to go over a cliff, of course!" he said impatiently. "Then it will look like an accident, for a while, and throw the bloodhounds off the track."

"Janner will still know Uhlan was poisoned."

"But he won't be able to claim a murder in this dump. Where's a good place for the accident?"

"The Moyan Corniche. Right where we were this morning—where the view was so good, remember? It's a thousand feet down."

"Okay!"

"But the road will be patrolled."

"We have a German military car," he said briefly.

"No more dangerous than hanging around the joint."

"Somebody is bound to see us."

"The chauffeur will. But you're in right with him on account of the dinner you sent out. Where do the house guests bed down?"

"Their rooms are all on the other side of the building."

"Good. Then we've got a chance. I've already unlocked the front door for a fast getaway, so let's start. Act natural. Talk to the stiff encouragingly when you get near the car. And if anything goes wrong, drop him and run for the tool shed."

As they lifted the dead man from his chair some of her poise returned to Carol. They carried him to the front door and there Bright somehow managed to adjust the dead German's position so that he hung between them, one arm about her shoulders, the other resting on Bright's. And then, supporting their gruesome burden with care, they walked slowly out into the bright moonlight which flooded the castle steps.

The car was parked a good 30 feet off and Carol wondered fearfully if they would have to drag Uhland all the way to it. The natural thing would be for her to call to the driver and tell him to bring the car to them, but she did not dare to do it. However, the chauffeur was awake and saw them instantly. In another moment he had drawn up at the entrance. Then he sprang from his place and held the rear door of the car open.

Reaching the bottom step offered a critical moment. Would the driver politely insist upon helping his master and then raise an inevitable outcry? She tried to catch his eye and hold it and she was successful.

"Did you get a good meal?" she asked pleasantly. The man beamed.

"Ach ja, dankeschoen!" he said. "The Frau Herr Dokter Cassard was most kind to send it!"

By this time Bright had Uhlan propped up in the far corner of the back seat, and Carol climbed in beside him, talking to the dead man in German as she did so.

"My poor darling!" she said.

The chauffeur grinned knowingly. Discreetly ignoring the supposed situation he closed the door and climbed hastily into the driver's seat. In another instant Bright had got in beside him and was pressing his gun with its silencer against the driver's ribs.

"You tell the Jerry, Kansas!" he growled. Carol thought quickly.

"Make no sound," she said curtly, "and drive where you're told. Up the military trail and turn left. And hurry!"

Carol could see the sudden stiffening of the man's shoulders, and sense his utter amazement. Bright's gun was speaking an order of its own and, she hoped, an effective one.

The guard at the gate had watched the whole performance of getting Fritz into his car, and he allowed them to pass unquestioned. Beyond the gate lay the narrow winding cobbled way which pitched downward into the town at a sharp angle, forming a sort of ramp. The point at which it joined the one main street was a narrow bottleneck and just as she had feared, two guards were stationed there.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 heart	Pass	1 spade	Pass
2 diamonds	Pass	4 spades	Pass
Pass	Pass

West led the club queen, which was a break for the declarer. The top diamond would have been a better choice, but, of course, that was hard for West to know.

South correctly won with the club king so as to be able to trap West's probable jack on a later finesse. He then led the spade ace and jack, discarding a heart from dummy. East, on lead, was in an unpleasant position; he could do no better than return a low heart. Declarer promptly ruffed, then drew West's remaining trump [dummy discarding another heart] and let the club ten ride for a finesse. It held, but naturally West did not cover, and declarer still had a losing club in his hand. He led a diamond, hoping to promote a discarding opportunity, and played dummy's jack. East won with the queen and again had to return a heart for want of a better exit play. Again declarer ruffed, and now he led to the diamond king, hoping the ace was on West's side. It wasn't, and when a third heart came back, declarer really had to ruff, or concede the setting trick. Whatever he did, however, there was no way to salvage the club loser.

Perhaps it is redundant to point out that all South had to do was discard a diamond [not a club!] on either of East's first two heart returns, and the heart king would have become good for a club discard.

Application Forms for School Lunch Aid Available Soon

W. A. Stolte, district representative of the office of distribution of the war food administration, said yesterday that application forms will be available by next Thursday in county superintendent of schools offices thruout the state for schools which wish to serve federally subsidized school lunches this school year. He said 10 per cent more schools are expected to serve lunches this year than last, when 1,700 Illinois schools were enrolled.

Illinois has been allotted $1,700,000 of the national fund of $50,000,000 voted by congress a few weeks ago to support the program for the coming year, after the proposal had been defeated once. The same amount was provided last year.

Gasoline rationing may keep picnic enthusiasts from going to country spots for outings, but nothing can keep them from packing a supper and taking it to the beach or a near-by park. Others may move supper to the back yard, finding the garden a pleasant place to eat on warm summer days.

More and more families plan picnic meals that include food usually thought of only for indoor eating. No longer does a picnic supper mean just sandwiches, with fruit and cookies for dessert. Instead, a hot meal may be packed into quart jars and carried to the gathering place, where the picnickers serve themselves.

The salad bowl, which has become an essential part of the American menu, gets its share of glory at picnic suppers. An entire meal may be planned around a hearty salad bowl. Salads are easy to prepare and pack well into quart jars.

Left-overs often can be used in combination with other vegetables or meats in salads. You can vary recipes to your heart's content and be sure of a tasty result. Here are several salads which can be served easily outdoors. If you are out of some of the ingredients, substitute others. You may hit on a new favorite!

Baked Beans and Frankfurter Salad.
[Serves four to six.]
2 cups canned baked beans
1½ cups sliced frankfurters
¾ cup sliced sweet gherkins
¾ cup French dressing
3 cups grated cabbage
¼ cup minced onion.

Remove fat and salt pork from beans. Combine beans, frankfurters, and gherkins. Add ½ cup French dressing and chill in refrigerator. Before serving, toss bean mixture with grated cabbage and onion. Pour remaining French dressing over salad just before serving.

Combination Salad.
[Serves four to six.]
4 fresh tomatoes
1 bunch radishes,
1 green pepper
5 stalks celery
½ cucumber
4 green onions
1 head lettuce, cut up
2 eggs, hard cooked and sliced
French dressing

Wash vegetables; dry and chill. When ready to toss, cut in medium sized pieces. Rub salad bowl with clove of garlic if desired. Toss vegetables in salad bowl with French dressing, using salad fork and spoon or two forks. Sprinkle with salt and pepper to taste; garnish with egg slices.

Meat Salad.
[Serves four.]
1 cup cooked ham or left-over meat, diced
2 medium tomatoes, cut in eighths
1½ cups cooked macaroni
⅓ cup cooked salad dressing [approximately]
Salt and pepper to taste

Have all ingredients well chilled. Combine ham, tomatoes, and macaroni, mixing with enough salad dressing to hold well together. Season to taste; serve on lettuce or other greens in salad bowl.

Picnic Potato Salad.
[Serves four to six.]
4 medium potatoes, cooked in skins
2 hard cooked eggs, diced
½ cup celery, diced
½ cucumber, diced
2 tomatoes, cut in eighths
1 small onion, minced
Equal parts boiled dressing and sour cream
Salt, pepper, paprika

Boil potatoes in their jackets and cool before dicing. Add other ingredients, and blend well before adding dressing. Use enough dressing to make salad creamy. Chill several hours before serving. Serve on lettuce leaves in salad bowl.

Mrs. Harold H., Chicago—I find that if I drop a slice of lemon in the lower section of my glass double boiler it helps prevent the formation of scale.

Mrs. Anna G., Gary, Ind.—Have been doing quite a bit of "making over dresses" this year, for the first time in my life, and have learned I can make stitching holes, left in material after a seam has been ripped, much less noticeable, if I rake point of a pin across them in several directions.

Katharine J., Waterloo, Ia. — I helped my family to several new comforters this last month by covering some old woolen blankets with brightly colored sateen. I knotted the coverings with colored yarn and am quite pleased with results.

[Copyright: 1944: By The Chicago Tribune.]

It's not easy for a girl to step to one side, look pretty and pleasant, while some other neat pigeon makes off with the very boy who's been keeping her hep and happy these past months. He may have been the man after her own heart and she never stopped to realize that someone else was after him, too—not until he changed his military objective and began dating another girl. She was living a wonderful date-to-date existence, thinking that this smooth operator liked her more than somewhat, and suddenly she finds him looking in other directions with stars in his eyes. Perhaps even with one of her best friends.

on the SOLID Side

The readjustment is difficult. She finds herself with a heart hard to handle. She lies awake at night thinking sad and lonely thoughts, and when she sees them out together, begins to feel as awkward and out of place as an old shoe. To get back on the beam, a girl with a fresh brush-off should be sure she's got her emotions straight so that jealousy won't mix up what she actually feels. It's so easy to think yourself into a "he's out of my sight, I'm out of my mind" attitude. The boy may be nothing more than a pleasant habit, if you think it over.

And no sour gripes. No sulking, no pouting, no petty snubbing to let the new twosome know what the shelved sugar really thinks . . . have pride enough to keep that hurt to yourself. Something might be said or done that would be better forgotten later. Don't give away trade secrets by telling your friends little things you know about him . . . confidences he may have told you when you were going together because he thought you were such good friends. That's a violation of the strictest dating code.

Just take it slow and easy. If a boy has drifted away no phone calls, no moping, and no pleading letters will bring him back. Just keep your best foot forward and wait for him to get in step again . . . if he wants to. But don't let him know you are anxious. He thought you were all sugar and spice and everything nice when he was dating you and you'll have a better chance of dating him again if you stay that way.

Tip for a Toothless Lady—

IF YOU want sound teeth (and strong, straight bones) when you're big, you've got to get plenty of CALCIUM when you're little! (Scientists urge EXTRA calcium ...considerably more than the minimum governmental requirement!)

SO TAKE A TIP! Drink Cocomalt every day with your meals! Cocomalt* is so rich in calcium it makes 3 glasses of milk equal a whole quart in calcium value... gives you that important "extra". (Also extra iron, phosphorus, and vitamin B_1 and your day's need of Vitamin D!)

Music Festival Luncheon Will Draw Notables

BY JUDITH CASS.

THERE'S never a dull moment at the Chicago Music Festival luncheon, which serves as an appetizer, so to speak, for the gigantic festival held in Soldiers' field each summer for the benefit of the Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc. The luncheon will be held at noon today in the Terrace Casino of the Morrison hotel, and the festival will be presented tomorrow night.

John Alden Carpenter, back with Mrs. Carpenter from their summer home at Beverly, Mass., is to be the special guest at the luncheon, and he will give a short talk during the part of the luncheon program that will be broadcast over W-G-N at 1:15 p. m. The luncheon, to which all tickets have been sold for weeks, will start with the presentation of the colors by a United States marine corps unit and the singing of the national anthem by Lt. Verna Nelson of the WAC. The Rev. John Evans, religion editor of THE TRIBUNE, will give the invocation and Philip Maxwell, director of the festival, will introduce the more than 50 distinguished guests at the speakers' table.

John Alden Carpenter.

On the Program.

One of Mr. Carpenter's compositions, "Home Road," to be sung by Donald Grambsch, bass, chosen "best man singer" at the 1943 festival, also will be heard on the broadcast, as will "My Heart at Thy Sweet Voice" from Saint-Saens' "Samson and Delilah," sung by Lois Schauer, mezzo, chosen "best woman singer" at last year's festival. Robert McDonald will be their accompanist. Henry Weber, conductor of the festival symphony, will introduce Mr. Carpenter.

Dr. Edgar Nelson will introduce Harry Armstrong, composer of "Sweet Adeline," to the nearly 300 guests at the luncheon, who all will join in singing the popular refrain, led by Carl Craven. Mr. Armstrong will tell about the composing of that favorite tune. In rapid succession will follow the playing of another Carpenter composition, "Polonaise Americane," by a 7 year old pianist, Johnny Covelli; a duet by Miss Schauer and Mr. Grambsch, "Sympathy" from Friml's "The Firefly;" a hilarious skit, "High Notes and High Jinks," put on by Marie Zendt, Lola Fletcher, and Rose Du Moulin; an adaptation of Cesar Franck's "Panis Angelicus," titled "The Nation's Prayer," presented by a Lutheran children's chorus and trombonists, directed by John G. Reick.

Then pretty Betty Jane Watson, star of "Oklahoma!," will step forward to sing "Many a New Day," followed by the Four Misfits, Ellis Perkins, Joe Murrin, Art Beilan, and Pete Buckley, popular barber shop quartet, who will sing an Indiana medley and "Sweet Adeline." Following a contest in which the winner will be chosen from the 10 finalists of the "Sweet Adeline" contest, the audience will join in singing "Auld Lang Syne," led by Frank Bennett. Helen Westbrook will be at the organ.

Some of the Guests.

Some of those at the speakers' table with the Carpenters will be the Chauncey McCormicks, Mrs. Royden J. Keith, Mrs. Jack V. Spachner, Postmaster and Mrs. Ernest J. Kruetgen, Mrs. William E. Ragland [Edith Mason], Mrs. Albert Ullrich, Mrs. William M. Rennie, Mrs. Armstrong, Mrs. Charles Clark, Mrs. James Shakman, and Bianca Saroya.

Fausto Cleva, general artistic director for the Chicago Opera company; Jerzy Bojanowsky, conductor of the Woman's Symphony orchestra; Miss Elaine de Sellem, and Chief Specialist John Carter are others well known in musical circles who will have seats at the head tables. Representing the army and navy, to which this 15th Chicago Musical Festival again is dedicated, will be Lt. Col. R. H. Place and Capt. Benyuard B. Wygant.

2 ¼-pound cakes sweet chocolate
1 tablespoon gelatin
1/3 cup cold water
2 eggs, separated
2 tablespoons confectioners sugar
½ cup chopped nutmeats
1 cup chilled evaporated milk, whipped
½ pound vanilla wafers

Melt chocolate in top of double boiler. Soften gelatin in cold water and add to melted chocolate. Remove from heat. Stir until smoothly blended. Add beaten egg yolks, then confectioners sugar and nutmeats. Cool partially and fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. When completely cooled, fold in whipped evaporated milk. Turn into spring form pan or other mold that has been lined with vanilla wafers. Alternate layers of chocolate mixture and vanilla wafers, using 3 of chocolate to 2 of vanilla wafers. Decorate top of cake with more wafers and chill quickly for 3 or 4 hours in very cold refrigerator. Then chill at normal refrigerator temperatures overnight.

Study of U. S. Home Offered by Mundelein

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

The announcement yesterday by Mundelein college of a new course on the American home, beginning in September, comes at a time when leaders of church and many other social agencies speak almost despondently about the disintegration of home life and rise of divorce rates and juvenile delinquency.

Notice of the new course from the skyscraper college at Sheridan rd. and the lake points to the concern of educators because young persons just out of college, altho equipped for careers, lack a fundamental knowledge of home making as such, however broad and deep their liberal arts education may have been.

The new course, made available to all students, will bring together various elements, often from different courses, which will bear directly on successful home making. For example, senior students study the Catholic church's official teachings on marriage in their classes in religion; students who major in home economics learn meal planning, cookery, and nutrition; commerce majors study home finance. Thus the new course will bring these together into a single course.

The work plan divides the course into four units, the American home as a fundamental social unit, as a center of economic activity, as an expression of aesthetic values [interior decoration and home furnishings], and as a builder of health.

The 45th national encampment of the Veterans of Foreign Wars will hold a memorial service Monday night at First Methodist church, 77 W. Washington st. The Rev. Clarence Hall, V. F. W. Illinois chaplain, will pronounce the invocation and benediction. The eulogy on Civil war veterans will be given by Rabbi Morton J. Cohn, chaplain, U. S. N. R.; that on Spanish war veterans by Capt. Otto K. Jonas, chaplain at Fort Sheridan, and the memorial address on World War II. dead by the Rev. Frank Tishkins, V. F. W. national chaplain.

Methodist Youth fellowship will hold its second biennial convocation at College camp, Lake Geneva, Wis., Aug. 25 to 30. "The Challenge to Christian Youth to Evolve a World Order" will be the conference theme. Speakers include Dr. Harold Ehrensberger, editor of Motive, Methodist student magazine, and the Rev. John Irwin, Fargo, N. D., professor elect of Garrett Biblical institute, Evanston.

Beef Aplenty, of Low Grade, Is on Its Way

BY ARNOLD ERICKSON.

If members of the family are not too particular about the tenderness or taste of beef, housewives will have an opportunity to feed them all they want for the next 60 days or more, at reasonably low cost and without ration points. In the next two months every butcher shop in the nation will be asked to move low grade, point-free beef to consumers as part of an extensive program to find an outlet for products from a record breaking supply of western range cattle and also to ease the pressure of consumer demand for the dwindling supply of better grades of meat.

A war food administration spokesman said the drive to sell the American public low grade beef is necessary to avoid serious congestion in the cattle and beef markets. He estimated the slaughter under federal inspection in October may exceed 2 million cattle, which would be a record volume. The largest number ever butchered by inspected plants in one month was 1,289,603 in October, 1943. Current slaughtering is 30 per cent greater than in August, 1943, the increase being grassy cattle [cattle fed on grass].

The west already has started to move cattle to market in heavy volume, and, as expected, a large share of them will produce the grade of beef which food planners in Washington hope to move into civilian trade by keeping it point-free, at least until later in the fall, when the range supplies taper off. Altho packers are getting behind the drive to move this beef because they recognize the emergency in the absence of lend-lease orders for low grade meat, many meat experts in Packingtown are dubious about selling an oversupply of grass beef to a public which for generations [before our entry into the war] has been accustomed to tasty, tender steaks from choice cornfed cattle.

Advice on the best ways to cook this meat will accompany its influx into the butcher shops. Instead of labeling it "common," as all members of the meat trade grade it, the office of price administration calls it "utility," a word it is hoped will not suggest to the housewife what the beef really is. Utility beef is the most common of all grades except that ground up for sausage. Many meat experts doubt the success of such psychology when used on the man who likes his beef steaks tender and rare. They fear his first bite into a "utility" beef steak will be his last.

Some meat trade members suggest that packers try to sell hamburger into which much of this beef can be ground. They contend that meat markets will find more people who will eat hamburger than they will find husbands who will ask for more after a bite of a tough "grassy" steak. Instead of advising frying or broiling, the housewife should be told to boil any low grade beef she buys, they say. Others assert that the lend-lease should do its part by giving packers huge orders for utility beef instead of taking such a large percentage of the better grades of meat away from the American public.

If you have good teeth and are willing to try them on beef labeled "utility," have no fear about its fitness for human consumption, because meat sent into retail channels by packers operating under federal inspection has been inspected by federal meat experts and comes from healthy animals.

Owners of some butcher shops insist they will accept utility beef only if their customers ask for it. If you wish to try it, you will find it marked with a "C" or utility stamp.

Women in War Work

A party yesterday afternoon marked the closing session of the Junior Red Cross workshop on the fourth floor of the Marshall Field & Co. store. The shop was attended daily by approximately 55 girls and boys in war work, busily creating gifts for convalescent service men and Christmas tree ornaments for wards and recreation rooms of army, navy, and marine hospitals in this country and overseas.

Beginning when schools closed in June, the spacious tables of the shop were littered in orderly fashion with paste and paint pots, scissors and ribbons, and varicolored papers. The volunteers, 6 to 16 years old, worked with concentration unusual in youngsters on vacation from 10:30 a. m. to 4:30 p. m. Mondays thru Fridays, making crossword puzzle books, hospital tray mats, writing portfolios, cartoon books, and decorative bottles, as well as a wide variety of colorful ornaments which will brighten Yule trees in military hospitals.

There were as many patriotic reasons for the children's service as there were children, workshop directors reported. One little girl of 10 has a brother who is a prisoner of the Germans. A boy who plays the juvenile role in one of the current plays put in many hours in the shop, sometimes with such absorption that he was late for the matinee curtain.

One of the attendance records was that of a group from St. Bruno's parish school, 49th st. and Harding av., which came to the shop three days a week under the chaperonage of Mrs. O. M. Krempel. Her charges usually numbered about 20 at each session.

Miss Ethel Meyer, art instructor on the faculty of the Curtis school, 115th and State sts., was art director of the shop. She had the assistance of Red Cross Gray Ladies [hospital and recreation corps], headed by Mrs. A. B. Dunwody; staff assistants, assigned by Mrs. Winifred McCue, and high school girls who are members of the Junior Red Cross. Adults supervised art work and registered the youngsters.

Aug. 28 will find Isobel Glick, who will be a senior at Lindblom High school in the fall, at Lake Minnetonka, Minn., for the Junior Red Cross training camp, to continue to Sept. 2. Miss Glick and Dan Halpern of Crane High school will be representatives of the Junior Red Cross High school council of the Chicago chapter at the week-long conference, to be attended by 110 Junior Red Cross leaders from 17 midwestern states.

Isobel, 15, whose home is at 3310 W. 62d st., is head of the Red Cross committee of Lindblom's student government association. In her capacity she directs pupils' participation in all Red Cross activities, including first aid instruction, bandage rolling, and water safety. She also serves on the school's war commission, which takes part in salvage and war bond drives, and works in behalf of the books for service men campaign in Illinois. Isobel has been identified with the Junior Red Cross since she was a freshman.

Thru the Looking Glass

In the last few days we have had several requests from readers who aspire to blonde locks for a recipe for a hair bleach. We hasten to say that we have none. And if we did have one we wouldn't pass it around for amateurs to use. Not, mind you, that we'd be selfish about it—it's merely that this department firmly believes that hair dyes and bleaches are matters that should be handled only by experts in the field.

The home done jobs are usually pretty sad looking sights and aside from the fact that they seldom add anything to a woman's good looks, they are too often detrimental to the health of the hair. This last because the woman who undertakes to bleach or dye her own hair, knows little or nothing about what she is doing and doesn't know how to care for the hair to keep it healthy and in good condition while treating it. This fact is borne out by a letter from one of our readers, an excerpt from which follows:

"The bleach I had been using caused my hair to become brittle and break. Now that it is all grown out I thought you might be able to give me something that wouldn't have the same bad effect."

We can't quite understand why she would want to go thru the same trouble again and so we urge her and any one who is considering changing the color of the hair to let an experienced beauty operator handle the case.

True, it may be more expensive to get professional care, but the woman who wants her hair to be both pretty and a different color must be prepared to spend the time and money needed to achieve the effect. Only an expert can tell how much and what type of dye or bleach should be used and the extra treatments that must be given to keep the hair in good shape.

If you think your looks will be improved by changing the color of the hair and you're prepared to pay for proper care, there's no reason to hesitate, but shun the home done jobs as you would an extra crow's foot around the eyes.

Lovely Lingerie for September Brides Ready

BY REA SEEGER.

All kinds of lovely lingerie are featured in the smart collections ready for September weddings. Since this first fall month's weddings rival June's in number, gift trousseau finds are well worth checking while they're so complete.

Many unusual bridal white nightgowns lavishly trimmed with fine patterned lace are matched to negligees of the same gleaming satin and trimmed with matching wide and narrow bands of lace or insertion. The bridal loot positively drips with lace and boasts, of course, the usual romantic bows of satin ribbon, large or small.

Satin and the crepe textures make very decorative duets. Sometimes the gown is of almost transparent sheer with elaborate yoke of lace, and then teamed with a negligee of satin or heavy crepe of the same shade, cut with long sleeves and trimmed with the same lace as in the gown, thus making the super-duper gift for any bride-to-be. Others in palest flesh color or blush pink and some in exceptionally sentimental cloud blue tints make equally appreciated gifts.

Some girls prefer the pastel shades to the traditional bridal white or ivory. But the pastel gowns and negligees are just as exquisitely made and designed with lace ruffles, hand work, tiny sweetheart bows of satin and silk, and the bow knots of insertion worked or appliqued on the silken materials.

Outstanding new gift items are the very fetching short padded robes in white, pastel pink, and blue. The white one is lined with crushed raspberry color and the ribbon design of the outer brocade is perfect for any trousseau. They are simple, straight, clear the knees, and have wide, loose sleeves and a tie-sash belt.

Music Notes

Altho the Grant park band shell will be lighted up for the last time this summer on Saturday night, Sept. 2, when the W-G-N Chicago Theater of the Air ends its outdoor season with "Ode to Chicago," the 10th season of free concerts sponsored by the Chicago park district will end Friday night, Sept. 1, with a special choral concert featuring a massed chorus of 750 voices, with Naomi Cook, soprano, as soloist. This performance is in coöperation with the Choral and Instrumental Music Association of Chicago and will feature 16 participating choruses. The massed numbers will be directed by Richard L. Wesselius, and Carl Craven will be community song leader.

According to the Chicago Opera company, more than 100 Chicago corporations and companies have contributed so far to the guarantee fund for the 1944 season, one-half of which is dedicated this year to financing opera tickets for men and women in service. The management hopes to tilt this figure to 500 before the season opens Oct. 16. Meanwhile, the subscription department reports that orders for season tickets are being filled as rapidly as they are received and suggests that subscribers come to room 234 in the Civic Opera house to consult the seating chart and choose their favorite locations.

new son, the baby born Wednesday in Passavant hospital to him and the former Jean Hyman. The child, who will be named Norman Walt Harris III. after Mr. Harris' grandfather, is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Hyman and of Mr. and Mrs. Hayden B. Harris of New York, former Chicagoans. They are at Poland Springs, Me., on a holiday. Young Mr. and Mrs. Harris have a daughter, Gail, 5½.

The Samuel D. Rowe household in Barrington is thrilled over the arrival of the family's first grandson, the baby born Tuesday at the Sherman hospital in Elgin to Mrs. Rowe's daughter, Mrs. Robert Wilson Herren [Evelyn Lawrence] and named for his father, Ensign Herren of the naval air corps, who arrived Tuesday to see his first child. He is stationed on Long Island. The new arrival, grandson of the Wilson T. Herrens of Barrington and of John H. Lawrence, has three little girl cousins, the David Rowes' baby, born Memorial day, who with her mother, the former Cynthia Aldrich, is occupying the Cape Cod cottage at the Rowe farm while Pvt. Rowe is at Fort Custer; Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel H. Blatchford III.'s daughter, now a few months old, and the James Hosac's child, Hilary. Mrs. Hosac, the former Betty Rowe, and her daughter have returned to New York after a visit in Barrington.

Engagement News.

Lt. and Mrs. George A. Bergen of Waukegan, formerly of New York, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Thelma del Carmen, to Gordon E. Beaubien, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Beaubien, also of Waukegan. Mr. Beaubien was a lieutenant in the army until released recently, after serving three and one-half years. He is a great-great-grandson of a famous Chicago pioneer, Mark Beaubien, who was Chicago's first hotel owner.

Miss Bergen, whose father served as postmaster at Great Lakes until he left recently for sea duty, attended Cooper Union in New York. Mr. Beaubien is a graduate of Northwestern university.

Wedding News.

The marriage of Miss Ginger Higdon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel A. Higdon II. of Tulsa, Okla., to Lt. Clifford J. Milburn Jr. of the army air forces, son of Mr. and Mrs. Milburn of Ellis av., took place at 11 a. m. yesterday in the post chapel at Fort Sheridan, with a small reception following in the Palmer House. The bride attended Tahlequah Northeastern State Teachers' college. Lt. Milburn, a graduate of the University of Illinois, is here on a 30 day leave from England, having received a Presidential citation, the distinguished flying cross, and the air medal with three oak leaf clusters. After a wedding trip to Fox Lake, Wis., he will report for further duty.

Dr. and Mrs. Frederick S. Reed of Chesterton, Ind., formerly of Chicago, announce the marriage last Sunday of their daughter, Margaret Ann, to Lt. [j. g.] Alfred L. Gentzler of the Coast Guard reserve, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Gentzler of Oak Park. The ceremony, which was arranged hurriedly, took place at 5 p. m. in the Thorndike Hilton chapel, with the Rev. Rolland W. Schloerb officiating, and a reception followed in the adjoining garden and cloisters. The bride, whose father is a retired University of Chicago professor, accompanied Lt. Gentzler east to remain with him until he returns to active duty in the Atlantic, when she will go back to Cincinnati to continue her work as assistant traffic controller at Lunken airport.

Announcement is made by Mr. and Mrs. Harold J. Lee of Coles av., of the marriage July 8 of their daughter, Barbara Jane, to George DeBaere, son of Mr. and Mrs. George DeBaere of E. 70th st. The ceremony took place in the Graham Taylor chapel at the University of Chicago, from which Mr. DeBaere was graduated. Mrs. DeBaere received her degree from Lake Forest college. They are at home in E. 74th st.

Youth Problem Is Subject for Another Movie

"YOUTH RUNS WILD."

An RKO-Radio picture, directed by Mark Robson, featuring Glenn Vernon, Tessa Brind, Jean Brooks, Bonita Granville, and Kent Smith, and presented at the Grand.

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

KIND: Drama treating of youthful delinquency and its causes—most of which seem to be parents and guardians. The picture was suggested by the Moline, Ill., Plan for Youth Guidance originated by Ruth Clifton, herself a bobby-soxer, who had ideas for reclaiming the wild youth of the community which were adopted by the city fathers.

ACTING: Commendable. I especially liked Glenn Vernon, Jean Brooks, and Kent Smith. Tessa [once Quiz Kid] Brind is earnest but doesn't hand you the notion that she was born to go on the stage—or screen. You'll like her a lot, tho.

DIRECTION: Satisfactory.

DIALOG: Sane.

SETS, SOUND, and the LIKE: Okey.

AUDIENCE APPEAL: The theater was filled with youngsters who did quite a bit of razzing but, toward the end, sobered down and maintained an encouragingly thoughtful silence.

See you tomorrow.

Looking at Hollywood

By Hedda Hopper

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Aug. 17.—I asked Darryl Zanuck about "One World" and "Rickenbacker." Nothing has been done about "One World," even tho a long time ago Dudley Nichols wrote a script of it. But Darryl assured me "Rickenbacker" will be made, and half of the new script has been written and approved. He thinks the studio will get going on it in November. . . . Travis Banton is in New York conferring with Dave Wolper and Busz Berkeley about their new musical "Have a Good Time" which will star Lupe Velez and Jane Withers. There's a rather interesting angle because practically all the New York designers have flown out here to whip up glad rags for the picture folks. But this is the first time New York has sent an S. O. S. for one of our designers, and Travis couldn't be more pleased. And while he's doing the play, he's also doing "Wonder Man" for Sam Goldwyn.

Bob Is All Wet—But Happy.

A note from Bob Hope, written across the heading of a little army paper called "The Mitchell," says: "Dear Hedda—We find California weather everywhere. Our best, Bob." Paper describes their performance thru a typical tropical downpour, under the headline "Hope and Colonna stage water carnival at [censored]: Romano and Dean get showers," and goes on to describe the G. I.s' appreciation of the shows given them by Bob and his gang, which includes Jerry Colonna, Frances Langford, Patty Thomas, Tony Romano, and Barney Dean. . . . Fred Astaire leaves soon to entertain the boys in England. He tried once before to go over, but plans were canceled on account of the Lisbon crash. . . . Bing Crosby waited in San Francisco for transportation to the South Pacific, then was sent east, and has gone to the Atlantic seaboard. Boys in South Pacific already writing to know why. My hunch would be that while he was waiting, all the ships from that port were busy.

Heroes Without Billing.

"God Is My Co-Pilot" will have three pilots of the original Hongkong raid reenacting the B-25 bombing sequence in the picture. Col. Robert Lee Scott, author and technical adviser on the story, flew with these men in that raid, and when he located them at La Junta, Colo., asked that they be assigned to this detail. They were members of Gen. Chennault's Flying Tigers, but their names can't be mentioned. . . . Larry Parks, who's been struggling along in B's at Columbia, gets his first featured role in "Counter Attack" which stars Paul Muni and Marguerite Chapman. . . . Bette Davis is getting instructions from Tudor Williams on how to conduct a 50 voice choir for "The Corn Is Green." . . . Lt. Bill Holden gets out here next week on furlough, and will have his first glimpse of his baby, Westy. . . . Leo Carrillo has presented Gov. Warren's children with a western saddle horse named Porky. . . . Lon Chaney lost 17 pounds during filming of "The Mummy's Curse," and has gone to his ranch to fatten himself up again. . . . When an elderly lady cooed to Edgar Fairchild's small daughter, "and who has the nice chubby pink legs?" The little girl replied, "Betty Grable."

Bits and Pieces; Hollywood Chatter.

Lt. Col. and Mrs. Thomas Henry Lewis [Loretta Young] sent cards with a little blue bow announcing "Well, here I am—Christopher Paul Lewis, Aug. 1, 1944." . . . Everything happens to Danny Kaye. His wife, Sylvia Fine, who writes all his songs, has pneumonia. . . . Too bad one of our most prominent silent picture stars isn't given a film contract. She's working as a clerk in a drive-in market. . . . Lt. John Carroll showed up at Charley Foy's with Majorie Stewart the other night. . . . Ella Raines, who's doing "Arsene Lupin" for Universal, was given Charles Boyer's bungalow for her birthday. No, he wasn't in it. . . . Maria Montez is leaving for New York after "Queen of the Nile" for a two months' rest. She's sending her two sisters to school in Philadelphia. They called her the other night and said they'd been going to the soldiers' hospitals. Maria asked, "what do you do there?" The girls replied, "well, we don't know much English, so we just say 'hello' to the boys and then stand there and flirt."

Mike Is as Full of Plans as Ever.

Mike Todd's audition at Filmarte theater was to pick talent for streamlined versions of "Mexican Hayride," "Star and Garter," and his other plays for overseas entertainment, which he will personally take over. His next play, which opens in Washington, D. C., Sept. 18, has—now don't faint!—social significance. It's titled "According to Plan" and is laid in a German prison camp. Another reason he's here is that he's trying to find actors for "According to Plan." . . . Carmen Cavallero, who makes those piano recordings, has been signed for "Diamond Horseshoe" with his four piece orchestra. . . . Robert Cummings is in town completing negotiations on production of the picture for the aid of disabled American veterans. Bob returns to Lancaster, Cal., to start his eighth class of army air force pilots.

Suggestions Given for Dealing with Child Behavior Problems

[Copyright: 1944: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Every once in a while our children behave in a way that is pretty baffling. Altho over a period of months in this column we give a good deal of definite advice, some times it seems to me a helpful thing to set down a few general suggestions when you are confronted with some behavior of your child that you do not understand. Suppose for example that:

Betsy is getting to be what you might call calmly and deliberately disobedient.

Yes, you are right in taking exception to those as "baffling" examples, because they are all definite kinds of behavior. And while they may annoy you, you can, at least, have some tangible thing to put your finger on.

You may find that Betsy's disobedience is due to the fact that her aunt and grandfather and older sister are all chipping in on disciplining her. She may be getting so many directions and getting them so much of the time that she's had to take the bit in her teeth in order to be able to do anything at all.

And looking at Jimmy we may find that he is the center of so much solicitude from his adoring relatives, being the only boy, that he's making hay while the sun shines and getting all the attention that he can. And John, we may notice, has found that turning the air more or less blue with a new vocabulary stirs up a delightful lot of excitement.

These are, as we said, all quite definite kinds of behavior. And we can go at the job of looking for the origin of them with a measure of confidence.

But all the troubling ways of our children are not so well defined. Sometimes we have only quite vague indications that all is not well with them. Then we are apt to feel baffled.

It may be that our little girl is discontented practically all the time. Or our older daughter weeps at nothing. Or our son consistently shuns other children and wants to be alone.

All these three kinds of behavior are puzzling. To ferret out the reasons why requires something rather subtle on our part. To get results we must exercise much patience, do much watching, have a careful physician's checkup of our child, give attention to the physical needs, be thoughtful about understanding the changes that come with growth, and make our management wise as a consequence.

Stage Notes

Reprieved by the cool weather, "The Widow" will not close at the Civic Opera house next week, as planned, but will continue thru Saturday night, Sept. 2. The following night will see the opening of the summer's last operetta, to be announced as soon as casting is completed. . . . Both "Kiss and Tell," at the Harris, and "Ramshackle Inn," at the Selwyn, have announced Labor day matinées for Monday, Sept. 4. . . . Gossip is booking the Theater Guild's "The Cherry Orchard" into the Blackstone the night of Oct. 2, but it is a fact that "Othello" has a Chicago booking April 10.

Color, quality, and line are the three outstanding features of the new fall and winter wool dresses. Fuchsia, purple, gold, green, and red are a part of the kaleidoscope of color to be found in the rich woolen textures of this season's wardrobe.

A new and sophisticated color combination for a wool jersey dress is black with raspberry pink. The clever little one piece dress [center] has a smooth black top accented with an initial motif, pink stitching around the collarless neckline, and the center of the buttons filled with the pink of the skirt material. A wide, stitched belt tops the pink skirt, which has a slight fullness over each hip. Black bands on the skirt create an illusion of deep, square pockets.

Another jersey dress [right], which is youthful and eye appealing, is of kelly green with bows trimming the sleeves and pockets. This one piece model has a high round neck and smooth shoulder yoke. It is available in sizes from 10 to 20 and in beige and red.

Teacher Union Resolution Asks Services to End Free Speech Ban

The American Federation of Teachers [AFL], in convention in the La Salle hotel, adopted a resolution yesterday calling for repeal of all restrictions affecting freedom of speech and opinion of members of the nation's military forces.

The resolution, aimed at the recent ban on certain books and other matter for soldiers and sailors, was one of several offered by the adult educational committee and adopted in a long convention session. The session adjourned at 5 p. m. with reports heard from only three of 12 committees expected to offer resolutions. It will be resumed this morning.

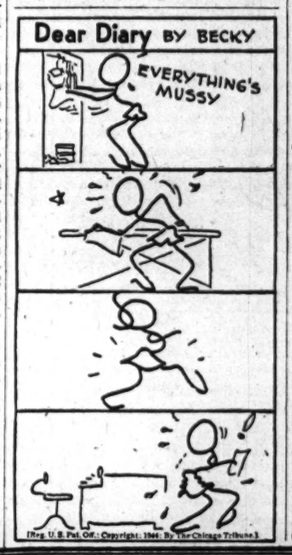
Another resolution adopted urged establishment of programs which would enable soldiers and sailors to become familiar with political issues thru discussion groups in camps and other military centers.

For the post-war period, another resolution urged continuation and expansion of the present war training program for industrial and other workers, and suggested that teachers' and other local unions thruout the nation promote a program similar to the pre-war CCC camps to train veterans whose educational needs are not met otherwise.

Local unions were urged to take the lead in getting former pupils between 14 and 18 years old to return to school from war jobs when war plants shut down. State-wide guidance services for these youths, in coöperation with United States employment service offices, was suggested.

The convention also voted to sponsor a bill for federal aid to education which would "equalize" educational opportunities in all parts of the country and guarantee minimum teacher salaries of $1,500 a year. But the convention resolved to oppose any distribution of federal funds in Oklahoma City, Okla., because of so-called "yellow dog" contract difficulties which arose there recently. The contracts restrict teachers' union activities.

A letter from Lt. Col. Evans F. Carlson, famed marine, which was read to the convention said returning veterans should be educated thru democratic processes to bring "into full realization the objectives for which they fought."



White Collar GIRL

BY RUTH MAC KAY

Personal Traits.

One of the topics voted most interesting by a women's commerce fraternity recently was "Personal Traits of Women in Business to which Men and Women Object; What a Woman Can and Should Do to Avoid Them."

The subject raises an interesting question: Do the same traits bring annoyance to men and women coworkers alike? Do the boss and the girl at the adjacent desk react the same way to some irksome habit overlooked, perhaps, by the one who, all unconsciously, acquired it?

Untidiness, fidgeting, discourtesy, stewing over trifles—these are only the beginning of a list that might serve as a caution to any white collar girl. What are other personal traits to which men and women object?

Opal, the Operator.

Opal, the operator, says there are only two things a woman lies about: Her age and another woman's reputation.

Dr. L. A. Klimpton Named U. of C. Dean of Students

Appointment of Prof. Lawrence A. Klimpton of Kansas City university as dean of students at the University of Chicago was announced yesterday by President Robert M. Hutchins. He succeeds Dr. Aaron J. Brumbaugh who resigned to become vice president of the American Council on Education in Washington, D. C. Dr. Klimpton will continue as administrative officer of a war project at the University of Chicago.

Cover, Girl.

I hope the gals will not be miffed:
I do not like them bare midriffed.
I wish the torrid summer season
Did not make them lose their reason:
Till 'neath the sun they deem it sin

POOR RICHARD.

Heat Wave.

When the boss takes you out to lunch and absent mindedly crumbles crackers into his ice tea instead of his soup—is it the weather?

MYRA.

Opposites.

As an answer to Henry The Flit's challenge: How about filling in or filling out an application blank?

Careers in Banking and Finance.

Stating that America's 15,000 banks are now "being manned by women in increasing numbers," Dorcas Campbell, an officer of a New York bank, has undertaken—and accomplished—a comprehensive book on "Careers for Women in Banking and Finance."

Unburdened by weighty subject matter, punctuated by stimulating stories of women who "got there fastest with the mostest," the book is a vital testimonial to women's success in this field.

Instead of a preface, Miss Campbell poses a question: "What do you think of working women?" You are invited to make a public opinion survey of yourself before, and after, you read the book by checking your answers to a series of true—or false—statements about women in business. To my mind this is one of the most appealing sections of the book. Read it and see what you think. Published by Dutton, $2.75.

POLITICS RULES JUVENILE HOME, CITY CLUB SAYS

Report Charges County Board Lacks Interest.

Children who land in the Juvenile Detention home immediately become victims of the Democratic political patronage system, are made to depend upon ward heelers for care and protection, and the county board's "lack of interest" in them is "beyond comprehension," it was charged in a report released yesterday by the City Club of Chicago.

R. Parker O'Reilly, chairman of the club's social welfare committee, which issued the report after a survey, said:

"The conditions are little short of criminal. The report is extremely conservative. We could have gone much further."

Report Sent to Officials.

He added that the report went to all members of the county board, to Francis D. Scully, lawyer-superintendent of the home, and to Judge Frank Bicek, of the Juvenile court.

The report said the jobs at the home are purely political jobs; appointments are made on a "patronage basis." It continued:

"Little discipline is maintained over the staff. Employes fail to report for duty or do not work full time. Many hold other positions which prevent them from functioning efficiently. Employes should be responsible to the superintendent and not to some politician.

"Employes have informed the superintendent when they would or would not work. Some have admitted absence was due to political activity. Instances have occurred where staff members on night duty were found asleep. These employes were being paid for full time outside employment while drawing full time wages from the county."

Says Scully Has Free Hand.

Clayton F. Smith, president of the county board, said he had not received his copy of the report and therefore would not comment. He pointed out, however, that both Supt. Scully and Mrs. Mary Train, his assistant, were appointed on the recommendation of civic groups. He insisted Supt. Scully had been given a "free hand" in running the institution.

"Is that right?" Scully was asked.

"It's supposed to be," he said. "But I don't hire the people out here."

"Can you fire them?" he was asked, and replied: "I doubt it."

"We've known some of the political heelers working out there who have war plant jobs in the day time to put kids out of bed in order to sleep on the beds themselves," O'Reilly said.

"One poor shaver got 'lost' in the home and it was three months before he was 'found.' His papers were mislaid and he was forgotten. A child is supposed to be interviewed by a probation officer or juvenile court attache soon after entry, but it was never done in this poor kid's case."

OKAY SANCTIONS AGAINST FIRM FOR WAGE CUTS

In the first case of its kind brought before it, the regional war labor board yesterday approved economic sanctions against the Wisconsin Liquor company of Milwaukee for decreasing the compensation of employes without WLB permission.

Philip Marshall, acting chairman, said the firm had reduced the pay of several salesmen without approval of the board. The illegal adjustments, he said, totaled $23,609, and the board recommended that this amount be disallowed as an item of operating cost in computing its federal income tax.

The board has invoked similar punishment against firms which raised wages without permission, but Marshall said this was the first case of an unapproved reduction in pay it had encountered.

War Objectors Get Real G.I. Haircut from Draftees

Fort Leavenworth, Kas., Aug. 17 (AP).—Six inductees from McPherson, Kas., who said they were conscientious objectors, were beaten and their hair cut off with pocket knives yesterday en route here with 30 other inductees on a bus, Maj. G. B. Nemic, receiving station commander said.

WALKOUT HITS PLANT TURNING OUT K RATIONS

The manufacture of "K" rations for the armed forces was halted partially when 500 of 900 workers employed at the National Biscuit company plant at 2540 Polk st. went on strike yesterday. The strikers are members of local 100 of the AFL bakery and confectionery workers union. They struck, said Lt. George Barnes, head of the police labor detail, in protest against the company's request to the national labor relations board that the Polk st. plant employes be included in the same unit with the employes of the company's other plant at 1018 Washington st., in an election planned by the NLRB to determine the bargaining agency for the employes. The strikers want only the Polk st. employes to be allowed to vote, Lt. Barnes said.

'CIO EXISTENCE AT STAKE; BACK F. D. R.': HILLMAN

Declaring that the "very existence of the CIO" is at stake in the Nov. 7 Presidential election, Sidney Hillman, directing the CIO's 5 million dollar campaign for the re-election of President Roosevelt, last night appealed to CIO members in the Chicago area to "raise dollars for Roosevelt."

His plea was contained in a lengthy telegram read by Raymond S. McKeough, former congressman and office of price administration boss in this district, at a mobilization meeting of the Chicago Industrial Union council of the Congress of Industrial Organizations in Car Men's hall. Leaders estimated there were more than 3,000 present. McKeough is now director of region 7 of the political action committee of the CIO.

Campaign Funds Short.

Hillman's telegram further stated that the CIO campaign funds are short, and that the organization needs money now. He urged all CIO members to get out the vote, precinct by precinct, ward by ward, for the November election.

McKeough followed this same thought, adding, "I am not one who shares the optimism that the election of President Roosevelt is a certainty. I recognize the strength of his enemies, including THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE."

Harangues Against Tribune.

Jack Spiegel of the United Shoe Repairers' union also spake. Mostly he harangued against THE TRIBUNE.

The CIO meeting voted support of the Kilgore bill designed to provide unemployment compensation up to $35 a week during the reconversion period, and opposed the George bill which would omit direct federal aid. Lee Pressman, of Washington, general CIO counsel, discussing federal aid, asserted that farmers and corporations have been promised governmental assistance in the post-war lag, and that the laborer should receive similar treatment.

RECEIPTS GO OUT FOR COUNTY TAX PAID BY JULY 1

Employes of the county treasurer's office reported yesterday that receipts for all 1943 taxes paid before July 1 would be mailed to taxpayers within the next two weeks. Treasurer Schlaeger said that about 60,000 receipts were still to go out and that the work is proceeding at a rate of 6,000 to 10,000 a day. The second instalment of real estate taxes is due Sept. 1.

The county board of tax appeals announced that its first revisions of tax assessments—some 500—will be turned over to County Assessor Clark early next week. Taxpayers who filed complaints with the board and protested the second half payments will not have to meet the deadline, as they will have 10 days to pay after receiving revised bills from the county treasurer.

Under the system followed the assessor and the county clerk revise their books before the new bills are sent out.

FINED IN "TRAFFIC BRIBE" CASE.

Louis Friedman, 38, of 6505 N. Ashland av., was fined $1 and $1 costs by Judge LeRoy Hackett in Town Hall court yesterday on a charge of disorderly conduct. George Bair, Lincoln park policeman, said Friedman had protested as Bair halted a motorist and then had offered him a bribe.

DENY 7 OFFICERS REHEARINGS ON GAMING CHARGES

Six police captains and one acting captain who were ordered discharged by the civil service commission June 16 on charges of laxity in dealing with gambling were denied a rehearing by the commission yesterday.

Chairman Walter L. Gregory said he had no comment to make on the ruling. He pointed to the text of a brief note sent each captain's lawyer as being sufficient. It read:

"The civil service commission has received your petition for a rehearing of the matter of [the officer represented by the lawyer addressed].

"The commission directs me to advise you that your petition for a rehearing is hereby denied."

Walter E. Tinsley, attorney for Capt. Thomas Harrison, said he and the other lawyers plan to go next to either the Circuit or Superior court. They have six months from the date of discharge, June 16, to make this move.

Besides Lt. William J. Drury, acting captain at the time of his suspension, and Capt. Harrison, the discharged officers are Capt. Walter F. Healy, Capt. John T. Cartan, Capt. Thomas Connelly, Capt. Louis Klatzco, and Capt. Eugene E. Barry.

Unless Police Capt. Charles G. McGurn, 57, formerly of the North avenue station, retires by next week, charges of inefficiency and incapacity because of illness will be brought against him, Commissioner Allman indicated yesterday.

While You're About It

WHY NOT PURE SILK?

Even though a necktie catches a man's fancy with its pattern, there's definite sit-up-and-take-notice power to the mention of pure silk. There's the element of elegance for one thing—and, of course, when you mention pure silk you're talking about tireless wearing qualities at the same time. But pattern still being important, you'll see the ones here in a good sized range.

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 17.—Bill Dietrich pitched shutout ball against the Washington Senators in tonight's humidity for eight innings and watched Mickey Haefner do likewise. But the Sox scored a run in the ninth, the Senators went out in order in their ninth and there was sweating Bill possessed of a 1 to 0 victory, his 14th of the season—two more than he ever won in any of his previous American league full seasons.

Have Won Seven Night Games.

From the time Guy Curtright made a double in the Chicago sixth, not a runner got on base for either side until LeRoy Schalk reached first on Eddie Yost's fumble at the start of the ninth. Curtright attempted to bunt, but forced Schalk at second. Ralph Hodgin then doubled off the signboard in right, Curtright stopping at third. Hal Trosky flied to Jake Powell, Curtright scoring and Hodgin reaching third. Thurman Tucker fanned, but the way Dietrich had been going it seemed certain with an inning to go that the Sox had won again from the tailenders.

It was the Chicagoans' 22d night game, their second lamp victory on successive nights. They now have won seven times after dark, five times from the Senators.

The Sox made six hits off Haefner the Senators made five off Dietrich. The Sox had two doubles; all the hits off Dietrich were singles. Dietrich retired the last dozen batsmen to face him and previously had walked only three, one intentionally. There were no errors by Chicago. Haefner, by the way, walked only one, none after the first inning.

Scoring Threats Are Rare.

Each team was thwarted in its only threat in the first three innings. In the second the Sox wasted singles by Tucker and Skeeter Webb and in the third the Senators loaded the bases on a single by John Sullivan and passes to George Case and Joe Kuhel only to see Stan Spence, who made three of Washington's seven hits last night, send a gentle bouncer to Trosky for the third out.

Singles by Epitacio Torres and Sullivan, after two were out in the fourth, furnished a mild threat and in the fifth the home boys had runners on third and first with two out, whereupon Powell popped to Webb.

The Sox and Senators will play under the lights again tomorrow and Saturday nights.

LEGION GROUP TAKES OPTION ON AUTO SPEEDWAY

Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 17 (AP).—An option to purchase the Indianapolis motor speedway has been taken by Indianapolis' Voiture 145 of 40 and 8, fun-making branch of the American Legion, it was announced tonight.

Norman H. Coulon, an officer of the Voiture, did not disclose the amount involved in the proposed transaction but said the 500 mile automobile race, suspended during the war, would be resumed after the war.

Capt. Eddie V. Rickenbacker, president of Eastern Airlines, also is president of the Speedway corporation. His brother Al, general manager of the speedway, said he had not heard of the option but that it could have been obtained without his knowledge.

Behind the Mask.

How little do we ever know
What lies within another's mind.
If we could delve beneath the smile
I wonder what we'd really find.

The mask that's worn before the world

And all the bitter words I might have said
Dissolved and cloudy skies again were blue.

You understood my weary ways and faults,
Were tolerant of failings far too long,
And so you can't be blamed for flight, my dear,

Ten Years Ago Today—Pat Malone pitched two-hit ball as the Cubs defeated the Phillies, 2 to 0.

Braves Pound 3 Pitchers to Beat Cubs, 7-5

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Boston's Braves who were due to win a ball game sooner or later, did it in most emphatic fashion yesterday, much to the distress of the Cubs who went into the affair feeling right pert over a two-game winning streak. That streak was stopped and so was another, the latter being eight jolts in a row the Boston boys had encountered while roaming thru the west. The score in Wrigley field was 7 to 5.

Much of Boss Charley Grimm's distress was due to a series of leaks in his pitching department. Less than two innings were needed to reveal that Bob Chipman was altogether too counsinlike with the enemy. Ed Hanyzewski, the semi-invalid, was called on for assistance, but there was no improvement and when the pressure became unduly severe, partly because of an error by Phil Cavarretta in the fifth, Bill Fleming was summoned. The Braves used Bill as the pay-off man, a batch of five runs scoring before the inning was completed.

Cubs Get to Mr. Tobin.

As far as the Cubs' hitting was concerned, it was pretty good, considering that they had to do business with Jim Tobin, manipulator of the butterfly pitch. They lassoed him for a two-run lead in the first inning, but Chipman's and Hanyzewski's frailties soon created a 2 to 2 tie.

Then the Cubs grabbed a one-run edge in the fourth, only to barge innocently into that five-run fifth, an uprising in which Tobin indulged himself with a two-run double and Butch Nieman with a triple that also drove in a pair. After that outburst, Tobin took things easy until he suffered a leg injury in the ninth and was relieved by Ira Hutchinson.

Singles Grow Into Runs.

Singles by Stan Hack, Don Johnson, Bill Nicholson, and Dom Dallessandro accounted for the Cubs' fleeting pleasure in the first inning. Part of this went away in the second when Damon Phillips, Clarence Etchison, and Bill Wietelmann clipped Chipman for singles. Ab Wright, Phil Masi, and Phillips did

THREE HOOSIER SOLDIERS REACH ALL-STAR CAMP

Hillenbrand, Saban, Jacoby Report.

BY WILFRID SMITH.
[ALL-STAR ROSTER ON NEXT PAGE.]

The All-Star football players yesterday at Northwestern followed up their profitable intrasquad games of the preceding afternoon with two intensive drills as they continued toward the objective of the game with the Chicago Bears in Dyche stadium Aug. 30. Contact work was the order yesterday afternoon and at its conclusion, Head Coach Lynn Waldorf and his aids had definite ideas of the skill of their personnel.

The All-Star squad virtually was completed yesterday with the arrival of five men, four of them from Fort Benning, Ga. The Fort Benning quartet includes Lieutenants Billy Hillenbrand, Charles Jacoby, and Lou Saban of Indiana university, and Lt. William Reinhard of the University of California. Pvt. Robert Jabbusch, regular guard on Ohio State's 1942 Western conference championship eleven, reported from Camp McCoy, Wis.

Weather Favors Drills.

Pvt. Gene Fekete, fuil back on the Buckeyes' 1942 team, and Bill Willis, who was a tackle on that same championship eleven and played last fall for Ohio State, arrived Wednesday afternoon. These newcomers took part in yesterday's contact drills as all are in condition from summer practice. Willis, who will play again this fall at Ohio State, has just completed several weeks' drill under Coach Carroll Widdoes of the Buckeyes.

Weather favored continuation of the bruising workouts and because the coaches have laid out such a severe program, the squad probably will be farther along in condition by the end of this week than any other in the 11 year history of the series sponsored by The Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.

Supply of Centers Is Short.

While the squad as a whole has made excellent progress in mastering the pattern of attack outlined by the coaches, a major problem remains in defensive strategy. Line backers are at a premium, particularly at center. Loss of Vic Lindskog, Stanford veteran, was the first blow. Vic's fractured foot now is in a cast and it is questionable whether he will be available to play against the Bears. He broke a bone in his foot during a touch football game two days before he left Palo Alto, Cal.

Lindskog won a starting berth last year when the All-Stars defeated the Washington Redskins, 27 to 7. Bill Baughman of Iowa was lost to the squad when he was ordered to report for induction Aug. 29 in Jeannette, Pa. Ensign Bill Godwin of Alabama also cannot play. At present John Tavener of Indiana appears one of the best of the centers.

Loren La Prade of Stanford, who had been shifted from guard to center, injured his knee and he is on the hospital list for an indefinite period. La Prade twisted his knee during sprints in the second practice, aggravating an old injury. John Knezovich of Bradley, who has had no college experience backing up a line; Bill Maynther of Oregon, and Don Honig of Wentworth Military academy are the other available centers.

Appleby Will Help.

Gordon Appleby, Ohio State center, may help solve the problem when he reports at the conclusion of his summer school classes. Meredith Cushing of Cornell, who previously had been moved to blocking back, has a hand injury which prevents accurate passing of the ball. This does not affect Cushing's spirited backing up of the line, an integral part of defensive play for either a blocking back or center.

Jack Dugger, 6 foot 4 inch end from Ohio State, was the only casualty of the first set of squad games, suffering a bruised muscle. Trainer Carl Erickson reported that Dugger will be ready in a few days to resume his position at left end.

The players spent two hours yesterday afternoon blocking and charging. Each play was broken down to its component parts for this contact drill. Coach Waldorf will continue double drills today and tomorrow. He has not announced the date for the next set of games.

ARMY REINFORCES ALL-STAR SQUAD

BYRD, WOOD ARE LOSERS IN P. G. A. TOURNEY UPSETS

Spokane, Wash., Aug. 17 (AP).—While the two tournament favorites breezed thru to easy victories two other name players were tumbled out of competition today to provide the upsets of second round matches of the 1944 National P. G. A. golf tournament.

Byron Nelson, Toledo, O., and Harold McSpaden, Philadelphia, raced thru their 36 hole matches, the former walloping Mark Fry, 7 and 6, and McSpaden taking the measure of Fred Annon, Mamaroneck, N. Y., 8 and 7.

Two Major Upsets.

Their victories were expected, therefore it was just so much routine, but the dumping of Craig Wood of Mamaroneck and Sam Byrd of Detroit furnished the thrills for a gallery that numbered more than 3,000.

Art Bell, lanky San Francisco power hitter, ousted Wood by a 3 and 2 count. It was no more surprising than the 2 and 1 triumph posted for Charles Congdon, Tacoma, Wash., over Byrd, the ex-New York Yankee outfielder. Byrd and Wood, incidentally, are the third and fourth highest money winners for the year, trailing McSpaden and Nelson.

Nelson fired his fourth consecutive 69, against the par 72 Manito course in his morning round with Fry, yet held only a 1 up lead because of his rival's 71.

Penna Beaten, 4 and 3.

The Oaklander had a blowup, which included a streak of hooked drives, on the third nine when Nelson built up a five hole margin. McSpaden ran away from Annon with a 4 up lead at the ninth; 5 up 18th with 70 shots and 7 up at the 27th.

Another upset, not quite as spectacular as the others, saw George Schneiter, Salt Lake City, gain a 4 and 3 victory over Toney Penna, Dayton, O.

Dudley, Goggin Win.

In the battle between veterans, Ed Dudley, Colorado Springs, outlasted Jimmy, Hines, Amsterdam, N. Y., to win 1 up on the 37th, and Willie Goggin, White Plains, N. Y., beat the 1936 National Open champion, Tony Manero, Stamford, Conn., 4 and 3.

Bob Hamilton, Evansville, Ind., knocked out Harry Bassler, Culver City, Cal., 6 and 5.

East Chicago Loses, but Plays Legion Final Today

St. Paul, Minn., Aug. 17 (AP).—Minneapolis Richfield, defending National American Legion junior baseball champion, remained in the running for regional honors by beating East Chicago, Ind., tonight, 16 to 10. The victory evened the championship series and these teams will meet for the title tomorrow afternoon. Score:

Sgt. Barnes of All-Stars Has Reason to Fear Bear Power

BY FRED DE LANO.

Sgt. Walter Barnes, 235 pound guard from Louisiana State who now is an army air force mechanic, is one All-Star football player who knows whereof he speaks when he says the collegiate squad faces a whale of a battle in its Aug. 30 Dyche stadium assignment with the Chicago Bears.

Barnes and Vic Lindskog of Stanford are the only members of the All-Star squad who have played previously against the professional champions. In 1942 Walt was on the army's eastern All-Star eleven which within eight days met the New York Giants in New York, the Brooklyn Dodgers in Baltimore, and the Bears in Boston.

They Were Soon Fought.

"We went against the Bears in the third of those games," Barnes recalled yesterday, "and they won, 14 to 7, by scoring on a pass interception in the fourth quarter. We had them tied at the half at 7 all, but they were just too tough and wore us down as the game went on.

"Never have I been up against such strength, individually and collectively, as in that game. Many teams have one or two great players, but with the Bears not only all of the 11 men who started were great, but it seemed that every substitute was just as good as the man he replaced. Nevertheless, it was a wonderful football experience, a real test of our ability. I think we will give them a real scrap here, but the Bears are certainly no team you can let down against even for a moment."

He's an Army Veteran.

The Bear eleven against which Barnes played beat the 1942 College All-Stars, 21 to 0, for the third Bear victory in Chicago's charity football series. This will be Barnes' first football appearance since that game in Boston. He has been in the army two and one-half years, and will return to L. S. U. after the war to complete work on a degree as a political science major. His home is in Parkersburg, W. Va.

Best represented state on the All-Star squad is Indiana. Any coach would give a sizable interest in his stadium for a team as strong as that which could be made up from among All-Star players who have attended Indiana schools.

FAMIGLIETTI IS TOP MAN OF SIX LINE PLUNGERS

Driving Attack May Displace Passes.

BY EDWARD PRELL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Collegeville, Ind., Aug. 17.—Even the war has failed to weaken appreciably the traditionally dangerous full back division of the Chicago Bears. The National Football league champions always have been strong in that department, with such burly gents as Bronko Nagurski, Bill Osmanski, Jack Manders, Norm Standlee, and Joe Maniaci, and when they meet the College All-Stars the night of Aug. 30 in Dyche stadium in Evanston they again will have power galore.

Five full backs have survived some rather extensive personnel chopping in the nine days the Bears have been working out at their training camp here. A sixth, large Doug McEnulty, has been shifted to right half, where he is giving Ray McLean strong competition.

May Decide to Pound Line.

Against the Collegians, the Bears may elect to slam into the line, instead of concentrating on passes. This, in part, will be dictated by necessity with no Sid Luckman around to throw the ball. That is, unless Sid shows up at the last minute, in true Dick Merriwell fashion. In the Bears' system, the full back is the workhorse, carrying the ball on at least 50 per cent of the running plays.

With increased emphasis on ball carrying, the full backs will be just that much more important. Gary Famiglietti, beginning his seventh campaign with the Bears, has the No. 1 spot by right of previous possession and the display of a fine spirit in camp to date. His closest rival is Jim Fordham, who ended his college football career at the University of Georgia in 1939. Fordham holds an honorable discharge from the navy.

Reserves Are Capable.

Fordham, at 27, is as enthusiastic as the youngest rookie. He looks and acts like a football player. He's 5 feet 11 and weighs 220, but hopes to get down to his old playing weight of 212.

That still leaves three more capable full backs. These are the veteran Bob Masters, who has been slowed down with a leg injury; Ed Simonich, whose last college season at Notre Dame was in 1938, and Dave Pate, 21, who played as a freshman at Stanford. When that university dropped football, Pate returned to his native Colorado where he entered the state university. Later he was in military service but has an honorable discharge.

Squad Drills in Rain.

The heat wave broke here today, but in a most rude manner. The squad hardly had assembled on the practice field at St. Joseph's college when the rains came. This was all right with the coaches, who had been wanting to see how the players reacted to wet weather, of which, it may be recalled, there was some during the 1943 All-Star game.

Today's drills were devoted mainly to passing, with emphasis placed on the receivers getting where they are supposed to be. Even Carl Brumbaugh, coach of the quarter backs, participated in the aerial barrage.

Gene Ronzani, who will try a comeback at quarter, arrived too late to take part in the afternoon session. He may jump right into the fire tomorrow in the squad's second scrimmage. A third one is scheduled for Sunday, after which the tapering off process will begin.

BEHRENS GAINS FINALS IN FOUR TENNIS SECTIONS

Buddy Behrens, 15, of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., national boys' singles champion, yesterday won semi-final matches in two divisions of the third annual River Forest tennis tournament. He defeated Burt Rance of Chicago, 6-2, 8-6, to gain the junior finals, and beat Bob Norman of River Forest, 6-3, 6-1, in the semi-finals of the boys under 16 division.

Behrens also has a chance of sharing in two additional championships, having qualified for the finals in the doubles in both divisions.

His opponents today will be Bill Landin of Evanston in the junior division and Don Seiffert of Chicago in the boys' class. Landin eliminated Bob David, top seeded Chicago star, 9-7, 2-6, 6-4, and Seiffert beat Dick Gradinger of Oak Park, 0-6, 6-4, 6-4.

One championship was settled with Marcia Daly, 11 year old Chicagoan, defeating Toby Greenberg, also of Chicago, 6-1, 5-7, 6-2, in the girls under 13 division. All the other titles will be decided today.

ANN CURTIS AIMS FOR TWO WORLD SWIM RECORDS

Kansas City, Mo., Aug. 17 (AP).—Ann Curtis, San Francisco's 18 year old swimming star, will have two chances to hang up world records in the first day's program of the National A. A. U. women's swimming and diving meet in Swope park pool tomorrow.

Following the preliminary events at 2 p. m. the race program starts at 7 p. m. with the 100 meter free style, 300 meter individual medley, and the 1,500 meter free style scheduled.

Miss Curtis is expected to set records in the 100 and 1,500 meter events, with Brenda Mersereau-Helser II., also a favorite in the 100 meter race, in which she is defending champion and in which a score of contestants are entered.

the same to Hanyzewski in the third and that's what tied it. Len Merullo dissolved the tie in the fourth by singling, continuing to second on Tobin's bad throw and scoring on Hack's single.

The confusion in the fifth started with a pass to Masi. With one out Cavarretta threw wild trying to complete an easy force play at second. Wietelmann promptly singled to drive in a run and Hanyzewski was yanked in favor of Fleming. This was where Tobin uncorked his two run double. With two out, Frank Drews walked and scored behind Tobin on Nieman's triple.

These Runs Meant Nothing.

The Cubs picked up meaningless runs in the seventh and eighth and, with one gone in the ninth, Nicholson singled, going to third on Chuck Workman's fumble of the hit. Dallessandro beat out a hit to Tobin, who pulled a muscle trying to field the ball. Hutchinson ended the threat quickly when he grabbed Andy Pafko's tap and turned it into a double play.

BOWLES TELLS HOW OPA WILL WORK IN PEACE

Basis for Post-War Pricing Outlined.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 17.—The principles on which the office of price administration will base its pricing during the reconversion of American industry to peace time production were announced today by Price Administrator Chester Bowles. They are:

Chester Bowles.

1. The OPA will continue to attempt to hold the cost of living in check.

2. Price and rent controls are to be kept in effect only as long as they are deemed necessary.

3. The OPA will continue to price products which have been available to civilians thruout the war in accordance with present standards.

4. On goods coming back into production, the OPA will take prompt pricing action, either company by company, or on an industry-wide basis, depending upon circumstances.

Fit Prices to Conditions.

5. Pricing methods will be changed or modified to fit changing conditions. Prices will be rechecked at regular intervals, and all new prices will be subject to quick recalculation if they are out of line.

Discussing price fixing on civilian goods coming back into production, Bowles said in a press conference that in considering any ceiling price increase needed by a manufacturer who is reconverting, the OPA will take into account higher wage rates and higher material costs.

"In the case of companies which continue to have war business or other civilian business, we also will consider the general financial position of the firm," he continued. "We will decentralize the adjustment of these prices in our district and regional offices as far as possible.

Some Goods May Be Higher.

"In adjusting these prices, we must also take into consideration the decrease in unit costs resulting from technological advances and a high level of output. Altho some commodities are going to come back into production at higher prices than when they went out, not all of them will be higher.

"Our pricing policies should encourage the fullest possible production of goods and services at the lowest possible prices to the consumer. Unless American industry produces to the limit of its powers, the danger of depression and eventual collapse will increase."

Bowles said the OPA, lacking experience in reconversion pricing, is "going to make mistakes" and must learn as it goes along. He promised that price policies will be flexible and will vary with the conditions that develop in individual companies and industries.

Food to Be Freed First.

Discussing the continuation of OPA controls, he said he "thought they would be eliminated, industry by industry, as soon as conditions warrant. Durable consumer goods and building materials probably will remain under OPA control the longest, he said, and indicated food will be among the first to be freed.

Bowles said he was certain prices of such consumer goods as automobiles, refrigerators, and washing machines would not rise sharply when manufacture is resumed, and scoffed at reports of price rises of 25 to 40 per cent, compared with pre-war levels.

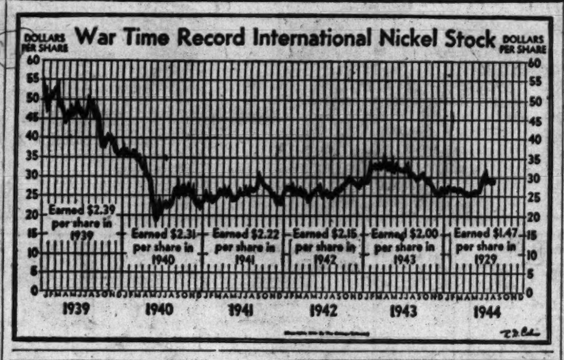
CHRYSLER RESERVES.

Please report on Chrysler corporation's allowances for special reserves in recent years and the effect upon net income. P. C.

Answer: A reserve of 18 million dollars was deducted from the 1943 earnings for plant rehabilitation and other reconversion costs when the time comes for Chrysler to shift back to automobile production from its present varied war production program. However, $6,057,625 was transferred to that year's income account from reserves previously provided for automobile operations but no longer required, so that the net allowance may be figured as the difference between these two items, or a little under 12 millions. In 1942 the deduction for post-war plant rehabilitation was 10 millions.

Had Chrysler reported 1943 earnings without transfers to and from such reserves its net income would have been equal to $8.10 a share, instead of the $5.36 net reported after allowance for reserve. The 1942 profit would have been equal to $5.87 instead of $3.57 as shown. Last year's earnings were reported subject to possible renegotiation refunds.

Armament profits are illusory to the extent that war work will involve expensive plant rehabilitation in order to resume normal production. Consequently, Chrysler's net income after deducting reserves may be presumed to give the more accurate picture of war time operating results. If the reserves prove excessive, the remainder may be returned to the income account in post-war years or added to surplus.



Expect Wide Field for Food Dehydration

Dehydration of food, which was a flourishing business before the war brought wide expansion, has broad post-war prospects, Chester Freeze, assistant to the president of California Vegetable Concentrates, told the Central Lions club yesterday in the Sherman hotel.

Experiments are in progress on dehydration of many types of foods, He said a recent test showed dehydrated rhubarb indistinguishable from fresh or frozen rhubarb after stewing. Only three-fourths of an ounce was required to serve four persons, he said.

Not Successful in All Cases.

Dehydration cannot be used successfully on all types of fruit and vegetables, however, he said. On some the prices cannot be made low enough. Some, such as turnips, do not have adequate keeping qualities. Others, like broccoli, are barred by their appearance, a coarse powder.

Freeze said some war time newcomers had offered substandard merchandise which had not provided consumers a fair chance to judge standard dehydrated foods. He is in Chicago for the National Food Distributors association convention, also in the Hotel Sherman.

Banana, Pumpkin Included.

Many of the exhibits of several hundred distributors are of dehydrated foods, including bananas, pumpkin, cabbage, beets, potatoes, tomatoes, mint leaves, parsley, and navy beans, beside such better known items as soup mixes, onions, garlic, mushrooms, boullion cubes, gravy mixes, and beef extracts.

Walter Weeks, president of the Tasty-Nut company, reported that pecans are almost the only variety of nuts in ample supply.

No improvement in the mayonnaise supply was held likely by Ralph Graves, director of the Wheatley company. Corn and cottonseed oil, containers, and man power all are scarce, and soybean oil may become so, he said. Eggs are the only plentiful mayonnaise and salad dressing ingredient.

FEDERAL OUTLAY FOR WAR SHOWS DECLINE IN JULY

Washington, D. C., Aug. 17 (AP).—Government spending for war purposes in July was 7 billion 355 million dollars, the lowest monthly total of 1944 and a 7.6 per cent decline from June. The average daily rate of outlay, $282,900,000, also was the lowest of any 1944 month.

WPB figures showed total war outlays had risen to 207 billion 200 million from the start of the defense program on July 1, 1940, thru July 31, 1944.

Figures included checks cleared by the treasury and payable from war appropriations as well as net outlays of the Reconstruction Finance corporation and its subsidiaries. The daily rate of spending was figured on the basis of the 26 days in July on which checks were cleared by the treasury.

RELAXED MATERIALS CONTROL PREDICTED AFTER NAZI DEFEAT

Within a "reasonable period" after the fall of Germany, relatively few government restrictions on materials for manufacturing civilian goods will have to be kept in effect, L. R. Boulware, operations vice chairman of WPB, said yesterday.

Boulware told the national institute for trade organization executives at Northwestern university the WPB order structure "is undergoing constant modification and simplification as the need for individual controls passes."

"In the first six months of this year there were 266 net relaxations in orders," he said. "The orders are studied daily in the light of actual current changes and of expected future developments. It now appears that within a reasonable period after the fall of Germany, the orders that would have to be kept in effect might be relatively few, altho some simple elements of the priority system might naturally have to continue to protect any military, vital, or even preferred production."

800 JOIN TANK PLANT WALKOUT; END SUB STRIKE

Bettendorf, Ia., Aug. 17 [Special].—Production at the Bettendorf works of International Harvester company was near a standstill today, as a result of a work stoppage in which most of the 800 to 900 on the day shift had joined, company officials said.

Ray Teeple, local president of the United Farm Equipment and Metal Workers of America [CIO], said he understood the majority of the employes, working on production of prime movers and repair of tanks, will not return to work unless the government takes over the plant, or the company agrees to settle the dispute over piecework rates.

Submarine Strike Ends.

Hartford, Conn., Aug. 17 (AP).—The four day strike at Electric Boat company has been called off, representatives of the union and the company announced today after a conference with Gov. Baldwin at the state capitol.

CELANESE VOTES 1-FOR-70 STOCK DIVIDEND AGAIN

Celanese Corporation of America yesterday declared a dividend of one share of common stock for each 70 shares held, the same as was paid in March and June.

Chesebrough Manufacturing company, distributor for Colgate-Palmolive-Peet company, voted a 25 cent extra dividend, the third this year, with the regular quarterly disbursement of $1.

Directors of Gabriel company, manufacturer of shock absorbers, authorized a 12½ cent payment on common, the first since 10 cents was paid in May, 1943.

Department Store Sales 13 Pct. Above Year Ago

Chicago department store sales in the week ended Aug. 12 were 13 per cent higher than a year earlier, the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago reported yesterday. Sales in the 7th [Chicago] federal reserve district were up 10 per cent.

Warner Ships More Despite OrderCutback

Shipments of Stewart-Warner corporation in the first half of 1944 were approximately 14 per cent higher than a year earlier despite sizeable cutbacks in war contracts, James S. Knowlson, president and board chairman, said yesterday.

Some new business has been obtained, but cancellation of several large war contracts has resulted in an over-all decrease of about 28 per cent in the backlog of orders since Dec. 31, he told stockholders. The backlog remained large, however, at more than 80 million dollars.

Almost daily changes may be expected, he said, and shipments will fluctuate as long as military needs are "in a state of change."

No Civilian Output Yet.

Altho Stewart-Warner is making plans for the resumption and enlargement of peace time markets for its regular products, no definite steps can be taken at present without relaxing war production, Knowlson said. The Chicago company normally manufactures automotive products, radios, hardware, and household items.

Profits in the six months ended June 30 were $1,733,197, equal to 89 cents a share. No earnings report was prepared for the first half of 1943. Profits for the full year were $2,011,085, or $1.58 a share.

Taxes, Repricing Take 8 Million.

Profit in the first half of this year was computed after tax and price renegotiation provisions of $8,328,593 and $600,000 for contingencies and post-war plant rehabilitation. Knowlson said it was impossible to forecast profits for the second half of the year "because of the many uncertainties which exist."

The company's current position has improved since Dec. 31, he said, and the ratio of current assets to current liabilities was 2 to 1 on June 30. Sizeable reductions in inventory were made, and working capital was $15,094,682.

RYE PRICES DIP IN LATE TRADE; WHEAT IS FIRM

Short covering which advanced grain prices Wednesday carried over into early trading yesterday. Wheat and rye rose about 1 cent a bushel before profit taking on the more favorable weather for corn checked the upturn. Pressure increased in rye on the way down. Prices declined 1¼ cents from the high and closing trades were ⅛ to ⅝ cent lower.

There was little pressure on wheat and futures closed unchanged to ⅛ cent higher. Oats were unchanged to ¾ cent lower. Barley ended ¾ cent higher to ¼ cent lower.

SUPPLY OF HOGS LIGHT; SELLS AT CEILING PRICES

Packers paid office of price administration ceiling prices for most of the hogs they bought yesterday at the Chicago stockyards in an effort to obtain volume necessary to fill the week's work guaranteed to workers. Only 59,600 hogs arrived the first four days of this week.

Most 160 to 240 pound hogs sold at $14.75 a hundred pounds, and $14 was paid for most butchers and sows over 240 pounds. The average was unchanged at $14.30.

Demand for lambs improved and prices were strong to 25 cents higher. The top was unchanged at $14.35. Cattle sold steady.

Certain-teed to Elect New President Tuesday

Directors of Certain-teed Products corporation Tuesday will elect a president to succeed Hector J. Dowd, resigned, Rawson G. Lizars, chairman, said yesterday. Several executive promotions are expected to be made and contemplated expansion will be discussed, Lizars said.

People and Events

Charles H. Feltman, vice president and treasurer of Feltman & Curme Shoe Stores company, was elected president yesterday to succeed the late Arthur A. Curme. Roland D. Feltman was named vice president.

Appointment of Charles E. Hurley as supervisor of military contracts for United Air Lines was announced by J. A. Herlihy, vice president of operations.

Paul H. Dunakin has been appointed general manager of Popular Mechanics magazine and Science Digest to succeed Willis S. Brown. Dunakin formerly was an officer of the First National Bank of Chicago.

Williams Export Associates, Inc., has been appointed export distributor for Echophone Radio company. T. F. Williams, former director of production for Philco Radio and Television Corporation of Great Britain, heads the distributing company.

James E. Gowan was elected a director of American Sugar Refining company. He is president of the Girard Trust company, Philadelphia.

STOCKS HIGHER AS PEACE SHIFT OPTIMISM BUDS

Sixty Issue Average Rises Half Point.

Close Saturdays

The New York Stock and Curb exchanges and the Chicago Stock exchange announced yesterday that the markets would be closed the next three Saturdays, Aug. 19 and 26, and Sept. 2. Reasons for the closings were the heat wave that cut Saturday attendance, and the shortage of help in brokerage offices at the height of the vacation season. Other large securities exchanges and the over-the-counter trade were expected to take similar action.

New York, Aug. 17 (AP).—Stocks with a peace rating continued to reflect the rapid allied drive in France with another brisk advance in today's market and armament issues kept well in front as concern over plant reconversion showed further signs of waning.

Optimism developed as a result of plans for the gradual shift of industry to civilian production and, even tho difficulties may arise, customers believed profits would expand with the return to normal activities and the shaking off of governmental contract restrictions.

Trade Slows After Fast Start.

Slowdowns developed after a lively opening and gains were reduced in most cases toward the close even tho late bidding boosted some leaders fractions to two points for gains which were among the largest of the day.

The Associated Press 60 stock average was up 0.5 at 55.6 on top of yesterday's 0.3 upswing. This was the widest upturn since July 19. Transfers of 1,238,225 shares were the largest since Aug. 8. Peaks for 1944 were reached by Montgomery Ward, American Airlines, Braniff Airways, American Locomotive, and American Radiator among others.

RAILS LIFT BOND PRICES.

New York, Aug. 17 (AP).—The bond market rose today, led by reorganization and other rails, but volume remained low. The interest in rails embraced a wide list of popular trading mediums and at one time gains of 1 to 2 points were numerous, but some were clipped before the close when profit takers became active.

Florida East Coast 5s, a strong spot for the last few days, moved up to 56½, a new high, but backtracked to close at 54¼ for a net gain of a point on sales of $214,000. Illinois Central 4s and 4¾s rose around a point and closed on top. Most Seaboard issues held gains of fractions to a point.

CHICAGO LIST HIGHER.

Prices on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday were higher on larger turnover of 47,000 shares. Among the most active issues were Spiegel, up ⅝, Advance Aluminum, up ⅝, Standard Dredging, unchanged, and Chicago corporation, down ⅛. Four issues reached new 1944 highs.

State Regulation of Insurance Defended as Valid and Best

Congressional action is not necessary to validate state regulation of insurance, Floyd Jacobs, president of the American Reciprocal Insurance association, told a subcommittee of the National Association of Insurance Commissioners yesterday in the Drake hotel.

The subcommittee is hearing views and recommendations of the insurance industry concerning the United States Supreme court ruling of June 5 which held that insurance is interstate commerce and thus is subject to federal regulation. A report on its hearings will be submitted to the association's executive committee Aug. 28 and 29 in St. Louis. The court has set Sept. 1 as the deadline for requesting a rehearing on its ruling.

Bill Held Ineffective.

Jacobs said that even if the pending Van Nuys-Bailey bill, which would exempt insurance from federal regulation is passed, the Supreme court decision would leave insurance subject to the federal trade commission act.

"State regulation as it stands today is a perfectly valid operation and will be unless congress enacts legislation assuming exclusive control of insurance," he said. "Any measures designed to infringe upon the states' powers are the acts which should be resisted."

The Association of Casualty and Surety Executives filed a brief with the committee urging the industry to attempt to obtain a rehearing and to work for "emergency legislation" to remove the industry from subjection to anti-trust and interstate commerce controls.

"Contrary to People's Interests."

Frank G. Dickinson, associate professor of economics at the University of Illinois and president of the American Association of University Teachers of Insurance, told the committee that the court's ruling was "contrary to the best interests of the American people."

"The first reason why state control is superior arises from the peculiar nature of insurance," he said. "Insurance companies are as accessible as their agents. It does not matter where an insurance company chooses to locate its home office because I can do business with that company if I can get in touch with one of its agents located in my vicinity.

"Second, state control of insurance permits the purchaser to vote twice on questions of insurance regulations. He can vote for his state officers who promise to improve insurance laws; and by choosing to pay his premiums to well managed insurance companies in states with strong insurance regulations he casts a powerful vote for the best kinds of regulation."

RISE IN FOOD PRICES HIKES LIVING COSTS 1 PER CENT IN MONTH

Living costs in Chicago rose 1 per cent during the month ended July 15, John B. Parrish, regional director of the labor statistics bureau, announced yesterday. The rise resulted largely from increased food costs. Other items which make up the average family budget showed little or no change.

Higher priced eggs, fresh fruits, and vegetables pushed retail food prices up 2.4 per cent, he said. Some meats were up slightly. Overall food prices showed an increase of 1.1 per cent from a year ago. Clothing rose 0.1 per cent in the month and home furnishings remained at the same level.

RIVALRY IN RAIL RATES INTENSE, SAYS FLETCHER

Answers Biddle's 'Control' Charges.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 17 (AP).—Answering charges of monopolistic practices recently made by the justice department, R. V. Fletcher, vice president of the Association of American Railroads, told a senate committee today "most active and intense competition" exists within the industry and between railroads and other forms of transportation.

R. V. Fletcher.

Fletcher referred to public statements by Atty. Gen. Biddle and his assistant, Wendell Berge, criticizing rate making methods and other railroad practices. Biddle in a speech at Spokane, Wash., spoke of an impending anti-trust action against western carriers.

No Rates Made "in Dark."

"Nowhere except among the employes of the department of justice is there to be found any sentiment that the transportation business of this country should be forced backward half a century to the days when rates were made 'in the dark' under competitive pressures with the biggest shipper wielding the biggest club and getting the lowest rate," Fletcher said.

"Least of all can there be found sentiment for any such change among the smaller shippers, whose rights and interests the present system protects."

Fletcher testified before the senate military subcommittee on war mobilization. He outlined research steps being taken by the association to develop post-war utility and improvement of rail services. Fletcher said the association was spending $300,000 in such research.

Few Rates Appealed.

Admitting that railroad consultive committees establish rail rate changes, which are appealable to the interstate commerce commission, Fletcher said it was true that ICC passed on a relatively few of the actual changes.

The fact that few are appealed is "an indication of the extent to which shippers and railroads are able to reach rate adjustments that are satisfactory," he said.

The so-called "western agreement" among railroads in the west, attacked by the justice department officials, was arranged in the early days of the depression "in response to a suggestion from ICC that measures be taken to curb what were termed wastes due to excessive competition," Fletcher said.

Harriman Helped Make Pact.

W. Averell Harriman, United States ambassador to Russia, had helped establish the agreement as chairman of the board of the Union Pacific railroad. This agreement "which the department of justice has just 'discovered' with such a flourish of publicity" never was a secret, but "was announced and published to the world," he said. It was abandoned a year ago, Fletcher added.

GROUP IN HOUSE COOL TO F. D. R. COAL RULE PLEA

Washington, D. C., Aug. 17 (AP).—House ways and means committee members were generally cool today to a letter which President Roosevelt wrote Rep. Flannagan [D., W. Va.] urging congressional speed in providing new federal regulations of the bituminous coal industry.

None criticized Mr. Roosevelt for writing the letter which Flannagan released yesterday, but Representatives Carlson [R., Kas.], Woodruff [R., Mich.], and others said they expected no action soon. They said their committee was absorbed with study of the senate-approved unemployment compensation measure.

Carlson commented that "congress and the country have plenty to do without passing another NRA for the coal industry. I don't believe the government should guarantee the cost of production to any industry and that's what is sought here."

OPA ANNOUNCES CONDITIONS FOR CEILING BOOSTS

Washington, D. C., Aug. 17 (AP).—In an effort intended to encourage production of low priced durable consumer goods in short supply, OPA today announced conditions under which manufacturers may be granted price ceiling increases.

Provisions cover varied products including baby carriages, brooms, carpet sweepers, electric irons and fountain pens, and allow increases granted to be passed on at wholesale and retail.

To qualify for a higher ceiling manufacturers must show they are faced with an over-all loss on their operations and that prevailing ceiling prices on particular items are below total costs.

Street Car Passenger Traffic Gains in July

The Chicago Surface Lines in July carried 68,980,950 revenue and transfer passengers, against 68,088,282 a year earlier, the company reported yesterday.

CIO RADIO SERIES BECOMES SMEAR OF U. S. INDUSTRY

FCC Told of Change in Theme of Programs.

BY PHILIP DODD.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 17.—Attempts of the CIO to use an educational radio program to attack industrial management and seek support for labor candidates for public office were described today at a federal communications commission hearing on a CIO petition to cancel the license of station WHKC, Columbus, O.

The proceedings were brought by local 927 of the United Automobile Workers [CIO] at the Curtiss-Wright airplane plant in Columbus. In its petition the UAW-CIO asserted that WHKC had censored CIO radio programs while broadcasting programs instituted by the Mutual Broadcasting system, which, the petition charged, were anti-labor.

The CIO's first witness, Richard T. Evans, educational director of local 927, today described how the union had contracted with WHKC in June, 1943, to run a weekly series of educational programs, designed to create friendly relations between the CIO and the people of the Columbus area. The UAW-CIO was to pay for its time on WHKC under regular commercial contract.

Meet with No Objection.

Evans said the first two programs met with no objection from the radio station and were broadcast as prepared on June 6 and June 13, 1943. The June 20 script, however, included a speech attacking the Smith-Connally anti-strike law, then awaiting President Roosevelt's signature, as "an insult to labor." Evans said that Carl M. Everson, WHKC manager, termed the entire talk "provocative and controversial" and that the union withdrew it from the program.

For June 27, the CIO prepared a script designed, Evans said, to bolster the morale of war plant workers. In it references were made to "tolerating" legislators accused of passing anti-labor legislation and to tolerating the war labor board, accused of keeping wages at minimum levels. Evans said several portions of the speech were deleted, and it was broadcast in its abbreviated form.

The testimony indicated that the CIO script writers had warmed up to their subject by July 11, when an appeal was written into the script for "all labor men and women to avoid the bitter mistakes of the past and avoid anti-labor legislation of the future" by registering and voting.

Includes a Playlet.

The July 11 script also included a playlet designed, Evans said, to reveal the "underhand tactics" of management to undermine unions by using labor spies. Evans said extensive changes were ordered by the station.

Everson, on the stand before Evans, said the CIO programs had been proposed as "friendly and educational" and that Evans had agreed they should not include controversial matter. Further, Everson said, the contract between local 927 and WHKC gave the station the right to make changes in scripts before they were broadcast.

In the Aug. 17 edition of THE TRIBUNE, station WHKC was referred to as station WHFC in one of the 10 instances in which reference was made to the Columbus station. The error was typographical.

16,532 U. of Illinois Alumni in Service; 16 Are Generals

Urbana, Ill., Aug. 17 (AP).—Sixteen generals are among the 16,532 University of Illinois alumni in military service, the alumni association reported today. Of the 243 gold stars on the university's service flag, 101 represent those killed in action, 69 are for those killed in plane crashes during training, and the remainder are for alumni lost for other reasons.

Divorces Soldier

MRS. VERNA MILLING.

Because she refused to settle gambling debts which her husband incurred during his first two weeks in the army, he wrote her that he was thru with her, Mrs. Vera Milling, 27, of 295 Bertram rd., Riverside, testified yesterday before Superior Judge Joseph Sabath. She was granted a divorce on the ground of desertion from Pvt. Harry Milling, 30, who is at Fort Sill, Okla. She said the separation occurred in May, 1942, four months after they were married. She waived allotment rights and alimony.

TURNS A WATER TAP IN HOME; 'STRIKES' OIL!

Rural Resident Tells of 36 Hour Mystery.

For 36 hours oil came in a steady stream every time a water tap was turned on in his home, H. O. Bivens, 45, of Colonial Village, south of Batavia on the Lincoln hwy., reported yesterday.

As mysteriously as it started the flow of "black gold" ended suddenly. But before the "gusher" quit, Bivens, a sheet metal instructor at the Illinois Training School for Boys at St. Charles, took some samples.

It's Crude Oil, All Right.

The samples were turned over to Prof. Clarence R. Smith of the geology department at Aurora college. Prof. Smith analyzed the samples as crude oil.

Meanwhile Bivens, visioning possibilities of sudden wealth, had his pipe lines checked. There were no breaks in the pipes. He checked his water storage tank and found oil instead of water.

The Bivens water supply comes from a 240 foot well on the property which is owned by Bivens. The water is drawn into the system by an electric pump.

Blasting May Be Answer.

There is only one possible solution to the mystery, said Bivens. He learned that blasting operations have been going on across the Fox river at Glenwood Park. It is assumed, he said, that the blasting may have opened a channel to his water well from a pocket of oil.

Dr. Curtis R. Singleterry, head of Aurora college's chemistry department, is making further tests. And at the Bivens home they're hauling their water by buckets, for you can't drink oil, or bathe in it.

DAD ACCUSED OF BURNING HIS CHILDREN FREED

Judge Victor A. Kula in Domestic Relations court yesterday dismissed charges of contributing to the delinquency of a minor against Glenn Disselhorst, 37, of 1644 N. Halsted st., a machinist, who had been accused by neighbors of burning the hands of his two children as punishment. Judge Kula said there was no direct evidence to support the charges. Policeman Louis Swee of the Hudson av. station said he learned that the children, Gerald, 5, and Glenda, 4, had burned their hands while playing with fire, but found no evidence that the father had punished them with fire.

Aug. 17, 1944.

WITH all the talk about protein foods, vitamins, and balanced diets, it's a relief to find families living on a catch as catch can basis. The bass and bluegills put in one of the pools on the Wheaton farm more than a month ago are the groups testifying that it's possible to exist without coddling.

The concrete pool in which the fish dwell contain no growing vegetation, and the bass and bluegills live exclusively on natural items of food that enter the tank. The fish apparently are thriving and make uncomfortable any swimmers and waders in their home waters.

Frog Gets I. Q. Rating.

Frogs aren't credited with Quiz Kid mentalities, yet one of these amphibians recently proved that it knows enough to keep away from the hungry bass and bluegills.

One of the farm residents reports that he saw this frog with the high I. Q. alongside a pool, but apparently hesitant about going in. When the man stepped close to the frog it popped hurriedly across the surface and onto the opposite shore, its speed undoubtedly accelerated by memory of previous nipping offenses by the bass and bluegills.

Fish Feed on Insects.

Insects undoubtedly provide the major diet of the fish in the tank, as proved by their frequent trips to the surface to grab floating flies. Perhaps the men will install an electric insect killer over the pool to increase their diet.

The gadget, formerly used in the farm greenhouse, attracts insects with an electric light; when they approach, they are killed by charged wires surrounding the bulb. On bright nights the bass and bluegills could feed for several hours on the dead insects that would drop into the water after being electrocuted.

Electrical Cafeterias.

The idea of killing insects by electricity to provide food for wild life is not new. Harold Hanson of the Illinois natural history survey, devised an electrically charged gadget to kill flies and other insects as a means of providing cheap feed for the wood ducks now being raised on survey property in Havana, Mason county. The unit is installed above the ducklings' feeding pen, and as the slain insects drop to the ground the young wood ducks scrap over a main course that is high in protein value.

★ The GARDEN ★

FOR maximum flavor, tomatoes to be canned or used for tomato juice should be left on the vines until they reach full ripeness. Tomatoes picked in the half-green stage, then ripened on window sills or in iceboxes, have poorer texture and flavor than those ripened on the vines.

The idea that tomatoes should be picked when only half ripe probably originates from the fact that tomatoes shipped into the middle west from southern states are picked in this stage so that they will withstand shipping without decaying.

When nearly ripe a tomato of most standard varieties is light red in color. When sliced, these semi-ripe tomatoes exude no juice. The final stage of ripeness is reached when the fruits turn deep red and release moisture when sliced. In this stage they are prime for canning or table.

SHOWERS GIVE LITTLE AID TO PARCHED CORN

20 to 30% of State Crop Reported Lost.

BY GAIL COMPTON.

Scattered showers yesterday brought partial relief to some sections of the drouth stricken corn belt, but most areas moved into their 78th day without moisture. Experts now estimate that Illinois alone has lost between 20 and 30 per cent of its corn crop.

Weatherman J. H. Jacobson made the gloomy forecast that no rain is in sight for three or four days, and predicted that the low humidity accompanying the cooler weather would "suck the moisture back out of the ground, leaving the farmers just where they started when the showers first arrived."

The amount of moisture that fell thru parched Indiana, Illinois, and the Ohio river valley did not average much more than a quarter of an inch, Forecaster Jacobson reported.

"That is like sprinkling a dusty road," he said. "When the soil is dried out to a depth of several feet it takes more than a thundershower to relieve conditions. The corn belt needs general soaking rains, not showers, and none is in sight."

HOTEL BALLROOM A PUBLIC PLACE? COURT TO DECIDE

Whether the ballroom on the 17th floor of the Majestic hotel, 29 Quincy st., is a public place so that police can make arrests on evidence of gambling without having a search warrant will be decided by Judge William V. Daly in South State street court Aug. 25. Asst. State's Atty. Clement Dernbach asked the continuance yesterday after Lawrence Dowd, attorney for two defendants charged with gambling, made a motion to suppress the evidence.

Policemen Edward Barry and Nell Begley of Central station said they arrested Charles Iaculla, 57, and Angelo Vetrano, 51, in the ballroom after they found gambling wall sheets. They admitted they had no search warrant. The defense contended the ballroom was private property. Judge Daly granted a continuance to allow Prosecutor Dernbach to look up the law.

Albert Berelson, 39, and Albert Fishman, 30, seized by the same policemen at 8 S. Dearborn st., were discharged on motions to suppress the evidence.

MUSICIANS DEFY WLB ORDER TO MAKE RECORDS

Washington, D. C., Aug. 17 (AP).—The American Federation of Musicians [AFL] today said it had no intention of complying with a war labor board order to lift a ban on playing for records made by Victor and Columbia because "the war effort is not involved."

Joseph A. Padway, counsel for the AFM, appeared at a board hearing called to determine why the union had not complied with a board directive issued on June 15. Padway said:

"I am directed to say in behalf of the American Federation of Musicians and its officers and members that we cannot comply with this order of the board for in this case the war effort is not involved."

The union banned playing for records and transcriptions two years ago. Since then contracts have been reached with Decca, and some of the minor record and transcription companies, but no recordings have been made for Victor or Columbia.
